

RED CROSS CHAPTER HAS FINE LOCATION IN ELKS BUILDING

Local Chapter Purposes to Supply Needs of Naval Hospital Initial Equipment, and Asks Help of All in Big Task.

The Eugene chapter of the Red Cross is now fully established in the new quarters in the Elks' building. The women are enthusiastic over the improvement over the previous quarters. The rooms are much larger, much better lighted and cooler, and are also much better from the standpoint of attracting the attention of passersby a feature of no small value.

There has been comparatively little completed work turned out at the Eugene chapter, most of the energies of the women having been devoted to cutting out work for the auxiliaries. The first class in surgical dressings had its examination Tuesday and will now be able in turn to teach others. The work on garments is mostly that sent to out of town auxiliaries, the work in surgical dressings being such that it is necessary that it be done under instructions.

Great Accuracy Necessary.

In the making of the surgical dressings the greatest nicety and accuracy is necessary. They must be cut exactly to prescribed sizes, and folded so accurately that there is not a raw edge or a selvage exposed and all are uniform fold and shape. Every dressing must be the exact size prescribed by the army regulations. This is the reason why this work is necessary to be done under supervision, at all times, of some one especially trained in the work.

There have been no bandages rolled as yet, because of the fact that the necessary machines for rolling have not come, though ordered some time since. As soon as they come the work of rolling the bandages will begin.

Monday is always a light day, yet there were 25 ladies present Monday afternoon, engaged in making surgical dressings, preparing work for others, and a number of ladies were engaged in making pajamas.

The classes in knitting are creating much interest and that formerly almost universal pastime bids fair to be rescued from oblivion by reason of the Red Cross work, many girls all over the country assuming the roll of the Puritan maiden Priscilla.

A Navy Hospital Outfit.

While the members of the local chapter are, of course, acting under orders from headquarters and are ready at any time on receipt of telegraphic orders to turn their attention to any particular item of supplies, they plan to work toward being able to send the initial supplies of a naval base hospital as their first shipment. The following comprises the list of initial supplies, in the lines mentioned, for a naval base hospital. The supplies for an army base hospital are identical, but twice the number of each article is required:

Gauze bandages—(rolls of 10 yards)—Wide, 26 dozen; medium, 52 dozen; narrow, 13 dozen.
Gauze compresses—Large, 104 dozen; small, 156 dozen.
Gauze rolls—Long, 26 dozen; short, 13 dozen.
Gauze wipes or sponges—Large, 175 dozen; small, 13 dozen.
Gauze drains—Large, 13 dozen; medium, 13 dozen; small, 13 dozen.
Gauze laparotomy pads—Large, 6½ dozen; small, 13 dozen; long, 6½ dozen.
Muslin bandages—Narrow, 16 dozen; wide, 16 dozen.
Crinoline bandages—Narrow, 1½ dozen; wide, 1 dozen.
Flannel bandages—Narrow, ½ dozen; wide, 1 dozen.
Head bandages—(4-tailed), 2½ dozen.
"T" bandages—1½ dozen.
Triangular bandages or slings—5 dozen.
Abdominal bandages or binders—5 dozen.

dozen.
Oakum pads—6 dozen.
Fracture or splint pillows—3 dozen.
Hospital linen.
The Eugene ladies are at present making very little hospital linen as it is largely articles which can be purchased ready for use in the open market and they are devoting their efforts mostly to articles which must be made especially for hospital use. The following is the operating linen needed in a naval base hospital initial equipment, and which the local ladies are working upon:
Operating gowns—3½ dozen.
Operating caps—3½ dozen.
Operating helmets—2 dozen.
Operating leggings—3½ dozen pairs.
Operating sheets—7½ dozen.
Operating towels—2 dozen.

Equipment for One Patient.

The following is the equipment necessary for one patient, and the hope has been expressed both by the national Red Cross and by the local branch, that many individuals will take upon themselves the task and expense of each providing an equipment for one patient: Six sheets, 4 draw sheets, 2 spreads, 4 pillow cases, 3 suits pajamas, 4 hospital bed shirts, 1 convalescent gown, 4 pairs socks, 2 pairs bed socks, 2 bath towels, 4 face towels, 3 wash cloths, 1 pair slippers, 1 hot water bag cover, 1 ice bag cover, 6 handkerchiefs.

Multiply this by 50 and you have practically the amount of clothing, etc., for patients in an army base hospital, and by 25 and you have the amount for a navy base hospital.

The above list showing the amount of supplies for the initial equipment of one hospital unit, carries some inkling of the immense amount of supplies needed, and shows the urgent necessity for every woman to aid in the work, and every man to assist financially in the enterprise.

BERLIN ISSUES STATEMENT.

Berlin, July 3, via London.—Russian troops have broken forward across the heights on the western banks of the Stripa in Galicia and succeeded in extending northward the gap they made in the Teutonic lines the previous day, army headquarters announced today.

At Konluchy, the German statement says, strong Russian attacks broke down with heavy losses. The Russians did not find strength to repeat their attacks against the Brzezany heights.

FINNS TAKE PART.

Petrograd, July 3.—Details from an authorized source of the victorious Russian attack in Galicia state that a Finnish division participated in the victory at Konluchy.

PETROGRAD IS ELATED.

Petrograd, July 3.—According to news received by the government, the offensive on the southwestern front is developing in an absolutely favorable manner.

GERMAN ATTACKS FAIL.

(By The Associated Press)
Paris, July 3.—The Germans made repeated attacks last night on the Aisne front, on both sides of the Allies-Paisay road. The most violent fighting continued throughout the night. Today's official announcement says the Germans were thrown back each time and finally abandoned the effort this morning. The French also repulsed German attacks on the Verdun front between Hill 304 and Avocourt wood.

general, asked for a declaration of military rule, and this fact gave rise to the statement that military rule actually had been declared.

The adjutant-general declared that the transfer of military cases to civil courts involved so much trouble that reluctance to declare military rule was shown.

Property Loss Great.

The property loss due to the rioting was heavy because the warehouse of the Southern railway and between 100 and 150 freight cars were destroyed by the flames. The loss will amount to as high as $500,000. The Broadway theatre, valued at $100,000, also was destroyed.

Thousands of negroes are without homes today. Nearly 100 were sheltered at police headquarters last night. Militiamen made the rounds of the streets bringing negroes, especially women and children, to the station for safety from the mobs.

Bits of clothing taken from dead negroes were shown today by souvenir hunters. One brutal incident of the night was related among many others today. On Fourth street near Broadway three men saw a negro, apparently dead, lying in a gutter. One flashed a pocket light and saw that he still breathed.

"Well, what do you know about that?" he exclaimed; "not dead yet."

He and one of his companions then drew their pistols and each fired a bullet into the negro's head.

Policemen today tried to prevent the taking of photographs of fire ruins and black bodies still lying in the streets.

Labor Problem Is Cause.

The causes deeply underlying the disturbances are said to be of interest to many other northern communities where negro labor has been brought in from the south to replace men enlisted in the armed forces of the United States, or who have been tempted to other sections by the high wages paid in munition factories.

Unrest Smoulders Into Flame.

In East St. Louis, with a population of about 84,000 persons, there was already a large negro colony and the war influx increased the proportion to an extent which caused much comment. Unrest among the whites smouldered and even flamed up last May when in a small riot three negroes were shot and wounded and a number beaten but feeling did not run high in general as the negroes were merely filling vacancies not taking the places of white men and with the arrival of soldiers quiet was quickly restored. Race antagonism, however, remained and fanned, it is said, by labor agitators, resulted in yesterday's riots.

One incident of the night indicated the temper of the mobs. A crowd went about the streets shouting against the mayor. "Let's get Molman," they cried. "He's the man that brought 'em in. Let's lynch the mayor."

The cry was raised because of a false rumor that Mayor Molman went south and advertised that negro labor would be well paid in East St. Louis. As a matter of fact, the mayor visited New Orleans and conferred with railroad heads and others to discourage the negroes from coming.

Another incident of the night was an attack on a young negroess. White men and women were among the assailants. "Let the women have her," was the cry among the men, and white women began tearing the garments from their victim. The negroess' cry, "Please, please, I ain't done nothing," was stopped by a blow in the mouth with a club which a woman swung like a baseball bat. Another white woman seized the victim's hands and the blow was repeated. Fingers tore at her hair and her waist was stripped from her.

"Now let's see how fast you can run," suggested a bystander as the negroess broke loose. The women were loathe to leave her alone, but after following her with their blows for a short distance they stopped and she ran crying down the middle of the street.

CONTENT Dependent on Thrift.

WHY DO WE SO STRONGLY URGE THRIFT?

Well, naturally, thrift is good for business.

But, over and beyond this, we know that where there is improvidence and lack of thrift, there is much of unhappiness, unrest and discontent.

And we live here. Our home life, our social relations, our friends are here.

We'd be much more comfortable and happy if everyone in Eugene and Lane county were thrifty, prosperous and content.

That's reasonable, isn't it?
