

RED CROWN
GASOLINE

Easy Starting

Low boiling points do it—the first links in a continuous chain of boiling points. Low boiling points for easy starting, medium boiling points for quick and smooth acceleration, and high boiling points for power and mileage.

Red Crown is a straight-distilled gasoline. Hence there's a continuous chain of boiling points, gradually rising from low to high.

Mixtures cannot have a continuous chain of boiling points. That's why mixtures cannot be as good motor fuel as pure straight-run gasoline. And that's also why the gravity test for gasoline is worthless—gravity tells nothing at all about boiling points, the only real test of gasoline quality.

To make certain of getting real gasoline, and not a mixture, fill with

Registration Cards

Every man between the ages of 21 and 30 years, inclusive, must register Tuesday—War Census Day.

The only men of military age who are not required to register are those already in the military service of the United States—that is, who are regularly enlisted in the regular army, navy, marine corps, national guard and reserve thereof. Every other man between 21 and 30 years of age, inclusive, must register. There are no exceptions.

Registration and selective conscription, which will be the next step, are entirely different things. All male residents of the designated age, whether citizens or aliens, must be registered. The process of selective conscription will be based on information obtained from the registration cards. The form of card to be filled out by registrars, follows:
