Buy Quality as Well as Style

We've told you of the LaVogue, the Wooltes and also the Prinzess faultless styles. At the same time we've described the quality which is equally important. Not only quality of materials, but the quality in making, fitting and finishing. The makers of these suits use only the best grade of materials and guaranteed linings. The hidden qualities of making are more important—in these is the life of the garment. The shape that holds. Upon the correct cutting, perfect fitting and careful finishing, with skillful finishing, depend the lasting good looks of your garment. You will have a suit of quality throughout when you buy one of the above make. Come in and make your selection now.

SUITS FROM $16.50 TO $40.00 COATS FROM $8.50 TO $40.00

At the Head of the Alteration Department

Is Mrs. West, expert fitter and formerly of The White House, San Francisco, has consented to take charge of our work for the coming season. She is ably assisted by a number of competent helpers. Possessing such a great amount of skill combined with a wide and varied experience in her work, makes no uncertainty in the correctness of the fit of any garment leaving the shop. The graceful lines and the finish of a garment is not altered by any change that is necessary to make a perfect fit.

American Lady Corsets

It is with pleasure we announce to the women of Eugene, and to all other interested persons that we have on our shelves and ready for your inspection, the well known "American Lady Corset. A perfect fitting gown must have for a foundation, a perfect fitting corset, which must be designed according to the latest fashion ideas.

Royal Worcester Corsets

Price range is ..... $1.00 to $4.50

To those who are in the habit of wearing this make, we will say that we will not discontinue the sale of these exceedingly popular corsets, but on the other hand we are having a stronger line than ever, and always adding new models as they appear, thus being able to corset any figure that may be presented at our counter.

Royal Worcester Corset ..... $1.00 to $6.00

Misses' and Children' Read-to-Wear School Dresses

Just received a new lot of wool and heavy wash dresses for winter and fall wear. They come in sizes ranging from 6 years to 14 years, and the prices are much cheaper than the material and the cost of making.

- Heavy checks one-piece dress, each ..... $1.50
- Medium dark galatea dresses, one-piece, aged 6 to 14 years, each ..... $2.00
- Blue or brown cashmere, one-piece dress, piped with plaid silk, 6 to 14 year sizes, each ..... $3.75
- Shepherd check dress, trimmed with red ladies' cloth, one piece, ages 6 to 14 years, each ..... $4.00
- Navy serge two-piece Middy dress, wide collar, trimmed with 7 rows black braid, very neat, each ..... $6.00
- Black and white Shepherd check Middy dress, wide red collar trimmed with white soutache braid emblem in shield, each ..... $5.00

Popular Priced Suits Faultlessly Kept

In buying clothes as in buying other things, it's always wise to be sure you get what you pay for. Sometimes the ignorance of a buyer is the chief source of profit to the seller.

When you want a popular priced suit you look for the name Kirschbaum on it. You'll find a suit for $15.00 that is better than any you ever bought or can buy for that price. They're carefully selected all-wool fabric and are the best goods made at the price. The suit ..... $15.00

Another strong point in favor of our clothing stock is the way we keep 'em.

You know we keep them in dust-proof oak cabinets. Each hangs by itself and is not piled one on top of the other to get creased and wrinkled.

This is the faultless way and they cost you no more either. Our suit price range is ..... $10.00 to $40.00

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 21, 1910

JUSTICE IS BLIND
 I spend my weary days in jail, and O, the hours so sad and long! I lean against the bars and gaze upon the passing throng. Why are these letters on my legs? Why do I sleep on mouldy straw? I see a man two doors away that would not pass the pure food law. The peeler then came to my store and smote me roundly with their staves, and cast me on this dungeon floor, and no one suspects, no one saves. I look out through the prison bars, and watch the flood of humankind, and see men pass in motor cars, who tried to rob the city blind. Across the street a stationer stands, his pocket full of ten-plunk notes. He often uses both his hands distributing the price of votes. The grating alderman drives by, his diamonds glowing on his shirt; he sees me, and he winks an eye, and leaves me to the gloom and dirt. The pluckers are on parade before my dark and dreary cell; if they were asked how much they've made, I doubt me much if they could tell. They break some laws most every day; they all hire lawyers by the year, and yet they blithely go their way, while I, alas, am wearing huzel.

REAL ISSUE OF CAMPAIGN

The morning paper, not content with allowing the two republican candidates for joint senator from Lane and Lincoln county, Messrs. Bingham and Bear, to go before the voters of their party on a straight assembly and anti-assembly issue, is attempting to inject side issues in evidence, hope of benefitting the assembly candidate. With this object in view, it reprints an article, evidently a paid advertisement, from the Lebanon Criterion, attacking Senator Bingham for voting for the Jayne bill, on the ground that this measure was intended to destroy the local option law.

Now, as a matter of fact, the Jayne bill was only a modification of the local option measure; it was before the session of 1905, while Mr. Bingham was serving in the lower house; the issue was fully threshed out in the senatorial campaign following, which resulted in Mr. Bingham's election and in that connection with his position on the Jayne bill still fresh in the minds of all the morning paper strongly supported him against the candidate, Hon. M. Veatch, who was openly endorsed by the anti-saloon league. Therefore it seems somewhat stale and rather inconsistent for the morning paper to resurrect the matter at this late day.

Senator Bingham has openly avowed since he became senator that he would take no part in any further legislation tending to change the local option act, and has, during the four years of his term, consistently held to that course. The local option law is less likely to be repealed or amended than almost any other enactment on our statute books and everybody, intelligent enough to cast a vote under the Australian ballot law, knows this to be a fact. Local option is not an issue of this campaign and cannot be made so.

This digging up of a dead and buried matter is nothing more nor less than an attempt to obscure the real issue in the primary of next Saturday, which is:

Shall the people govern themselves through the direct primary, or shall the politicians rule the people through the convention or assembly?

Jim Hill says the business outlook of the country is all right, and if anyone knows, he does.

Willis Dunnaway, state printer, who has cleaned up profits of about $110,000 on four years, and who is more than anyone else responsible for the defeat of the flat salary law for his office, is appealing to the people of Oregon for re-election. He claims to be an anti-assembly candidate, when, as a matter of fact, he was a candidate for the nomination before the assembly, and after being defeated, came out against the assembly nominee, Mr. Clarke. The latter is out on a flat salary platform, and at least promises some reform, while Dunnaway stands for the same old graft—net profits of over $100,000 for each term, with the taxpayers of Oregon footing the bills.

Senator La Follette, who has just been endorsed for re-election by the people of Wisconsin, by a vote of 4 to 1, is not a believer in the assembly. He wires C. J. Reed, an assembly candidate for congress in the second Oregon district as follows: "Madison, Wis., Sept. 19.—Hon. Charles J. Reed, Portland, Or.—Every vote is vital in this great struggle to bring the government back to the people. I am deeply interested in your success, and confident that no man will win who favors any assembly or convention device to break down the Oregon primary."
 "ROBERT M. LA FOLLETTE."

The Southern Pacific Co. has dealt the Willamette Valley another body blow by raising the freight rate on lumber, shipped from our mills to California. Thus does the action of the railroad corporation belie its oft repeated pledge to work with the people for the development of western Oregon. If it really wants more settlers here, it is only because it may have more people to hold up and rob.

The Seattle Post-Intelligencer, the oldest and largest newspaper of Washington state, has announced its future independence in politics. Hereafter it will not accept dictation from party leaders, nor pay homage to any political organization, having discovered, like many other newspapers, that it can best serve the interests of the public by pursuing a course of untrammeled independence.

 When most of the imported goods we buy are grown and put up right in our own United States, the tariff should not affect us very much.
 The aeroplane has not yet dimmed the luster of the good old movement.
 Lane County's fair opens auspiciously. Let everybody help to make it a success.

CHANDLER'S FORMER WIFE BRINGS SUIT AGAINST CAVALIERI

New York, Sept. 21.—A legal suit to set aside the ante-nuptial contract between Mrs. Anna Cavalieri, the opera singer, and her husband, Robert Cavalieri, was instituted today by Mrs. Julia C. Chandler, former wife of Robert Chandler. The papers allege that the ante-nuptial agreement was obtained by Mrs. Cavalieri by fraud and undue influence.
