MORE CHANGE IN SCHEDULE OF S.P. TRAINS

Better Hours Planned for Run Between Portland and San Francisco

Sweeping changes in the Southern Pacific passenger service between Portland and San Francisco are in contemplation as a part of the plan for the Harriman invasion of Puget Sound. It is the working out of the numerous changes under consideration that is doing a great deal toward delaying the announcement of establishment of through service from here to Seattle. Here are some of the changes that will in all probability be made by the Southern Pacific, with an outline of the proposed service between here and the sound:

A morning train from Portland to San Francisco, and a new morning train from San Francisco to Portland, this change is greatly desired by Assistant Traffic Director E. O. McCormick, of the Harriman system, who is working out the reorganization scheme with Traffic Director Stubbs. At present all three Southern Pacific trains between here and San Francisco are bunched within six and one-half hours, one leaving at 6 p. m., the next at 7:45 p. m., and the other at 1:30 a. m. This leaves 17½ hours with no train at all. One of these will therefore be made a morning train, leaving here probably about 7 or 8 o'clock.

The north bound trains are bunched even worse than the southbound, for they are all night trains and leave San Francisco within five hours and 40 minutes, one at 6 p. m., another at 8:20 p. m., and the third at 11:40 p. m. This leaves a period of 18 or 20 hours without a train for Portland from the South. McCormick's idea is that while it is a good thing to have these trains leave terminals at night to give tourists a chance to see the wonderful scenic beauties on the route by daylight, the heavy commercial travel must be considered and business men ordinarily do not care a "whoop" for scenery. They want speed and service.—Oregonian.

PORTLAND MARKET REPORT

Portland, Aug. 12.—A demand for cows was the new feature of livestock trading today, and cows were sought by all buyers. The reappearance of the call for cows was rather unexpected, and came at a time when there were practically only nominal supplies offering. During the past few days but few cows have put in an appearance at the Portland yards, and therefore buyers have had an opportunity to take on but scant supplies.

The demand for cows is today the best ever shown in this market for summer trading. Good cows would move readily in the Portland yards at this time at $3.25, and it is likely that as high as $3.40 would be offered if the proper quality was shown. Sales today did not go beyond $2.25, but this was not due to any lack of appreciation by the buyers, but to lack of suitable top stuff.

Poor Steers Somewhat Heavy

Poor steers have arrived much too freely of late, and at this time there is considerable heaviness in local trading. Some of the steers scarcely bring more than the current values on cows, but even at these prices buyers much prefer to take hold of the latter. Some sales of steers were made in the yards today at $3.50, although top stuff would readily bring $4.50 or even better. All depends upon quality at this time.

Run of cattle in the yards today was fair, consisting of 188 head, as compared with 173 yesterday, 116 Saturday, 200 Friday, 381 Thursday, 117 Wednesday and 220 a week ago today.

Crab Apples in Good Supply

A very good supply of crab apples is shown in the Front street market at this time. Receipts are the best ever shown at this time of the year, but demand is quite good, with most sales around $1.50 a box.

Apple market in general shows firm disposition, with values practically unchanged for good stock.

First ear of late Crawford cabbages was unloaded this morning. Come from the south and was in quite good condition.

Little Things

Egg market is stagnant, with receipts liberal and quality generally poor.

Butter market is up for most city brands, the price generally standing at 32 1-2c. However, some makers will not advance until tomorrow morning.

Cheese is firm at yesterday's advance.

Cucumbers are in good supply, and outdoor stuff is quoted liberally at 40c a box.

Unprofitable to Ship Saturday

At this time of the year it is unprofitable as a rule for shipments to reach the Portland wholesale market on a Saturday. Generally speaking, the trains are late, and deliveries cannot be made by express companies until late in the day. As a rule retailers are out of the market by Saturday noon, and therefore stock that arrives about that time or later must be carried over until the following Monday. This generally results in cut prices. That was what happened to the tomato market a week ago Monday, and yesterday and today the cantaloupe market is suffering from the same cause.
