MANY GUN TOURNAMENTS

Camp Perry to Be Busy Once Again With Marksmen

Washington, D. C., July 27.—From August 3 to September 4 the rifle range at Camp Perry, Ohio, will be in constant use. Five distinct tournaments will be in progress with thousands of marksmen, shooters and attendants in camp on the range. The program includes the seventh annual matches under the National Board for the Promotion of Rifle Practice; the twenty-seventh annual matches of the National Rifle Association; the sixth annual matches of the Ohio State Rifle Association; the first annual matches of the Department of the Lakes Rifle Association, and the regular annual competition of the Ohio National Guard.

A careful estimate of the number of men expected at Camp Perry for the matches includes 100 regular army officers, 1000 enlisted men, U. S. A. team contestants and officers, 900; National Guardsmen not attached to teams and civilian rifle clubs, 300 to 500; brigade O. N. G., 500.

Trout fishing is said to have been bad in Lane county during the past week. In anticipation of the deer season, no doubt.

Curtis Coleman is still leading the batting list of the Tacoma losers. Bresino is short stop, both of these men being considered steady, reliable players.

Henry Pernoll, the former Portland pitcher, who was let go, may be grabbed for $3500 by the Pittsburg Nationals. Aberdeen took the big southpaw, and he has won many games this year, as he did for Portland until he took a temporary slump.

JUMPS OFF BRIDGE, 80 FEET, BUT UNINJURED

Albany, Or., July 26.—Though he plunged from the highest point of the Albany steel bridge into the Willamette river, 80 feet below, last Saturday night, August Kreiger, a Benton county farmer, is alive and rapidly recovering from the effects of his suicidal leap.

During a short period of mental aberration Kreiger determined to kill himself, and climbed upon the railing of the bridge and jumped. People on the bank saw the leap, and a man in a fishing boat took him to the bank. He was taken to St. Mary's hospital, but his injuries were not so severe and now he is practically well, and has recovered from his fit of despondency.

Kreiger is worth about $15,000, having recently sold his farm, and is said to have no cause for any kind of worry. He had been working hard in the hayfield Saturday, and had become overheated, and after coming to town in the evening became mentally unbalanced.

HORSE SENSE WAS FAILURE THAT TIME

Marshfield, Or., July 26.—Press dispatches tell of a Butte, Mont., horse which shot itself by stepping on a cartridge, but a Coos Bay horse killed itself in even a more remarkable way. The horse, in its trained obedience to command drowned in the bay because it was not told to stop.

The horse was hitched to a delivery wagon on the North Bend wharf. Being in the way of another wagon some one called to the horse to back. The horse backed, but no one giving the command to stop kept on backing until horse and wagon went over the edge of the wharf and plunged into the deep water of the bay.
