GALLOWAY KILLS CRATER LAKE ACT

Judge Declares Object is Purely Local and Therefore Unconstitutional.

Salem, June 23.—Judge Galloway yesterday held the Crater Lake road bill unconstitutional. His decision reads as follows:

"In the Tillamook act $10,000 was appropriated to aid the county in constructing a public highway along the coast for probably 30 miles or more, $1000 of which was to be used for a branch road leading from Netart's bay to near Tillabook City. This section of Tillamook county was sparsely settled, though possessing great scenic beauty and wonderful natural attractions, inducing tourist travel. The present act appropriates $100,000, conditional upon Jackson county raising a like sum to aid said county to build a public highway from the city of Medford to the west boundary of the Crater Lake National park, and not to Crater Lake, as some imagine; also $50,000 conditional upon Klamath county contributing a like sum, to aid said county to build a county road from Klamath Falls to the eastern boundary of said national park and not to the lake within said park, for our state is without jurisdiction, and can do no work or exercise any authority within the national park, including Crater lake.

Continuous Highway.

"The present act now here provides for aiding in the construction of a continuous highway from Medford in Jackson county to Klamath Falls in Klamath county, as there is an intervening segment of more than 13½ miles which is to be made, by at all, by the national government. Jackson county has raised or appropriated the amount required, hence under the provisions of chapter 121 of the laws of 1909, $50,000 becomes available for use in Jackson county only upon a certain specified county road leading from Medford in said county to the western boundary of Crater Lake National Park. The court is not informed that Klamath county has made any appropriation as required by the act, hence the $50,000 appropriated exclusively for Klamath county is not available and may never become so.

Act is Local.

"The present act is clearly local, as it applies to only two counties; it is also special because it is limited to a specified section and for several purposes only, that is, the proposed appropriation can be used only in the counties of Jackson and Klamath and for a special purpose, viz., the building of a certain specified highway in said counties. The act is therefore local and special and comes clearly within the inhibition placed upon such measures by section 23, article 4, of our constitution. Therefore, the complaint will be sustained and injunction made perpetual."

REFUSED OVER 14 CENTS FOR HOPS

Salem, Or., June 23.—The bull movement of hops in this vicinity continues active. A report from Independence today is to the effect that D. B. Taylor, who has about 120 acres in hops, has refused 14¾ cents for his crop. No sales have been reported, notwithstanding the fact that 11 cents has been offered for 1908, and 5 and 6 for 1906 and 1907 hops.

IN MEMORIAM.

March Violet, daughter of Oscar and Abbie E. Brewster, was born at Mabel, Lane county, Oregon, March 10, 1888. She fell asleep in Jesus, June 7, 1909, aged 21 years, 2 months and 27 days.

March became obedient to the Gospel about four years ago and lived a consistent Christian till the time of her death. Here was indeed a beautiful character. Helpful, patient and loving, she was a blessing to the community in which she lived, loved and respected by all who knew her.

Her life was full of devotion to her loved ones and an abiding faith in God, which remained unshaken to the end, enabling her to say, "I have not a doubt nor a fear for the future, though I would desire to live longer for mother's sake."

The funeral services were conducted at the home, by W. A. Wood, on Monday evening. The remains were taken to Eugene on Tuesday for interment.

"They're gathering homeward from every land
One by one—one by one;
Their feet are now pressing the shining strand,
Yes, one by one.
Their travel-stained garments are all laid down,
Their brows are adorned with a living crown;
And clothed in white raiment they rest on the shore
Of the river of life forevermore."

DEFENDS POLICIES OF LA FOLLETTE

The following is a small portion of a lengthy letter from Frank T. McNally of Superior to the Wilwaukee Sentinel and published in that paper June 2. We have not space for the entire letter:

To the editor of the Sentinel:

In the issue of your paper of May 20 you take it upon yourself to criticize and belittle the motives which prompted the Superior friends of Senator LaFollette to gather together and formulate plans for his re-election to the senate.

Men of All Parties Welcome.

Your attitude in regard to this meeting is below the standard of a fair critic. It was not a "party caucus," rather a gathering of Mr. LaFollette's friends. Men of all parties were welcome. The only requirement for admittance was that you were an American citizen, friendly to the movement which LaFollette typifies, namely, the wresting of the control of this government of ours from the corporate interests who now control it and restoring it to the people, where it rightfully belongs.

Has party allegiance grown so strong, partisanship so bitter, that fair-minded men must refuse assistance to a righteous cause, or to help a courageous man simply because he wears the badge of republicanism? Fair-minded Democrats; have helped to make possible the reforms in Wisconsin. Blind allegiance to party has helped to make a millionaire's club out of our national senate. Blind loyalty to party principles has made the domain of politics easy accessible to corporate influence.

Success of LaFollette.

Are you awake to the times, or behind them? Do you not realize that men are commencing to cast their ballots for a political candidate, not because he is a Democrat or a Republican, but because he, to their minds, will represent them rather than those who typify the cohesive power of plunder? Do you not realize that your cries of "ingrate," and "sock it," your sessions wailing about "demagogery" and "fakirs" have fallen upon unheeding ears these many years.

As a Popular Leader.

He is a leader of the people because they believe in his sincerity; because he is a man of the people; because he can interpret their wishes; because despite every effort you have made to kill him politically, he was never yet so badly beaten that he gave up the struggle; because the people of the state of Wisconsin like a fighter, especially when he is fighting in their interests; because his private life is beyond reproach; because he is one public man who, in an age of corrupt political practices, in an age of materialism, stands forth for a higher, better, nobler American.

Do you realize that there are in this state today thousands of young men who are casting about to select an American statesman for an ideal American, one who shall be the guiding light of her footsteps as regards public conduct in affairs. In what manner are you assisting these young men to form an ideal? You point the finger of scorn at the great publicists, Bryan and LaFollette. You ridicule them as being sham reformers. You ridicule the reform movement in Wisconsin, while the people of other states honor Wisconsin for having taken the initiative in this movement. What you term "Wisconsin's peculiar brand of reform," has recently been discussed in such states as Kansas, Oregon, Iowa and Nebraska, with the result that these states are removing from the senate some of the fossilized aristocrats who misrepresented them, and are seeding in their stead progressive men.

In the ranks of the scorned, despised, ridiculed reformers of today are the really great Americans. Thousands of young men, who are graduating from the colleges of the country today, are taking these men for ideals. And it is well that they are so doing. Rather let them look upon Bryan, LaFollette, Roosevelt, Gore, Bristow, Borah, Cummins, Murdock, Madison and Lenroot as representing what an American statesman should be, then follow in the footsteps of some of our infamous representatives in the house of plunder and the senate of deep-seated privilege. What an indication of progress is the election of such a man as Lorimer of Illinois to a seat once occupied by Stephen A. Douglas, a prize that Abraham Lincoln sought in vain!

In conclusion, I will state, that I believe, regardless of party consideration, Wisconsin is proud of La Follette. While he is in the Senate Wisconsin will at least be represented, Wisconsin will be heard from, and Wisconsin will be on the right side.

POLO MATCH FOR INTERNATIONAL CUP

London, June 23.—The day before the beginning of the international polo match for the American cup between the Hurlingham team and the Meadow Brook team, representing the American Polo Association, finds the Americans confident of victory and in jubilant spirits. The first match took place today, the second on Saturday and the third, if a third should be necessary, on June 30.

The defection of Walter Buckmaster, acknowledged to be the best polo player in the British Isles, who has declined to play today, has sent a cold chill down the spine of the British polo world, already scared by the remarkable work done by the Meadow Brook players in the practice matches.
