Blind Football Players
Have a Good Team

This photograph shows the famous football team of the Kentucky Institute For the Blind at Louisville. Eight of the regular team are totally blind. Their percentage of wins over strong opposing teams is excellent. The only favor they ask in a game is that when the ball is put in play the opposing team shall indicate the fact by shouting the word "Pass." Of course kicking the goal after a touchdown is eliminated. The team is in charge of Professor R. B. Huuton.

(The puzzle pictures will be resumed again in a day or two.—Editor.)
