GRANTS PASS NEEDS BITULITHIC PAVEMENT So Says Councilman J. G. Riggs of the First Ward After Investigation

Councilman J. G. Riggs, who returned Monday from a week's visit to Portland, is enthusiastic over the bitulithic pavement which he saw on the streets of that city. In discussing this subject with a representative of the Courier, he said: "While in Portland I took occasion to make a careful examination of the various kinds of pavement now in use in that city. I had an opportunity to see bitulithic, Hassam, asphalt and wood block pavements. I made a careful and critical examination of all these various pavements, and am fully convinced in my own mind that the bitulithic is by far the most practical pavement for Grant Pass."

"The Hassam, which is used quite extensively there, is nothing more than concrete pavement, and like the concrete walks, the pavement will crack, giving water a chance to work down through it and to disintegrate the cement, sand and gravel, and then the passing over of vehicles such as heavily loaded wagons, automobiles, etc., grinds up the pavement, causing holes, which become more worn with every passing team, and within a very short time it becomes necessary to apply a patch, which leaves a rough surface, and is very apt to soon break up again."

So far as wood block pavement concerned, it soon becomes uneven and is very slippery, and, personally, I would not think it good pavement at all for the streets of Grants Pass. "The asphaltum, as is generally well-known, is not suitable for streets where there is heavy traffic, as in the summer it becomes very soft and cuts up badly."

"The bitulithic pavement, in my opinion, is far superior to any other in use. In the first place the streets in Portland where heaviest traffic is carried on, are paved with this material. It does not cut up nor wear and is easy, so far as foothold is concerned, for teams. This style of pavement is process of one parent company, and they allow only certain companies in certain sections of the United States to construct this pavement, and they are under bond to lay it according to their specifications. If Grants Pass was to use the bitulithic pavement, it would be done in exactly the same manner, the same material would be used, the same thickness and foundation as on the heaviest traveled in the large cities. The secret of the success of this pavement is, that they use bituminous product in their mixing which has a tendency to congeal and cement the rock and gravel, thus making a perfectly tight covering over their foundation, which is of concrete."

"I had an opportunity of seeing street workers attempting to take up some of the bitulithic pavement on Fifth street in Portland, which was laid some six years ago. It was like attempting to take up the solid bed rock."

"In my opinion there is no pavement that will compare with this kind, and I hope that it will be used in this city."—Grants Pass Courier.

Gasoline power, by W. W. Moore. Phone black 4631. Orders large or small will be appreciated.

The old-fashioned way of dosing a weak stomach, or stimulating the heart or kidneys, is all wrong. Dr. Shoop first pointed out this error. This is why his prescription—Dr. Shoop's restorative—is directed entirely to the cause of these ailments—the weak inside or controlling nerves. It isn't so difficult, says Dr. Shoop, to strengthen a weak stomach, heart or kidneys, if one goes at it correctly. Each inside organ has its controlling or inside nerves. When these nerves fail, then those organs must surely falter. These vital truths are leading druggists everywhere to dispense and recommend Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Test it a few days and see. Improvement will promptly and surely follow. Sold by all druggists.

The fountain that is making new friends every day can be found at Eaton's book and art store. tf

DR. CARSON INSTALLED AT MILLS COLLEGE Former Professor At Oregon Takes Up Her New Duties

San Francisco, Dec. 12.—Prominent educators from leading institutions of the Western coast assembled at Mills College Saturday afternoon and took part in the ceremonies attending the installation of Dr. Luella Clay Carson as president of that pioneer seminary for young women.

Rev. Charles R. Brown, pastor of the First Congregational church, of Oakland, and a director in the faculty of the college, was master of ceremonies. Addresses were made by Professor Starr Jordan, of Stanford University; President Prince L. Campbell, of the University of Oregon; Professor George C. Edwards, representing the University of California, and Mrs. C. T. Mills, founder of the institution more than a quarter of a century ago.

The newly installed president also delivered an address. The new president was formerly dean of women and professor of English at the University of Oregon.

PROFESSOR GLEN IN DELIGHTFUL LECTURE

A delightful lecture recital was given by Professor Irving M. Glen, of the University of Oregon School of Music, before the Women's Club yesterday afternoon and a number of their invited guests. Mr. Glen's subject was Tennyson's poem, "Maud," which he joined with most critics in pronouncing the poet's best long poem. He read passages from the poem, commented on them, and on the plot of the poem and illustrated his lectures with Arthur Summerville's cycle of songs. There were 12 lyrics to Mr. Summerville's delightful setting, and they were given with plenty of differentiation in moods by Mr. Glen. Mr. Glen's dramatic ability is shown both in reading and in song, and his work met with much appreciation. "Birds in the High Hall Garden" was probably the favorite of the songs. Mr. Glen's splendid baritone voice retains its mellowness and its fine color and resonance. Warren Thomas played the accompaniments with much beauty and strength.—Journal.
