THE LIFE OF MAN

Like to the falling of a star,
Or as the flights of eagles are,
Or life the fresh spring's gaudy hue,
Or silver drops of morning dew,
Or like the wind that chafes the flood
Or bubbles which on water stood—
E'en such is man whose borrowed light
Is straight called in and paid tonight.
The wind blows out, the bubble dies,
The spring entombed in autumn lies,
The dew's dried up, the star is shot,
The flight is past, and man's forgot.

—Francis Beaumont.

HOW CITIES ARE BUILT

The work of building up cities depends less upon geographical location and apparent natural commercial advantages than upon the efforts of the people. Cities, as a matter of fact, do not grow up, but are built by the enterprise and energy of those who live in them. Faith in the future and a determination to do things works miracles when the efforts of a community are rightly directed.

There is a good illustration of the rewards which come to the enterprising community presented in the history of Fort Smith, Arkansas, rapidly becoming one of the leading cities of the Southwest. It has been made what it is by the enterprise of its people. Many years ago a local capitalist built a belt of railroad entirely around the city. It did not pay operating expenses, but made an inducement to manufacturers, who desired the best of shipping facilities. Then the commercial organizations raised money and offered to pay liberally for every factory located there, or to any one furnishing information concerning an industry that might be induced to come. As a result of that policy that belt line of railroad is in turn encircled with a line of factories and manufacturing plants of many kinds. A newspaper directory on our desk describes Fort Smith's industries as follows:

"Large cotton compress, cotton gins, cotton seed oil and saw mills, cigar, ice and furniture factories, and many other industrial establishments."

Fort Smith also subsidized and built railroads until five of them were operating their trains into its yards.

When this Arkansas city began its campaign for population and business a few years ago it was no larger than Eugene is now. At this time it is a city many times larger, with vast commercial interests.

What any other city has done Eugene may do because we have the natural advantageous location that few possess, with a large territory tributary which is practically undeveloped. If our capitalists have the enterprise to invest their money at home—to help in the building of a railroad to the coast and to the timber districts, securing the transportation facilities necessary for the profitable operation of factories, then will we prosper and grow, and see a great city built up in a few years on the site of a scattered country town.

This Siuslaw railroad is a test of the willingness of our people to invest their money in enterprises that tend to develop resources. If it is turned down that fact may be regarded as evidence that our citizenship lacks in the essentials necessary to successful city-building.

WOMAN DEFENDS BACHELORS

Every shield must have its reverse side, is the sage conclusion of an esteemed exchange, whose editor has discovered a woman defender of bachelors. This fair champion of the much-abused class says the bachelors should be pensioned for being one. Bachelors will perhaps welcome this, their feminine paladin and advocate. Hitherto, against all the aspersions cast upon them and tirades directed at them, they have made no defense. They may have felt they needed none. They have been silent; they have uttered no protest against proposed taxes to be levied upon them nor has their anger risen at denunciation heaped upon them by indignant ladies of suffragette leanings. "Instead of pensioning parents of large families," says this Joan of Arc, "let us pension the bachelors. Let's quit raising children until we can take care of those we have. Let us abolish sentimentalism and substitute common sense. In race-suicide, co-called, lies the salvation of the race."

Still, with all this, we shall probably not find out what the bachelor thinks about it. He continues to maintain his Sphinxian silence. We may be nonplussed at this taciturnity, but he cares not what we think, and he turns not from the tenor of his way.

Now, privately, we don't believe the bachelor is in favor of race suicide at all. It is more than likely he was and is of entirely different views. The chances are the girl married the other fellow. That accounts for his reticence on the entire subject.

London now has a school to teach men home duties, probably on the theory that they'll have to do them when woman, lovely woman, devotes her time exclusively to politics and other outside duties.

Everybody may help make Eugene a railroad centre by taking a few shares of stock in the Eugene & Siuslaw railroad. Every additional share sold will help to grade roadbed and buy rails and ties.

Edison and others think the helicopter will be the most successful type of airship. Maybe so, but we reserve the right to think it will have to change its name before it can hope for popularity.

It isn't the payment of the tax that's worrying unscrupulous corporation manipulators the most, it's the fear that their methods may have to be changed in order to pass official scrutiny.

This lexicon of monkey talk, to be brought out by Professor Garner, will doubtless be printed in pocket size for the convenience of swell society, which will be its heaviest purchaser.

One of the peculiarities of all lists of the "best books" is that they contain so many of those found in every "complete" library and seldom, or never, read through by anybody.

If the senatorial bunch of chautauqua stars do not hurry things us the outsiders will skim all the cream off this season's milk while they're tied to Washington.

Perhaps Mr. Arnold may write a few "My Dear Senator" letters before the corporaion tax becomes a law, suggesting a joker or two, but they'll be in cypher.

IF SICK--WHY PAY

Unless Health First Returns.

Here is what should and can be done! Now you would not willingly pay for food that was worthless—would you?

Then why pay for medicine until that medicine first proves to you its actual worth? For instance, knowing what Dr. Shoop's Restorative can do for the sick, I say to all "don't pay unless health first returns." And I back my Restorative with a signed and sealed 30 day "No help, No pay" contract.

I positively pledge to the sick everywhere that "Dr. Shoop's Restorative is absolutely free if it fails." Let others do the same—or else pass their prescriptions by.

If you need more strength, more vitality, more vigor or more vim, use my Restorative a few days and note the immediate improvement. When the stomach, heart, or kidneys go wrong, then test Dr. Shoop's Restorative. I do not dose the stomach nor stimulate the heart or kidneys, for that is wrong. Years ago I cast away that mistaken idea in medicine. The books below will best tell you how I am succeeding.

These books also tell of a tiny hidden "inside nerve," no larger than a silk thread. They tell how that nerve, until it fails, actually gives to the heart its power, its tone, its never-ending action or impulse.

These books will open up new and helpful ideas to those who are not well. They tell how the stomach and kidneys each have their "inside" or power nerves. They tell how the Restorative was especially made to reach and revitalize these weak or failing inside nerves. All of these facts, tell why I am able to say, "It is free if it fails."

This is why I say "take no chance on a medicine whose maker dare not back it just as I do by this remarkable offer."

So write me today for the order. I have appointed honest and responsible druggists in nearly every community to issue my medicines to the sick.

But write me first for the order. All druggists sell Dr. Shoop's Restorative, but all are not authorized to give the 30 day test. So drop me a line please—and thus save disappointment and delays. Tell me also which book you need.

A postal will do. Besides, you are free to consult me as you would your home physician. My advice and the book below are yours—and without cost.

Perhaps a word or two from me will clear up some serious ailment. I have helped thousands upon thousands by my private prescription or personal advice plan. My best effort is surely worth your simple request. So write now while you have it fresh in mind, for tomorrow never comes. Dr. Shoop, Box 12, Racine, Wis.

Some Day You'll Be Old

Some Day that salary of yours will stop.
Some Day that business of yours will cease to pay.
Some Day that income will diminish or disappear.
Some Day you will not be able to work as well as now.
Some Day you will be old.
Some Day, yes, surely some day wouldn't it be nice to have a little five or ten-acre tract of land with a little cottage set in among the trees and surrounding all this, a pretty little garden and a fine orchard, the trees of which were heavy with luscious fruit

Some Day don't you want a home like this in a country where there are no extremes of heat or cold, nor destructive storms; where your neighbors are the good, honest, substantial folk you and I like to have for friends, where within twelve miles is the state university in one of the finest cities in Oregon and your own land situated in or near the fine hustling little town of Creswell, where are good churches, good schools, good business houses, good people and no saloons? Creswell, Lane county, in the famous Willamette Valley of Oregon, is the place.

Five Acres will give you a living; Ten Acres will make you independent for the rest of your life.
