CITY NEWS

Dillon's for Drugs. Chas. Nicklin has taken a position on the street cars as conductor. Bert Vincent has returned from Reno, where he took in the prize fight. He says it was a tame affair. Watches bathed in the Mohawk should be dried and cleaned immediately. Have it done right at Ruckeys. Rev. and Mrs. O. C. Wright will give an informal reception to their Eugene friends tonight from 8 till 11 o'clock. That excellent paper, the Salem Statesman, reaches Eugene at 6 o'clock on the same morning it is published. The plans for the new Christian church have arrived and bids for the construction work will soon be advertised for. A new cement walk is being built in front of the Norwegian Lutheran church building at East Sixth and Pearl streets. It never stays real hot long in the Willamette valley. Three days in succession are a good many. And our nights are always cool. Household goods for C. G. Reagan, from some point in Montana, have arrived here. Mr. Reagan and family being recent arrivals. Peter Paito was brought down from Wendling last evening with an injured leg and taken to the Eugene hospital for treatment. I. N. Harbaugh has let the contract to Jack Godman for the erection of his new bungalow on Madison street, next to the railroad. A new cement walk has been laid in front of the lot owned by the Unitarian church at the corner of East Eleventh and Ferry streets. The Shell theatre is only showing Biograph, Vitagraph and Selig pictures, made by the greatest American manufacturers. Why is our house crowded? Karl Mills, Undertaker Gordon's assistant, who has been ill for a long time, was able to be down town today, but he is not yet strong enough to go to work. The commissary department of the Maana excursion to the Three Sisters next month will start from Eugene for the mountain about the 23d of this month. Police Officer Bonney has two good bicycles, one a new one, that have evidently been stolen. The owners may have them by calling on him and paying for this notice. A big load of hay that was being taken to the old Croner barn near the depot went through the sidewalk crossing this morning and tipped over, blocking the sidewalk. Stage passengers out this morning were as follows: Geo. Stevenson to Vida; Mr. Wilson and wife, Vida; Eva Walker, Mapleton; W. P. Porep, Florence; J. C. Harrow, Mapleton. Jesse Bond of this city, who has been attending Columbia law school at New York, has accepted the position as principal of the Heppner high school at a salary of $1200 a year. H. E. Owen, while cranking up his auto a few days ago, was struck on the leg by the crank as it flew back, resulting in a painful injury. He was confined to his home for several days. The work of tearing down the old frame building just vacated by the Royal lunch counter, to make room for the new Titus block, was begun today. Buffalo Bill's show will appear in Eugene on Sept. 22. The street parade that was a conspicuous feature of the exhibition when it was here seven or eight years ago, has been cut out. The plat of the Grand Prairie addition to Eugene was filed with the county clerk by D. M. Purkerson, the owner, today. The addition lies to the west of the city, bordering on Sixth and Seventh streets. A. H. Eaton's book bindery has moved from the second floor of the theater block to the building formerly occupied by the Gaby plumbing shop in the alley in the rear of the old creamery building. Miss Emma Roth, holding contract No. 66, who lives at 206 East Third street, Eugene, has won the lot given away by the Kenney-Hyland Realty Co. Miss Roth is a recent purchaser and will be awarded a lot valued at $150. Henry Gloystein, who has sold out the Unique restaurant, states that he is not going east but will remain in Eugene or some outlying place for the summer, and that he has no intentions of working double, but will remain single. The men who are preparing the road leading to the top of the butte are blasting a few rocks out. The blasts remind us of the time when the Willamette Valley company did so much blasting for the big reservoir on the butte. The surplus dirt and rock from the street car excavation along the pavement on South Willamette and West Eleventh streets is being hauled away, and soon those streets, which have been partially blocked for a long time, will be clear. On Monday night someone entered the new residence just completed by Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Spencer on Pearl street and stole some gut glass ware and other articles valued at about $25. They had just moved into the house and had retired, when Mr. Spencer heard someone below. He called to know who it was but there was no answer. When they arose the next morning the articles were missed. A concrete foundation is replacing the old stone underpinning of the Bonnett block, now occupied by the Bangs Livery company, on West Ninth street. This new foundation is made necessary by the erection of the new block adjoining. The family of Engineer Fornerl, of the Lane County Asset company, is expected to arrive in Eugene from Minneapolis on Saturday of this week. They started from there yesterday. Mr. Fornerl will come in from the railroad surveying camp to meet them. Chas. N. Griswold and I. J. Walcott made a trip to McKenzie park on their bicycles one day last week and came back the first of this week. They fished a day or so in Gate and Indian creeks and made a fairly good catch, but the fish were not biting very good in the river. W. H. Kay and wife, W. N. Kidwell and mother and Mrs. Livermore left this morning in Mr. Kay's automobile for a trip to Portland. Messrs. Kay and Kidwell will purchase supplies and fixtures for their new auto and bicycle supply store and repair shop in the Littlefield building. J. F. Kelly and wife and daughter, Flora Patterson, and Miss Evelyn Bristow, went to O'Brien's yesterday afternoon in Mr. Kelly's White steamer and will spend a week there. They were driven up by Ivan Clem, who brought the car back, and will go after them when ready to return. S. R. Williams today received a letter from his daughter, Miss Nellie, in which she said she and Dr. Franc Lucille Hard, who have been in San Diego, Cal., since last November, will start in a day or so for home. They will stop at Los Angeles, San Francisco and Shasta Springs on the way back. The night watchman at the corner of Eleventh and Willamette streets, where the new switch has been put in, says that nearly every night someone will try to cross the tracks with a team in spite of the torn-up condition of the street, and will invariably have to unhitch before they can get back. The fruit in this vicinity is very heavy this year and if there is a good return. The apples and plums are bearing especially heavy and the trees have to be braced in order to keep from breaking with their loads. The fruit seems to be a little bit earlier this year than usual. Eugene Matlock and wife returned last night from a very successful fishing trip up the McKenzie. They report the trout biting fine and they made a good catch. They say the tourists on the river are thick. They met at least ten automobile loads of people on the way up the river as they were coming down yesterday. All the employees of the street car company were surprised when they got their checks for June to find that their salaries had been raised five cents an hour. It was generally talked among the men that there was a chance of such an increase, but all were agreeably surprised when they were given the raise on their wages for the past month. An unusually promising subject is up at the Congregational church tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, with a list of short talks by some of the most thoughtful of the people. Some of the topics are "A Man's Help for a Boy," "A Woman's Help for a Girl," "The Church vs. the Lodge," and others are just as good. A general and cordial invitation. Come early. A Springfield merchant complains that a young man formerly residing there some time ago gave him and a number of others worthless checks. The matter has been laid before the authorities and it is said that if a settlement is not made soon prosecution will follow. The young man in question is prominently connected and is said to reside in another state now. The wild hay crop that many of the fruit growers living in the hills in the Spencer Butte vicinity raise each year is not as good this year as usual. It came up thin and ripened quickly, but the rains caused the farmers to delay cutting until it became overripe. This will cause many of them to have to buy hay from the outside, and it is difficult to haul it over the steep roads. The promotion board of the Commercial club last night held a short meeting and approved of the scheme of Manager Freeman for getting up some very novel souvenirs in the shape of milk bottles for the dairyman's convention, which meets in Eugene next December. The bottles will contain the souvenir program of the convention and the menu at the banquet to be given the dairyman. Letters from Redmond, which is located not far from the Three Sisters on the Crook county side of the Cascades, to people in Eugene state that there is a crew of surveyors at work near there working toward the McKenzie pass. There is no doubt in the minds of the people there but that they are Hill surveyors, and it is the intention to build across the mountains down the McKenzie and to Eugene. The work of changing the rails on the trestle from the West Springfield station to the end of the line was begun last night after the cars stopped running. The light rails that were laid temporarily before the heavier steel came are being replaced with steel the same weight as on the rest of the line. The rails are laid along the track and as much of the work as was possible was done during the early morning before the

SOUTH METHODISTS FIGHT OVER SCHOOL Vanderbilt University Control Will Be Decided in the Highest Courts

Kansas City, Mo., July 13.—Bishop E. R. Hendrix of this city, a leader in the councils of southern Methodism, may be charged with insubordination and tried before a committee of elders, as a result of the decision of the College of Bishops liberations of the Methodist Episcopal church, south. Reports from Tennessee, the center of the warfare, threatens to cause a serious split in the ranks of the followers of Wesley in Dixie, state that the bishops are determined to carry the fight to a finish. The United States supreme court will finally have to settle the dispute, which grew out of a controversy over the ownership and control of Vanderbilt university at Nashville. It is expected that Chancellor J.

CHANCELLOR KIRKLAND.

May Be Ousted as Head of Vanderbilt University.

H. Kirkland of Vanderbilt university will be removed from his office by the Methodist College of Bishops, and nineteen members of the board of trustees of the university will be ejected from their trusteeship for insubordination and defiance of the church.

A lawsuit will be brought in the federal court to enforce the rights of ownership and control of the property by the Methodist Church South, and to force the present trustees to accept the three trustees elected at the recent general conference in Asheville, N. C. This is the situation in the controversy that has raged around the university for the past five years.

William K. Vanderbilt, head of the great family that has so liberally endowed this Methodist institution, has openly espoused the cause of the trustees who are in rebellion against the church's authority, and has written Chancellor Kirkland a letter in which he says he has always understood that the board of trustees was a self-perpetuating body, and that the Methodist church did not own or control the university.

Bishop Hendrix is the president of the board of trustees. At the recent general conference the church went on record by practically unanimous vote, holding that the university belongs in fee simple to the Methodists of the south, and instructed the College of Bishops, of which Bishop Hendrix is a member, to take all legal steps to enforce this claim and the rights of the church in the institution.

When the board of trustees met, it rejected three trustees that the cars were running. Lights were strung along over the track to work by. Superintendent Baker tried to get a bus to carry the passengers from where the car has to stop to the river today but the man whose property had to be crossed objected to the people walking on his premises a few hundred yards.

The county rock crusher that has been breaking stone for the road from Bailey Hill toward Lorane has been moved to Cottage Grove and the work stopped for the summer. The crew has spread the stone as far as the Connard hill, which is about half way to Lorane. This gives the farmers a good road this far all the way from Eugene. The rock crusher, it is promised, will be returned in the fall to finish the road all the way.

The party of Washington campers that arrived here yesterday afternoon left this morning by private conveyance for the mountains. The party consists of the following: Frank Hill, Wm. E. Reynolds, J. G. Simmons, P. McHugh, P. A. Dwyer and V. P. Williams, all of Everett; Dan McGivray and C. Holterman of Oso, and A. C. Freabel of Seattle. They will go up the Willamette and will hunt in the Deschutes country and in the vicinity of the Three Sisters.

church had elected to fill vacancies, and tabled a resolution that affirmed the ownership of the church. Bishop Hendrix was with the majority in both votes, and this constitutes the sum and substance of his offending. Nothing within the recent history of southern Methodism has so stirred up the church as his action in this matter.

The case will go ultimately to the supreme court of the United States, of which Justice H. H. Lurton of Nashville is a member. A good many Methodists are unwilling to submit the question to him for adjudication, for the reason that he has openly espoused the side of Chancellor Kirkland and those trustees who are trying to sequester the university from the church, to use Bishop Hendrix's words.
