

BOOTH-KELLY CO.

ACTIVE AT COBURG

Are Making Extensive Improvements in Mill Plant

The Booth-Kelly Lumber Company's mill here has been shut down for about two weeks. The mill, including the engine and boiler room, is being thoroughly overhauled. The five boilers were taken up and put on new foundations with one removed and a new 66-inch one put in its place. The new plan is expected to improve the steaming, which has heretofore been one of the troubles of this mill. The supports for the boilers will all be of steel and cement, doing away with the exposed brick, which has caused much trouble heretofore.

Among other improvements are the enlarging of the automatic feed for the furnace, an addition of two chipper saws, an addition to the floating dock, overhauling the small twin engine, the steam feed, the carriage, an addition of 20 feet to each of the five smoke stacks and a new water heater. Other work being done is improvements in the electric light and water systems.

The planer building is being leveled and cement foundations put under many of the posts.

Night Shift at Wendling

Many of the Booth-Kelly Lumber Company's employees left Tuesday morning for Wendling, where they will work on a night shift for a couple of weeks. It is unofficially reported that the company has a new order for 40,000,000 feet, to be delivered within one year. If this is true the mills will be crowded to their full capacity, and doubtless a night shift will be operated here.

Obituary

John Irwin Macy was born April 2, 1833, in Indiana. He moved to Illinois in 1837 and crossed the plains to Oregon in 1853, settling in the foothills for a while. Later was engaged in packing in Southern Oregon during the Rogue River Indian war. On February 5, 1857, he was married to Eliza C. Wilson. They lived in Harrisburg until 1887, when they moved to the farm which has been their home ever since. He was the father of five children, three of whom are living, Harry, of this place; Irwin, of Grants Pass, and Miss Mabel. He has also three brothers and two sisters living.

He was reared in the Quaker faith and through life clung to their teachings. Brother Macy joined the I. O. O. F. on May 28th, 1866, at Harrisburg, Or., and had held continuous membership in the lodge at that place for 44 years.

Funeral services were held at the home Sunday, June 5th, in charge of Rev. G. L. Burbank, pastor of the M. E. churches of Coburg and Harrisburg.

Personals

Mrs. Carpus Gray and sister, Miss Edna Alford, were in Eugene Wednesday.

Justin Wigle, of Portland, is visiting relatives here. He is a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Wigle.

Geo. Hicks and two sons, of Junction City, were in Coburg on Wednesday for some furniture for M. S. Cleek.

Tuesday morning Thomas Green moved his family and household goods to his ranch west of the city. Mr. Green has about 20 acres of fine rich river bottom land, within 15 minutes' walk of the city. When the timber is taken off, which is being done, his ranch will be one of the best that can be found anywhere.

Elmer Zachary reports a very large crop of strawberries of good quality, and this year he has already sold more than he raised last year. They are selling at 6 cents a box.

Mrs. John Macy and daughter, Mabel, of Harrisburg, spent several days here the first of the week, as guests of Harry Macy and family, Mrs. Macy being Harry's mother.

Last Sunday morning Charley Tyler, who lives north of Coburg, at present working on the Shuslaw, killed a black bear, and he and his brother caught 125 trout. That is Oregon's hunting and fishing for you.

Lea Jarnagin spent a couple of days at Lebanon enjoying the strawberry and rose fair and horse show, and reports a large crowd.

Mrs. J. Alford, Deffenbacher and J. Higginbotham were among others who attended the rose and strawberry show at Lebanon last week.

Mrs. Leslie Wallace left Monday for Drain, where she will visit with friends and relatives for a couple of weeks.

S. C. Darling, planer here, has charge of the planers at Wendling during a night run of a couple of weeks.—Coburg Chronicle.

IN ORDER TO REACH ALL
Our Townsmen, Friends and Patrons

We hereby extend to them and their ladies a cordial invitation to attend the grand opening of the Hotel Osburn, Tuesday evening, June 14.

A fine banquet will be served at 6:45 p. m.

After the banquet a public reception will be held, which will give all an opportunity to inspect the beautiful hotel, which the pluck and enterprise of our citizens has made possible, and to which it will be our greatest pleasure to welcome you one and all.

Those desiring plates at the banquet kindly respond that we may reserve seats. Price per plate, $2.50.

We are not sending out personal invitations for fear that we might miss some, hence this public announcement.

Yours for cheer and hospitality.

MR. and MRS. W. F. OSBURN.
