third of the total crop being a loss, but apples, pears and prunes will be greatly helped.

"Oregon residents have cause for rejoicing," said Mr. Williamson, "for where the cherry crop, a light one yet a very poor seller this year, was probably seriously damaged, the more valuable crop of prunes, pears and apples will be greatly benefited. The prunes especially will feel the effect of this hard rain, and we should have a bumper crop this year."

"The rain was at its hardest in the vicinity of Portland, yet all through the valley there was plenty. Ashland, where it was feared the peach crop would suffer, had very little rain. They expect a crop of high quality from there. Royal Ann cherries will most of them split as soon as the sun gets in its work and a little more damage will be done to them. The principal loss, however, comes from the fact that the shippers have to stop work until the fruit dries again."

OBITUARY

Died, of peritonitis, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Buley, at 256 East Fourteenth street, Eugene, July 2, 1909, Myrtle Myrie Buley, aged 17 years, 5 months and 16 days. She was born at Mason City, Ia., January 16, 1892. She united with the Christian church in 1905. Myrtle was a pure Christian girl, whose winning ways won her many friends, whose comfort is her willingness to go to rest in Jesus. She bore her suffering patiently, being thoughtful of her friends and loved ones to the last. Among her last words were: "See the little white doves fluttering at the window, papa. It is the angels come for me. See the angels, papa."

She leaves to mourn her loss a father, mother, one brother and one sister, besides a host of friends. The funeral was held at Gordon's undertaking parlors Sunday, July 4, at 2:30 p. m. Interment was made in Odd Fellows' cemetery.

STOCK STREAMS WITH 180,000 TROUT FRY

Alf Walker and John Hampton Leave in Morning for Tributaries of McKenzie

Alf Walker and John Hampton will leave here in the morning for the state fish hatchery on the McKenzie river, and from there will start for the creeks flowing into the upper river with the 180,000 trout fry which have been hatched at the hatchery to restock the streams. They will first go to Lost creek, which is the one of any size highest up in the mountains. They will then come down to Horse creek, the south fork of the McKenzie, Deer creek, Martin creek, Bear creek and Gate creek in the order named, distributing the fish equally in the streams.

The young trout, which are each about two inches long, will be transported in cans and great care will have to be taken to get them to their destination alive. It will be necessary to aerate the water in the cans every hour by dipping it up with a tin cup and pouring it back several times. Most of the trout to be liberated are of the rainbow variety, but there will be quite a number of the speckled mountain trout.

Stock Waldo Lake

Roy Kerns, one of the government forest rangers, leaves tomorrow for his summer duties in the vicinity of Waldo Lake, at the summit of the Cascades, and will take two cans of these trout on horseback to the lake to stock that body of water. There has never been any fish in this lake, and this is tried as an experiment. If the trout live a large number will be turned loose there some time in the future. The lake is near the line of the proposed Natron extension of the Southern Pacific railroad, and if the fish thrive there it will some time become a favorite resort for sportsmen.

BORN

At Irving, July 1, 1909, to Eldridge Hosmer and wife, a son.

ROOTS, HERBS AND BARKS.

You can no doubt recall the collection of roots, herbs and barks your grandmother made every fall for the family medicine chest.

It is interesting to note that the most successful remedy for female ills had its origin more than 30 years ago in one of these home medicine chests, and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is made today in immense quantities from those same roots and herbs with extreme accuracy, care and cleanliness.

Don't forget Murphy at Sixth and Olive and his summer lunch counter.
