MUSICAL BONNELLS

ARE HEADLINERS

Novelty Musical Feature at the Aloha, Starting Tonight

Refined, pleasing vaudeville acts of high character composed the two bills which were presented at the Aloha last week and opening tonight, for the first half week the management announces another bill of this character.

A big musical act of four people known to the vaudeville world the country over as "The Four Musical Bonnels," headline the bill. The Four Musical Bonnels offer a high-class novelty musical act with elaborate stage settings and colored electrical effects different from all other acts, being positively excellent musicians and a novel attraction.

Another novel attraction is the "Bothwell Sisters," who present their comedy singing skit, "The Rube and the Actress," written especially for them by Louis Hallett, including harmony duets, comedy dialogue, single singing numbers, and costume changes.

The third number on the bill is John H. Mack, banjoist and comedian extraordinary, formerly with Carnegie's famous minstrels.

Two reels of good photoplays, with a comedy subject and a dramatic subject, and music by the Aloha orchestra also occupy an important place on the bill, which in addition to the three good acts gives a bill that will prove a feature throughout.

"The Summer Girl," Edison. This picture is perfect from an artistic point of view. Beautiful effects of open air, sunbathing, river, etc. The hotel veranda is a delight to the eye. The girl, even, is beautiful. Folly theatre tonight only.

RESERVED SEAT TICKETS. for the Oregon and Washington football game, will be on sale at the Oskan store and at the registrar's office until Wednesday evening only.

Attorney Andrew L. Chezen, formerly of Eugene, now a prominent legal light at Mattoon, Ill., has a long article in the Mattoon Commercial-Star of recent date on "Taft vs. Jefferson." The article is very interesting. Any one interested may see the paper at this office.

"The Colleen Bawn," a three-reel production, every scene taken on the spot where it occurred in Ireland. Irish players are used as much as possible. Ely O'Connor, as Colleen Bawn. Tonight only, Folly theatre.

The funeral of Dr. E. L. Fletcher will be held at the Gordon chapel at 2 p. m. Wednesday. Rev. H. W. Davis
