AFTER A WHILE The mother, tired, with aching head, from sweeping floors and baking bread, called to her daughter: "Susan, I wish you'd help a little here." Fair Susan, in the parlor dim, was playing o'er a tender hymn; methinks it was "The Maiden's Prayer"—a melody beyond compare. She cried, while playing on, in style: "I'll help you in a little while." Her lover blew in unawares—a fine young man with princely airs. His heart was free from sordid stains; his head was full of high-class brains; most any girl would give her eyes to gather in so big a prize. He heard the mother's weary cry; he heard the dame's flipp reply. His bosom swelled with noble ire! His tawny eyes flashed streaks of fire! He cried: "Miss Susan Sarah Brown, it's up to me to turn you down! While groundhogs live and comets shine, you'll be no blushing bride of mine. The healthy girl that doesn't jump, and on her system got a hump, when mother calls, I do not want; so get thee hence! Arion! Avaunt! I'll hunt me up a damsel fair who passes up the 'Maiden's Prayer' when she has got a chance to chase the troubles from her mother's face!" WALT MASON. Copyright, 1909, by George Matthew Adams.

TYPICAL AMERICAN CAREER Did the announcement of Richard Parr's $100,000 prize for unearthing sugar frauds cause you to sit up and take notice? If it did, how does the neat little sum that Lieutenant-Commander Cleland Davis draws from Uncle Sam impress you? Only Davis has to work a little harder for his, because it is by his inventions that he makes his salary of $3500 look and spend like half a million. Davis' specialty is devising schemes to put naval warfare on the blink. He is already the inventor of two or three devices which will accomplish that end, when necessity calls them into use, and has incidentally patented said devices, so that when he walks into Washington all the national bankers there rise up as one man and take off their hats to him. There is no need of framing up a condemnation of Mr. Davis because, as the petted son of an indulgent government, he has pulled this fat financial chestnut out of the fire. Davis is one of the sort that can't help inventing things. He tried to get the navy department to help him—this was years ago—and the navy department couldn't see him with the Lick telescope. So he just invented on his own hook a few nifty spring styles in armor-piercing shells and sure-fire torpedoes. Still the department regarded Mr. Davis as a forward young man. Then Davis got his grand idea. It was to devise a torpedo that was also a cannon. He didn't have the money needed for experiments, and when the navy department would not help he went to others who would—and these others got the patents. Later on the navy department bargained with these others for the Davis style torpedo, and Davis is getting his royalties in large, greasy chunks. Davis is only a youngster, too. He was born in Kentucky thirty-nine years ago, is dark, alert, well-groomed, and can only be coaxed to talk on subjects that have to be worked out by an adding machine and a chemical test. After five years at sea following his ticket from Annapolis, he was assigned to the bureau of ordnance. He has a record that is a credit to any sea fighter, and is now doing duty on the Mississippi. His name is among the first of the young officers who have assisted to materially rebuild and upbuild the United States navy during the past few years.

In the newspaper business circulation, both quantity and quality, the stable, reliable kind, is the basis of everything. The Guard is crowded with advertisements because its circulation in the homes of the upper Willamette valley is so general, year after year, that no other advertising medium in the field can even be compared with it. Last night the house of representatives passed a public buildings bill carrying $20,000,000 without even calling the roll. That only illustrates how big this country is getting to be, and how small and insignificant a million dollars has really become. After all the college graduates will find that their education will only assist them in doing effective work. It will not obviate the necessity of doing plenty of hard labor if they are to succeed in any chosen career.

Former Senator Billy Mason is going on the stump to tell people how United States senatorships are bought and sold. As Billy hails from Illinois he ought to know. Lane county's big cherry crop is distributing a good many dollars among growers, pickers and packers just now. And the value of this crop will grow every year. Looks as if the Oregon Electric will reach Albany from Salem about the time the Portland, Eugene & Eastern will get to that city from Eugene. Work on Eugene's filtration plant has begun and in three or four months we may boast of the purest water supply of any city in Oregon. President Taft has at least some qualities that no good American will gainsay. For instance, he has become an ardent baseball fan. And now Hood River is accusing Medford of stealing its apple thunder. To think that boastful Medford would do a thing like that!

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES ARE TOMORROW

Large Class Will Receive Their Sheepskins—Orations Tonight Tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock the graduating exercises of the University of Oregon will be held and 98 seniors will be turned out into the world to compete in the race of life. There are a large number of alumni in town, and the commencement exercises are bigger than ever before. Following is the program, which will be held in Villard hall: Processional—Orchestra. Invocation (audience standing)—Rev. E. C. Sanderson. Pearls—Moret; orchestra. Address before the graduating class—Professor Thomas Nixon Carver. "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" (Sampson and Dellilah), Saint Saens; Miss Lilah C. Prosser. Conferring of degrees—President of the University. Postlude—Orchestra. Honors for Theses Of the various senior theses the following were picked out as the best and received honorable mention: Ethel Frances Barnard, "The Critics of Byron." William Chester Campbell, "The Highway Situation in Oregon and Its Needs." James Dean Collins, "The Prof. and the Soph," a comedy. Ruth Dunaway, "Tendency of the Modern Drama." Arthur McCornack Geary, "Function of the Press in Oregon's Popular Government." Dean Truman Goodman, "Finances of the City of Portland, 1879-1908." Hannah Maude Kenworthy, "Classification of Oregon Ferns." Jennie Lilly, "The Laboratory Method and the Correlation of Mathematics and Science." Carl B. Neal, "A Forestry Policy for Oregon." Alfred Powers, "Citizens of Pleasant Valley," a story. Joel Henry Richardson, "Credit Organization for Oregon." Clanton Paine Shangle, "Initiative and Referendum." Isolene Shaver, "A Critique of Gray's History of Oregon." Roy Keats Terry, "A Syllabus for the Revision for the Oregon Constitution." Frances Packard Young, "Appellate Views of Oregon History." Oratorical Contests, Tonight at 8:15 o'clock at Villard hall the Falling and Beekman orations will be delivered. This contest is open to seniors who are about to graduate. Only students who have no grade below C in their junior and senior years are allowed to compete. The Falling, or first prize, is $150, and the Beekman is second with $100. These sums are the annual interest on endowments made for oratory. The following is the program: Processional—"War March of the Priests," Mendelssohn; orchestra. Reading of the terms of competition and award from the "Deed of Gift," by the president of the University. Overture—"Crusader," Rollinson; orchestra. Oration—"A Messianic Hope," Mr. Arthur Geary. Oration—"The Handmaiden of the Lord," Miss Frances Oberteuffer. Piano solo—"Sextet From Lucia," (for the left hand) Donizetti-Leshetzky; Miss Bernice Noel. Oration—"The Higher Law," Mr. Harold Rounds. Oration—"The Higher Law," Miss Isolene Shaver. Salut d'Armour—Elgar; orchestra. Oration—"Non-Conformity and Progress," Mr. Benjamin Williams. Popular Airs—Orchestra. Announcement of awards by the president of the University.

CLASS TIES ALMOST SERIOUS

Old Grads Pulled and Some Have in Getting In the annual tug-of-war between the seniors and the University this afternoon, dragging the seniors into the mill race excitement occasioned that some of the alumni team could not get to the place. Converse, Ketchum and Wright had to have help. So clear under and bid out by their rescuers of the two teams were Seniors—Alderman Steele, Richardson, Bates. Alumni—Almer Wright, Hug, Kincaid, Converse. Seniors Win The seniors also won game from the alumni of 3 to 0 in 7 innings were as follows: Seniors—Whitless; alumni—Hobbs and Dillard. Alumni Association afternoon and election follows: Allen Eaton, Treasurer; Converse, Secretary; Clain, Judge; L. T. H. professor Geo. W. Huxford, athletic committee.

REGENTS ELECT NEW TEACHERS

(Continued from page one.) 200 to $1,400, the advance to take effect October 1, 1910. "The total amount of addition to the year's budget involved in the foregoing recommendations is approximately four hundred dollars. "The departments of rhetoric and public speaking are both apt to be seriously overcrowded with the matriculation of a large freshman class in September." NEWS NOTES. A cement factory may be built in Klamath Falls. Milton-Freewater has a "rotten mail service," asserts the Eagle. A good deal of real estate is being sold in Merrill and vicinity. Glendale, with only about 1000 inhabitants, has provided for a city park. Rain in Umatilla county nearly cured the bad effects of previous hot winds. A wealthy Spokane man has moved to Klamath Falls and invested in considerable property. London had a population of about 250,000 in 1740, in which year there were 2725 deaths from small-pox. A new concrete building to cost $10,000 is promised for Bandon in the near future. It will be started in 60 days and rushed to completion. Bandon is getting a number of substantial concrete buildings at present; the last one to be erected is that of the Bank of Bandon, which has just been completed. Jefferson Myers, a land citizen, and Lewis and Clark expedition announced his democratic primary governor. Mr. Myers several hundred letters in various sections urging him to be a
