ROSEBURG SECURES

BETTER TRAIN SERVICE

The Commercial Club's Efforts For Through Trains Bring Results

Roseburg, Aug. 12.—After ceaseless efforts the Roseburg Commercial Club has been practically assured that the local train service between Roseburg and Portland will be improved. The improvements will consist of the extension of the Ashland local to Cottage Grove, and the removal of the Cottage Grove local, thereby making an afternoon service from Roseburg to Portland.

Other improvements in the service will be the re-establishing of the Pullman sleeper on trains 5 and 16, between Ashland and Portland, and also the observation car, now running on the Cottage Grove local between Portland and that city, on to Roseburg.

ANOTHER FIRE AT ##### ALBANY YESTERDAY

Albany, Or., Aug. 12.—Fire broke out at 3 o'clock yesterday morning in the dry kiln of M. J. Cameron & Son's sash and door factory of this city. No insurance was carried on that part of the plant. M. J. Cameron stated this morning that he placed too much sawdust and shavings in the furnace. He said that he filled the dry kiln last evening, with door and window stock, and in the morning started up the fire in the boiler. While he was up town his son was left to take care of the boiler, and it is believed he played too much sawdust and shavings into the furnace, causing the fire to jump out and ignite the wood nearby.

Several streams of water were put on the flames and the main plant, only a few feet distant, was kept from danger of the fire. The firm will rebuild the dry kiln at once. The loss is about $1500.

MAY PAVE STREETS

The first step in the paving of Second street, of Corvallis, from the Occidental mill to Mary's river flats, a distance of eight or ten blocks, was taken this morning when a representative of the Warren Construction Company, in conjunction with City Engineer Porter, began surveys. This expert is now at work in the north end of the street, and will remain in Corvallis just as long as is necessary to prepare complete plans and specifications for all the streets the officials feel will be paved within the next few years.—Gazette-Times.

ARE FULL OF LICE

Salem, Aug. 12.—Through the weather has been altogether too cool to annihilate the pests and to destroy the honeydew, the reports of the growers generally are that those who have sprayed thoroughly will pick a prime grade of hops in this district. There was not a single warm day in the month of July, and so far during this month the weather has been so cool that the lice have been able to flourish and increase rapidly.

Only persistent spraying will destroy the pests on the crop. Hot weather would do the work, but the weather has a tendency to be cooler instead of warmer. Those yards that have been sprayed recently are looking better than the others.

It is believed by the growers the condition of the market at this time warrants a higher price for the 1909 crop than is being offered. Western buyers have been doing most of the buying so far, but seem to have agreed to suspend activities for the time being in an endeavor to quiet the market. The growers will not sell for 20 cents any more, however, being confident that better prices will be offered when the crop is gathered.
