ALL MEN IN SECOND COMPANY VACCINATED

Needle Applied for Prevention of Typhoid; Boys in Camp
Getting Plenty to Eat.

(By HAROLD B. SAY)
Second Company, Coast Artillery Corps
Fort Stevens, August 10.—Every man in the Second company has a sore arm tonight. Vaccination for prevention of typhoid fever was performed on all company members this afternoon. The men lined up and marched by a hospital orderly who passed on a few drops of iodine before the surgeon applied the hypo needle. Another inoculation will be made in 10 days.

Rumor that the boys are being underfed is unfounded. Here was the menu for supper tonight: Beef stew, mashed potatoes, lima beans, army beans, vermicelli, apple sauce and coffee. Sugar is supplied with every meal, and butter twice each day. Bread is placed on every table and each man may have as much as he can eat. It doesn't take a china platter to make a good meal. And with samples like the above, why should any one complain. Milk is always served with coffee.

Colonel C. C. Hammond gave a check for $50 to both the Second and Third companies last night. This was the first appropriation made from the funds raised by Eugene people prior to the departure of the two units. The money will be spent for the good of the company and for things the majority of the boys want.

Every afternoon mail is loaded with packages for boys of the companies. Cookies, cakes, candies, fruits and other dainties are included in the shipments that come from mothers, sweethearts, girl friends and other relatives. After every mail Supply Sergeant Belding and Joe Parker go down the company street to see what the different squads have drawn. "Don't care if we do have a bite of cake or candy," reply both in chorus, and they are on to the next tent.

The Second company's first squad composed of Leo Cosman and his little brother James, Paul Downard, Bob Case, Louis Furrow, Hugh McCallum, Joe Kremmel and Walter Kennon, presents a fine appearing column front. All the men are over six feet tall. Leo Cosman, a junior of the University, is the tallest. In his stocking feet, he stands 6 feet 4 and one-half inches.

W. O. W. Elects New Council Commander

O. L. Kaufmann was elected Council Commander of the Eugene lodge, Woodman of the World, at its meeting Friday evening. Mr. Kaufmann takes the place of E. P. Lyon, resigned. W. W. Bristol was elected adviser at the same meeting. Ice-cream and cake were enjoyed by the 75 or 80 members present, after the business session was concluded.

WHAT PEOPLE DO NOT KNOW ABOUT THE STORAGE BATTERY.

"Just as we battery men are beginning to be encouraged," says Mr. Anderson, the local Willard expert, "and think that car owners in general are learning to know their storage batteries, one incident will come up to convince us that we are too optimistic."

"For instance, it is not a great while ago since a man came to one of our middle west branches and said that he wanted the storage battery fixed. It won't work, he said."

"And then he dug down into the back of his machine and brought out the battery and several coils of wire."

"The service man asked him what the wire was for, and the motorist calmly replied that his battery needed rewinding, and that he had bought the wire on the way down because he didn't know whether the service station would have it or not."

"A few days ago the Willard Storage Battery Co., at Cleveland received a battery from a car owner just west of the Mississippi."

"The letter that accompanied the battery said that although the car owner knew that his battery was a Willard he was rather disappointed that he had to send it so far as Cleveland for repairs. There didn't seem to be any battery men around his neighborhood—this in spite of the fact that the local Willard Service Station, the Minneapolis branch and service station, have advertised themselves in page after page of newspaper space and the national advertising agencies the fact that Willard service is everywhere."

"These two are just typical of scores of such instances that come to our attention nearly every week. We would be discouraged if it were not for the fact that occasionally we run across a car owner who doesn't know what makes his machine run."

PASTOR OF CHURCH IN SPRINGFIELD IS SOON TO JOIN WAR FORCES

Rev. Chris Jensen Designated as One of Men Who Will Receive Instruction at Officers' Training Camp.

Rev. Chris Jensen, pastor of the First Christian church in Springfield, has been designated as one of the 131 men from Oregon to receive military instruction in the second officers' training camp at the Presidio, California. He was formerly an enlisted man in the United States navy and also had two years of service in the California National Guard.

"Some have told me that I am needed more at home; that the preacher's place is with his church instead of the army," Rev. Jensen stated today. "As one who knows, from past experience, I affirm there is no place on earth today where a gospel minister can do as much good, by actual contact and example, as among our boys who wear the khaki."

"With men of all trades and professions making such sacrifices why should the preacher decline? Having had seven years of service, I am proud to have been selected for the officers' training camp and shall work hard for a commission."

"At the close of the war, I expect to see world-wide democracy, universal peace and a united church. I hope to return and have part in this political and religious reconstruction."

Rev. Jensen is the second pastor of a Christian church in Oregon to leave a pastorate to serve with the war forces opposing Germany. Rev. Frank Purnell, of Woodburn, recently entered the Canadian army. He is now on his way to France.

Rev. Purnell came from New Zealand to study for the ministry in the Eugene Bible University four years ago.

Both Rev. Jensen and Rev. Purnell were ordained as ministers of the gospel one year ago. They would have been graduated from the Bible University next spring, had they continued their studies at the institution.

A number of other students for the Bible school have enlisted in various branches of the war service.

"The school has stood for loyalty to the nation in every way," President E. C. Sanderson of the Bible University stated today. "The response of our students to the call of their country reflects the spirit of the institution."

Rev. Jensen was elected pastor of the Springfield church, which has a membership of about 200, October 15, 1916. He is married and while studying theology has been a student at the University of Oregon. When military drill was inaugurated at that institution last fall, he acted as captain of one of the student companies. He recently organized the Home Guard at Springfield.

The Springfield church has granted Rev. Jensen a 90-day leave of absence, so that he may return and resume his pastorate in the event that he should not win a commission at the Presidio.

Rev. Jensen will preach his farewell sermon Sunday night. He will leave Thursday for the training camp.

UNIVERSITY GROWTH 25 PER CENT LAST YEAR, REPORT SHOWS

Enrollment of 2113 In All Departments Greatest in History of Institution. Good Attendance Expected This Fall.

The University of Oregon catalog for 1916-1917 and announcements for 1917-1918 show an increase in the last enrollment at the University of 25 per cent over the year previous.

The total number of students on the campus last year was 1543 as compared with 1243 for the previous year. The enrollment in the correspondence department for the year 1916-1917 was 570 as against 442 in 1915-1916. Last year the enrollment in the college of literature, science and the arts was increased to 1036 as compared with 877 for the previous year. The total enrollment in all departments last year was 2113, the greatest number in the history of the institution and more than 400 over the enrollment in 1915-1916.

"From all indications, the outlook for the enrollment this fall is very good," President P. L. Campbell stated today. "A great majority of the students plan to return and we have prospects for a very good showing of new students. The situation just now appears to be about normal, but economic conditions over the state this fall will likely prove a factor. Demands for labor may hold some of the boys at work."

New Courses Announced.

Courses in household arts and military training are announced for the first time this year. Miss Lillian Tingle, formerly of the Portland public schools, will have charge of the course in household economics, offered as a part of liberal education for women. Complete courses in military drill and instruction will be given throughout the year under the direction of either an officer of the regular army of the United States or of an officer of the Canadian or British army inviolable home from the trenches.

There are now eleven schools connected with the University: graduate school; college of literature, science and the arts; school of architecture and allied arts; school of commerce; school of education; school of journalism; school of law; school of medicine; school of music; school of correspondence study and the summer school.

Beginning with the college year opening October 1, and continuing at least for the period of the war, the University has adopted a program of three terms in place of two semesters. The fall term will close December 22; the second, or winter term, will begin January 2 and last until March 22; the third or spring term, will begin April 1 and last until June 17. This change was made in accordance with a suggestion by the National Association of State Universities, and is a "war measure" in that it will enable students to enter and leave college with greater ease than under the two semester system.

School Attendance Urged.

The announcements publication is supplemented by an appeal to the young men of the state, urging them to continue in college as the best way in which they may serve their country.

The address to the high school and college students of the state, in part follows:

"Thousands of undergraduates and high school boys who are under conscription age have already enlisted. Their example has aroused others who are undecided what is best to do."

"The whole idea of service to the country at this great crisis is magnificently commendable and the only question is how best to go about it."

"England and France at the beginning of the war permitted their boys from the schools and colleges to rush into the ranks. Thousands and thousands of their young men best trained to become officers were killed and they now realize the great mistake they made."

"Shall we not profit by the mistake of France and England and realize our future as well as our present obligations?"

"The United States will not only need officers but also educated men and women who will be able to carry on the great reorganization plans in industry and commerce that are sure to follow the close of the war.

"President Wilson, Secretary of War Baker and hundreds of others all agree that every young man eligible for admission to a University can serve his country best by making an effort to continue his education."

FINALS IN SINGLES ARE CALLED OFF

Paine and Tyson Unable to Play Challenge Match Between Auld and Martin Instead.

The finals in the singles of the tennis tournament have been called off. E. Paine, who was to meet W. P. Tyson to decide the championship, will be unable to be in town Sunday, while W. P. Tyson is unable to handle a racket because of strained muscles in his arm. Instead of these games, a challenge play will be put on Sunday morning, Eugene versus Springfield, or H. C. Auld versus E. E. Martin. Since Mr. Auld and Mr. Martin are very evenly matched this meet is expected to be almost as interesting as the singles would have been.

Sunday afternoon, the mixed doubles will come off. Mrs. David Graham, winner of the ladies' tournament, and P. R. Willoughby, runner-up for the men, will meet Miss Maude Lowman, runner-up for the ladies, and W. P. Tyson. Ormond R. Bean will act as umpire for all games.

Tennis enthusiasts who plan on coming out to the Country Club Sunday to watch the matches, are urged to bring their lunches and make the affair a sort of picnic.
