

Union Services Mark Hot Weather Period In Eugene Churches

The vacation season is now on in the churches of Eugene and the Methodist and Christian churches unite in the morning service of the Methodist church. In the evening the Central Presbyterian church will unite with them all three congregations worshipping at the Methodist church, where Reverend A. L. Crim, of the First Christian church will deliver the evening sermon, and Reverend G. Parkinson, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church will preach in the morning.

One of the important developments in church circles the past week was the announcement that Reverend H. W. Davis, of the First Baptist church would seek service in the Y. M. C. A. work with the armies in the field. Dr. Davis is now in Seabeck, Washington, at a conference of Y. M. C. A. men and when he returns his final decision will be announced.

A large number of the students of the E. B. U. have entered or are planning to enter the war work in one phase or another. Word has been received from Frank Parnell that he has entered the forestry branch of the British service, and several others have applied for positions in the hospital, ambulance and other service. Several have applied for commissions as army chaplains.

CHURCH OF GOD.

Owing to the fact that a large portion of the congregation are attending the summering at Woodburn, there will be no services at the chapel Sunday, July 22. Services Sunday, July 23, as usual.

CENTRAL PRESBYTERIAN.

Tenth and Pearl streets. William Mollie, pastor. J. Norman Waterhouse, organist. Our morning worship at 10:30 o'clock will have for its central theme "The Altar and the Temple," a message of a fine example of "true churchmanship" that members of the church and congregation are requested most earnestly to have a share in. The school session will hold forth immediately following and will give you something to think about during its brief study period that should not miss. Our young people will be guests of the Methodist Young people at their league hour and our evening worship will share with other sister churches in the united worship at the Methodist Episcopal church where the message of the evening will be brought by Mr. Crim. Let a community attendance be in evidence.

President of Oberlin college, speaks next Sunday the 20th of July. Come and are the privileges of "our church home."

METHODIST AND CHRISTIAN UNION MEETINGS.

Beginning Sunday, July 22, these two congregations will worship together for six weeks. The services today will be held in the Methodist church on Willamette street, between Eleventh and thirteenth. Each church will hold its Sunday school at the usual hour, 9:30, after which both congregations will assemble at the Methodist church. The sermon in the morning will be preached by Mr. Parkinson, in the evening by Dr. Crim. It is earnestly desired that the members of both churches rally to this series of union meetings. The chorus will under direction of Professor Lyman DeLano at the organ will furnish music both morning and evening. The congregation of the Presbyterian church will unite in the evening service. The special program for the morning is as follows: Organ prelude, Cantilina, Leaning; anthem, "He Shall Come Down Like Rain." Barnes; offertory solo, "Just I Am." Cutter, Mrs. Roy W. Glass, of

for the boys in khaki

Bevo is a great favorite in the Army Canteens, where none but pure, soft drinks may be sold. After drill or march, you are sure to see a long line of hot and dusty-throated soldier boys making a bee-line for Bevo. They know that there lies complete satisfaction, full refreshment and pure wholesomeness.

At home or abroad at work or play between meals or with meals, you will appreciate what we have done for you in making this triumph in soft drinks.

You will find Bevo at inns, restaurants, groceries, department and drug stores, picnic grounds, baseball parks, soda fountains, dining cars, in the navy, at canteens, at mobilization camps and other places where refreshing beverages are sold.

Bevo—the all-year-round soft drink

Guard against substitutes. Have the bottle opened in front of you, first seeing that the seal is unbroken and that the crown top bears the Fox. Sold in bottles only, and bottled exclusively by,

Supremacy of Airplane Over Zeppelin Admitted in Berlin

(By The Associated Press)

Geneva, July 20.—The Zeppelin factory at Friedrichshafen has begun building aeroplanes, the German general staff being convinced that future supremacy in the air belonged to airplanes and that Zeppelins were of little war value. The Germans are said also to fear an extensive air offensive and have begun to plan to meet it.

60 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

Canada extends to you a hearty invitation to settle on her FREE Homestead lands of 60 acres each or secure some of the low priced lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. This year wheat is higher but Canadian land just as cheap, so the opportunity is more attractive than ever. Canada wants you to help feed the world by tilling some of her fertile soil—land similar to that which during many years has averaged 20 to 45 bushels of wheat to the acre. Think of the money you can make with wheat around $2 a bushel and land so easy to get. Wonderful yields also of Oats, Barley and Flax. Mixed farming in Western Canada is as profitable an industry as grain growing.

The government this year is asking farmers to put increased acreage into grain. There is now a great demand for farm laborers to replace the many young men who have volunteered for the service in the war. The climate is healthful and agreeable, railway facilities excellent, good schools and churches convenient. Write for literature as to reduced railway rates to Supt. of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or to

BATTERIES MUST BE BUILT FOR USE AND ABUSE.

"A cheaply made or a poorly constructed battery can't long stand the abuse and neglect that the average battery has to endure," says Mr. Anderson, the local Willard man. "Take such a simple thing as the battery box, for instance. If this is poorly constructed it is no time at all before the jars and shocks of the average road's condition burst it apart at the joints.

"In the Willard Storage Battery this is guarded against by making the box of the very hardest wood obtainable and not only dove-tailing the joints but driving a hardwood dowel through to be sure that they don't spread.

"If ordinary bolts and screws were used in the construction of the battery it would only be a short time before these would be corroded by the acid. For this not only the best material obtainable must be used, but the screws themselves must be coated with acid-proof preparation before they can be used.

"Many motorists know to their sorrow what a broken battery jar is. The jars particularly must be of good material and well made if they are going to stand up under the stress and strain of road service. The Willard Storage Battery Company in order to give the Willard users the best possible protection against this form of battery trouble, subjects all rubber for jars to a tensile test of 3000 pounds, per square inch of section, and the finished jars to a 25000 volt electricity test to search out small holes or weak spots.

"The plates which go to make up the elements of a battery must be especially well made if the battery is to give the user the best service.

"If the grids, which form the base of the plates, are made entirely of lead they will buckle and bend under the slightest strain. For this reason an alloy of lead and antimony is used in the best grids. Cheap batteries usually have less antimony in the grids than the better ones—for this is an expensive metal.

"Repeated experiments have shown that the best results are obtained from using coarse-grained oxides. Plates made of this type of oxide are longer lived, have greater capacity and are generally the most satisfactory.

"One of the most important features in Willard battery construction is the exclusive use of coarse-grained oxide and to this must be ascribed a great part of the satisfaction which Willard batteries give."
