FISCHER & BALLY MILL MILL WILL SURELY GO TO SPRINGFIELD

Newspaper Has Positive Information—Other Notes of Interest

In spite of the rumors afloat contradicting the statement that the Fischer-Bally mill will be moved from Marcola to Springfield the News can truly state that the information given in our last issue is authentic and the mill will positively be in operation on the site recently purchased in Springfield within the next six months and that the work of excavating on the new site will be commenced at once.

Ed Dampier, our genial west side blacksmith, is again able to be without the aid of crutches having been crippled last week by a kick from his favorite cow. We did not learn whether Ed was trying to shoe the bovine or milk her. If the latter he got his just deserts, for it's the wife's duty to milk the cow and chop all the wood.

MARK PAULSON IS RE-ELECTED HARRISBURG SCHOOL PRINCIPAL

(Special Correspondence)
Harrisburg, Or., March 19.—Mrs. E. E. Upmeyer returned home today from Eugene.

Mark A. Paulson has been re-elected as principal of the Harrisburg schools at an increased salary. His work has been so satisfactory and he is so well liked by his pupils that the school board felt that they could not afford to part with him. There is a very good prospect of our having a complete high school course next term.

UNABLE TO AGREE ON NAME FOR NEW BABE, ASK DIVORCE

Los Angeles, Cal., March 19.—Being unable to agree on the name of their baby has led Ernest and Mrs. Turling to the divorce court. The husband insisted that the first born be called Faith, the wife demanded that the infant be styled Evelyn. The squabble over the name grew to such proportions that Mrs. Turling sought relief. The judge has taken the case under advisement. He thinks the name question can be settled without the couple resorting to divorce.

ONLY THREE PERFECT PUMPING STATIONS

We were shown a copy of the inspector's report of this road division of the S. P. and notice that T. C. Thornton of this place received two premiums. One was for perfect pumping station and the other for the best kept yards. Mr. Thornton has only missed one report since 1903 in receiving this award. This road division extends from Salem to Roseburg and only three perfect pumping stations are reported, namely, Junction City, Eugene and Drain. —Junction City Times.

Alfred Packard

In the foregoing pages my friends and the press have had much to say about me, but this page has very kindly been reserved for me to express a few heartfelt throbs of gushing thoughtlessness and things

I am accused of being a humorist, also an artist. I suppose I must plead guilty to both charges, but though my humor is contagious it is quite harmless and some even consider it very agreeable.

Any in the audience who happen to catch it, generally break out with the snickers the same day, unless they happen to be English—then they are not affected, sometimes, until weeks afterwards.

I carry with me, my "entire company," consisting of one large bundle, two grips and an umbrella—all stars. I am the leading lady, also the villain and the tenor robusto, also the basso profundo, property-man, Marks, Little Eva, Topsy and the ferocious blood hounds—in fact, I am the whole business.

I draw pictures and crowded houses. Where a piano is on the stage, I also play a few pounds and some choice cuts of classic music—schertzos, collar-buttons, etc., and where it is safe, I sometimes sing a few songs, written especially for me, by a lead pencil—where there is no piano, why I sing and act just as foolish, so the audience gets its money's worth anyhow.

I would offer a few suggestions for the comfort of the audience as well as for my own convenience. None but the patent, noiseless babies should be allowed in the audience, and ladies in the audience should have their hats trimmed with lawn-mowers.

Hammocks should be hung under the gallery, in order that sparkling and love-making may be suspended during the performance. My name will be conspicuously displayed on the bill-board before I come to town and possibly on the board-bill after I have left.

Men are requested not to go out between acts nor come in between drinks.

Science tells us that genius is a disease, but do not fear an epidemic as a result of my visit to the town.

Yours without a snicker
A. Packard.

P.S. The picture on the front of this circular is supposed to look like me, but it doesn't. To get a first class picture of myself for publication, I thought I would sketch myself in the looking glass—here is the sketch—ap.

P.S. 2. The strain was too much for the glass—it broke. ap.

P.S. 3. The likeness is not so bad, I'm broke too. ap.

P.S. 4. You can't judge a person by his looks anyway. Good looks are about as much evidence of brains as crimps are of a head of hair. ap.
