

The Woman of Today

Is guided by reason,—not by prejudice. To win her favor you must appeal to her intelligence. You must "deliver the goods."

We say that today the best at any price is

KC BAKING POWDER

and we tell you why.
Here is the reason:

K C does most perfectly the things for which a Baking Powder is used.

What must a perfect Baking Powder do? It must produce a baking that is:

1. Perfectly raised
2. Sweet and palatable
3. Pure and wholesome

This is the whole story,—no baking powder can do more. K C will do it better than any other and do it every time. The woman of reason is open to conviction. Get a can from your grocer,—25 ounces for 25 cents, and get your money back if it isn't better.

Guaranteed to comply with all Pure Food Laws.

PORTLAND MARKET REPORT

Portland, May 27.—While it is conceded that the wheat supply of the Pacific Northwest at this time is the lightest known in many years, it is the opinion of millmen and grain dealers generally that there is enough of the cereal left to meet the home consumptive demand during the remainder of the crop season. It is believed that a further advance in flour advances is unlikely, and it is also possible that wheat prices in the coast markets may not go far above the present level this season. The bulk of the wheat supply is of course in the hands of millers and dealers, but the past two weeks have witnessed the appearance of some small lots of grain from sources in the interior where none was supposed to exist. These, though light, would seem to indicate that the "invisible" supply in the hands of farmers is a trifle greater than had been supposed. But not enough wheat has come to light to weaken the market, and the situation locally is about as strong as ever. While wheat and flour prices may not go any higher between now and the opening of the new crop season, there is small probability of any material decline. The position of wheat in the world markets is stronger than a week or a month ago.

Wool Selling Fast.

Wool buying continues in those sections of eastern Oregon where any wool remains unsold, but except in the Shoshone district there is not much offered. The next Shoshone auction will be held on June 1.

The first shorn wool sale made at Condon, according to the Times, took place on Thursday, when F. T. Hurlburt bought the Andrew Patterson wool for Mr. Green. The exact price is not known, but it must have been between 18 and 20 cents, as it gave Mr. Patterson $2 for each fleece. Mr. Hurlburt also contracted for Tobey & Art and Mac Smith ellips. The Butte Creek company's will is expected this week and is a fine clean lot. Monahan & Murtha have their wool already hauled, while Murtha & Monahan, William Riddle and Mrs. Kate Russell have finished shearing and will haul to Condon. Besides these wools there are some heavy clips to come in from south of the John Day.

Practically all of the Heppner wools have been sold and the wool sales will be done away with for this year at least. N. S. Whetson received the highest price reported so far, 20 7/8 cents, according to the Condon Globe. This is about 5 1/2 cents above the highest price paid last year. The total clip will be about 2,125,000 pounds, somewhat more than last year, as a greater number of sheep are being delivered with the wool on. Sheep are in good condition and the wool is of a better grade than common.

Eggs Show Much Weakness.
Considerable weakness was today shown in the local egg market. While so far as known no small lots were moved under 24c a dozen, the buyings are extremely limited and accumulations are shown on every side. Outside markets are not coming to the relief of Portland to any extent just now and this is throwing the increasing arrivals from Willamette valley points upon the local trade. There has been some disposition among the larger receivers to let go of their supplies whenever possible, even at lower figures. Quality of late arrivals of eggs has not been so good, and for that reason closer handling is necessary. So many complaints regarding poor quality eggs have been received of late that candling is a necessity in every case.

Chicken Market Is Good.
A very good market for chickens is shown along Front street. While receipts are somewhat more liberal than expected, still the demand is still taking care of whatever comes. Spring ducks are finding much favor at the prices quoted, but old ones are somewhat neglected. There is no call at all for geese.

Dressed Hogs Are Very Firm.
There is a very firm tone in the dressed hog market. Supplies along the streets are very small and can only start to fill the demand. The continuous scarcity of live hogs in the Portland stockyards makes the call for dressed stock more pronounced, but the wants of the trade cannot be filled.

Dressed veal, while still coming quite freely to Front street, are holding about steady, especially for good quality. With the return of warmer weather it will be necessary for shippers to take much more care in sending supplies to market, if they would have their meats arrive here in good shape.

Hams and Lard Advanced.
Continued high prices for hogs in the local stockyards and the forcing of the packers to go east for most of their wants in that line have caused a sharp advance in the price of hams and lard, according to the new list issued by the Union Meat Co. Bacon and other provisions show no change.

Asparagus Selling Higher

While there is a fractionally better showing of asparagus from local points in the Portland market, demand is increasing and is therefore more than able to take care of what comes forward. Some supplies are still showing from Walla Walla and are selling at $1.50 a box, or an advance of 15c over former figures.

California steamer arrived late last night and replenished the market here with new greens.

Big Hop Contract Closed.

McNeff brothers, hop dealers of this city, are credited with the closing of the most important hop contract of the season, $25,000 pounds, of Yakimas being involved. In the deal, which was concluded this week, the consideration involved in this transaction was not made known.

Reports from Western Washington and the Yakima country indicate that the hopyards there are generally in fairly good shape. In Oregon the situation to date is a little less favorable as the vines in practically all the hop districts of this state need moisture and warmth.

Good Sales of Canned Salmon.

While there is plenty of Columbia river salmon of the new pack still offering, sales are very liberal. Packers are showing no disposition whatever to push sales, because they do not know the extent of the pack. Run of chinooks shows but little improvement, although a better showing is expected with warmer weather.

Butter Market Is Easier.

Warmer weather has already affected the butter market and in most places weakness is noted. Supplies are not showing the expected increase, and for that reason most city makers are hesitating about forcing a decline. Principal weakness at the moment is in the lesser known brands.
