

LOVETT AND PARTY PAY EUGENE A VISIT TODAY

Head of Harriman Railroads and Others Taken Over the City During Brief Stay

Robert S. Lovett, head of the Harriman railroad lines, and other prominent men connected with the system, visited Eugene this forenoon on a trip of inspection of the lines in Oregon. Their train of four coaches and a baggage car remained in the city only about half an hour, but in that time the visitors were taken to the University and to the Commercial club and were given every courtesy by a committee of citizens from the club. The party made a trip over the west and east side branches yesterday and came up from Portland this morning, going on to southern Oregon, after leaving Eugene.

The following men were in the party: Judge R. S. Lovett, chairman board of directors of the Harriman system; William Sproule, vice-president of the S. P. system; E. E. Calvin, general manager of the S. P. system; B. W. Campbell, general superintendent Oregon lines; L. R. Fields, superintendent Oregon lines; H. E. Lounsbury, general freight agent Oregon lines, and John M. Scott, general passenger agent Oregon lines. The party were received by a committee from the Commercial club consisting of Messrs. M. J. Duryea, E. O. Potter, J. S. Magladry, L. H. Potter, F. M. Wilkins, J. W. Shumate, D. C. Freeman, R. McMurry, B. L. Bogart, S. H. Friendly, D. E. Wheeler, P. E. Snodgrass and E. K. Wheeler. They were taken for an auto spin through the city and out to the University where they met President Campbell. They then returned to the city and paid a brief visit to the Commercial club rooms. From this point they returned to the depot, from whence after inspection, they left for the south.

Compliment Eugene.

The gentlemen were reticent relative to the work of construction of the new lines. Mr. Calvin remarked that he and Mr. Sproule would be frequent visitors to Eugene hereafter on account of the construction of the road here.

The visitors were all enthusiastic in their praise of the city, and all expressed surprise at its size and modern appearance. The sentiment of the crowd was voiced by Judge Lovett, who said: "You have a fine town, fine streets, fine buildings, fine club room, fine University, a fine station, and a fine railroad."

Lovett Democratic.

Judge Lovett, head of the Harriman system of railroads, is a modest appearing man. He looks like his published pictures and appears to be a very democratic sort of a person. He occupied J. S. Magladry's automobile in the drive about the city. He expressed himself as being delighted with the appearance of Eugene, despite the winter conditions that prevail. Eugene is at her best in the spring or in the fall, when the trees and shrubbery are laden with their foliage, but the railroad men were shown the best part of the city and all expressed themselves as did President Lovett.

Every member of the party predicted a bright future for Eugene on account of the construction of the new railroads leading both to the east and to the west.

WOMEN CHECKERS TAB NAMES "BAD"

Two Deputy County Clerks Say 195 Forgeries Are on the Parkinson Petitions

Portland, Or., Nov. 21.—Testifying in the University of Oregon referendum hearing which was taken up at the courthouse yesterday before Judge Galloway of Salem, Miss Minnie Burke and Mrs. Nellie S. Starr, deputies of County Clerk Fields, said that they had checked over 6753 of the names on the Parkinson petitions. They found 3223 of these on the registration books of the county and of this number passed as genuine 2902, the writing in the registration books and on the petitions being apparently the same. Under the head of "suspected," 131 were classified and 195 were branded as "bad," this last designation meaning forgery.

On cross-examination the women said that they had eliminated whole petitions circulated by Joseph Gorham, Harry Goldman, Robert Goldman, Charles Falk, Fred Koch, Harry Coler and W. H. Reynolds. The reason for this action, they testified, was that they became satisfied that all or nearly all of the names were fraudulent, the steady stream of the handwriting of only four or five persons making them feel that probably the whole petitions were forged. These were not taken into consideration in any way in the report.

3525 Not Registered.

The clerks discovered that of the names they reported upon 3525 were not registered, but these may have to be accepted as genuine for the reason that the law prescribes that legal voters, irrespective of their being registered, may sign initiative and referendum petitions. It has not yet been determined whether the friends of the university will have to prove these fraudulent, one by one, to have them eliminated, or whether the burden of proving their genuineness will be upon the state, against which the suit to prevent the referendum being placed on the ballot is directed.

W. T. Slater and M. L. Pipes, attorneys for the plaintiff, and S. H. Friendly, one of the University regents, made formal objection to the reception of the testimony of Mrs. Starr and Miss Burke, on the ground that the women are not experts, and that their investigation was of a general and not of a particular character. The women were the first witnesses for the state.

The plaintiff's case was closed yesterday with the reading to what purported to be a signed confession of Joseph Gorham, one of the circulators, in which he said that he had hung his petition in a saloon in Astoria and had obtained 400 names with little trouble. He had told Mr. Parkinson of his action, according to the confession. The names thus gleaned were filed against the university appropriation bills.

8061 Names in Doubt.

On the petitions which the clerks refused to consider because of their evident lack of genuineness there were about 2600 names, and that these will be eliminated without further consideration now seems possible. If the names attached to blank sheets of paper are invalidated, that will bring the number of eliminations to 7735, which, with the 326 the state's witnesses referred to as bad or suspected, would make a grand total of 8061. The defense, it is understood, has admitted that the 2600 names referred to are worthless. The number of names filed was 13,715, and with 8061 out only 5654 would remain, which would throw out the petition, as 5135 names are required.

The 5135 names which the plaintiff's attorneys insist must be thrown out because written on blank sheets of paper were signed on sheets which were stapled to front sheets bearing the wording of the referendum petition. They contend that the wording of the petition and other printed matter should have been at the top of each sheet. The defense resists this contention.

Delicious Gingerbread

(Recipe by Mrs. Mary J. Lincoln)

Children are great lovers of gingerbread, and grown folks, too, if it is the rich, "melt-in-your-mouth" kind. Here is something the children can eat freely without fear of "tummy-ache":

Mix two cups flour, one-half level teaspoon salt, one level teaspoon soda, one level tablespoon ginger, stir in one cup molasses, two tablespoons softened Cottolene and one-half cup boiling water. Bake in shallow pan. If for dessert, bake in layers. Fill with whipped cream, flavored with lemon.

Cottolene makes light, rich pastry that digests with ease.

AMUSEMENTS

THE COMMUTERS TONIGHT.

There are many ways and means of securing inspirations. Some authors and playwrights prefer to retire to the solitude of their "dens" there to ponder and pressure. Others find that their intellect scintillates with greatest brilliance in the open air, or in the silent woods. Some go walking on rainy days and nights when the lights gleam from the wet streets. Then there have been misguided individuals who are masters of their genius only when under the influence of quarts of black coffee or an injection of cocaine, as practised by Sherlock Holmes in periods of depression when crime was dull and his imagination needed a goad.

But James Forbes, who wrote "The Commuters," which comes to the Eugene theatre tonight, would have none of these. He believed in going straight into the water in which he wished to swim.

So when he decided that a comedy upon suburban life would be his next contribution to the stage, he spent many days and dollars, travelling on way trains, through tank towns about New York city, with notebook and pencil, his weather eye upon his fellow travellers, especially those with lawn mowers and new servants. Whenever he saw a thing or heard an expression which struck him as characteristically suburban, down it would go in his notebook to be later woven into the fabric of his plot.

THE THIRD DEGREE.

"Contrary to all criticism of 'The Third Degree,'" says one of the New York dailies, "Annie Jeffries, the young wife in the peculiar Klein drama, does not battle alone for her husband's life. Far be it from a single handed combat on the part of Mrs. Klein's sweet little character, for at every performance Franklin Gale, who plays the young wife, has from fifteen to eighteen hundred staunch supporters, who hob, strain, struggle and smile with her. As she fights, she continues the paper, 'so do her supporters. After Howard, her dissipated mate, ankles his confession, it is indeed a study to look over the faces of the spectators, one would think, to see the earnest expression of the watchers in the orchestra, that every man, woman and child in the theatre was married to Howard Jeffries, or his wife, and vitally interested in the outcome, for the spectators are the fighters, mental fighters, not material, and fight they surely do."

"The Third Degree" will be presented at the Eugene theatre on Thursday, November 23, with a capable cast of sterling players, including Franklin Gale, Minnie Radcliffe, Chas. Burnham, Neil Barrett, Harry Freeman, Kenneth Stuart, Wesley Todd and others.
