THE AIRSHIPS

The ships are sailing overhead; they float upon the gale, their wings and thingumbobs outspread—and I shall let them sail; it is a pleasant thing to sport above the highest tree, but this old earth, where I cavort, is good enough for me. The aeroplanists have averred that it's a joyous thing, to ride the zephyrs like a bird that soars on tireless wing; that such experience has worth, it is not hard to see; but this old trusty, solid earth, is good enough for me. It's nice to win enduring fame, and medals by the peck; but I consider my fat frame, and likewise my fat neck, more useful than awards from thrones, or all the kings that be, and this old earth, while I have bones, is good enough for me.

GREAT CEREAL CROP THIS YEAR

This year's cereal crop will be among the greatest ever grown in the United States, according to the estimates contained in the August wheat, corn and cereal crop report issued this week by the department of agriculture. A gain of more than 700,000,000 bushels in all grains over last year is indicated, and the bumper yield of three years ago will probably be exceeded.

Crops of corn and oats will likely smash all records. A loss in winter wheat as compared with a year ago will be offset by a larger yield of spring wheat, which will bring the total to a considerable excess over the 1908 crop. Some important interests in the trade figure that the consumptive demand has grown enough to absorb this difference, and that before the entire crop is harvested we will run into a period of actual shortages rather than a surplus. It is also figured that foreign requirements easily will take all wheat which is not needed for domestic purposes, as crop conditions are generally understood to be unsatisfactory in most of the Old World grain raising districts.

The fruit raisers whose places are in the hills south of Eugene aver that their land is better than the valley low land for apples, pears and peaches. If this is so, even in part, the fruit resources of Lane county are limited only by the orchards planted and cultivated. A fruit district, however, is not merely land; it is a matter of people, not only the capitalist who can invest money, but of small growers. With the spread of fruit principles and methods all of Western Oregon will become an orchard and garden. The farms, instead of being in what are now frequently considered small one hundred or forty acre tracts, will be ten and twenty-acre plots. Where the scrub oak or the fir now stands, the prune, the peach, the cherry and a score of other varieties, some yet unborn, perhaps, will blossom.

One thing has been disagreeable impressed upon the country in connection with tariff-making—that senators known as honorable men are willing to resort to trickery to serve the "interests."

Bound to go hard with the Whitelaw Reids, after rubbing noses with royalty so long, to get back to associating with plain Americans. King Ned might help some by giving Whitey a title and keeping him over there.

Dead easy to make justices of the supreme court—on paper. A kind newspaper man has fixed it all up for Governor Hughes to get the next vacancy, and get out of politics, forgetting that another has asigned it to General Luke Wright.

Senator Borah thinks clean-up and sprinkling of disinfectants is needed in the civil service house, and Senator Cummins has his coat off and his sleeves rolled up, ready to boss the job.

Maybe the harvester trust is really going to share profits with its 30,000 employes, through that stock-acquisition game, and then maybe it is only after sharing the "cussings" with them.

As a rule authors court publicity, but the authors of tariff "jokers" prefer to remain in obscurity, and it isn't because of their modesty, either.

THE EUGENE BUSINESS COLLEGE.

Only a Mask

Many are not being benefited by the summer vacation as they ought to be. Now, notwithstanding much outdoor life, they are little if any stronger than they were. The tan on their faces is darker, and makes them look healthier, but it is only a mask. They are still nervous, easily tired, upset by trifles, and they do not eat or sleep well. What they need is what tones the nerves, perfects digestion, creates appetite, and makes sleep refreshing, and that is Hood's Sarsaparilla. Pupils and teachers generally will find the chief purpose of the vacation best subserved by this great medicine which, as we know, "builds up the whole system."

NEWS OF BUSY SPRINGFIELD

PORTLAND RUMORS FILL SPRINGFIELD WITH GOSSIP

The Southern Pacific engineering department at Springfield denied this morning that the remainder of the Natron line from Klamath Falls to the end of the present contract on the Natron route had been let to the Utah Construction Company. Two contractors from Denver, Nels Lind and Gus Johnson, stated to Springfield people yesterday that the contract for the whole road had been let. They are reported to have said that they had come to dig the three tunnels, but according to the engineering department they are but sub-contractors, waiting for terms from the Utah Construction Company.

Two carloads of implements arrived at Springfield this morning for the McCabe Construction Company, of Portland, who are sub-contractors. Other material is expected soon. A telegraph office has been installed at Natron, and regular trains are likely to be run to the little station in a month.

McKenzie Line

The two Denver contractors, whoever and whatever they are, are reported to have said that the Oregon Trunk line, whatever and whoever that is, intends to run up the Deschutes, come down the McKenzie and enter the upper Willamette valley and probably go to Coos Bay. As every proposition has many rumors, and as some of them are bound to be correct, it may be that such a plan is in the mind of the Hill or some other road.

As the pass at the head of the McKenzie is very rough and difficult, the Oregon Trunk might enter the Coos Bay field by following the Deschutes to its source, and crossing on a low pass and coming down the North Umpqua river to Roseburg.

NEW DRYER AT FISCHER-BALLY SAWMILL

Fischer & Bally have contracted for an Eureka dryer, with a capacity of 30,000 feet, and the American Extract Company, of Seattle, is building the dryer at the mill site. This is the first of its kind in this region, and while comparatively small, its capacity is great. In the dryer there is not a stick of wood, all parts being of cement or iron. The heat that will be generated will be above the boiling point.

Work on the other portions of the mill is progressing sorapidly that the owners expect to have the plant completed sometime before January 1. The mill pond and the side track are well under way.

Goings and Comings

Nate Rose and Elmer Wells will go to Fall Creek and other mountain points to spend a long vacation, starting tomorrow or Sunday.

Tag day—each tag a dime and every dime a part of the big Springfield sign—is tomorrow.

Elmer Wells has returned from a trip to Albany.

Martha Vising and her husband are building a boarding house near the Fischer & Bally mill on the Washburne tract.

The Willamette Valley Company has an office on Main street that has been recently improved.

GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY

You can make a clear profit of $1500 per month or over if you lease and operate this mill. This is a sawmill property, located right in the city. Now examine these figures—take them to any good sawmill man for verification, and you will be convinced of this rare opportunity. The mill is located at the river bridge in Eugene. Logs cost $5 to $6 per 1000; lumber averages $13.33 per 1000. Common grade, $11.50; finishing grades, $30.

Cost of sawing, $2 per 1000; cost of logs, $5.50 per 1000; total cost logs, sawing and selling, $7.50 per 1000; overrunover log scale, 25 per cent, $1.87; take this from $7.50, leavinig you $5.63, the total cost of your lumber right here in the best market in the state. Now logs will saw 1-3 clear, and it is worth $17 green and rough, $25 to $30 dried and planed. But take the lumber rough. The common is worth $11.50, clear $17, making an average of $13.33. The profit will be $7.50 per 1000 and on a cut of 20,000 feet per day, which the mill will do if pushed. This will show a profit of $4004 per month of 26 working days. You can't beat this proposition in Oregon. I will give you a very reasonable lease on this property. See M. S. Barker, 333 Pearl street, Eugene, Or.
