FAIR BOARD URGES LARGE ATTENDANCE

Executive Officials Anxious That Everyone Should Attend This Year.

The executive board of the Lane county fair has issued an appeal to the people of Lane county to attend the fair this year and also to help by making exhibits. Many eastern people are looking this year, as other years, to Oregon, and the friends of each eastern visitor, as well as the visitor, will judge of the country largely through the impression made by the exhibition of county products. If the people of a community do not have sufficient pride in their products to be willing to exhibit them they cannot expect the community to go ahead.

Even though handicapped by drought it should not be forgotten that Lane county raised this year hundreds of samples which will make an eastern stare in wonder. If each one will bring them in the fair will be a success.

The appeal sent out by the fair board is as follows: "This appeal is made by the executive board to the people of the county urging you to make this the best exhibition ever held in this community. The fair is YOURS. It is a splendid advertisement for the country and its educational value can not be measured by dollars. Interchange of ideas and mingling with your friends and neighbors and the making of new ones will cultivate a closer relationship in all that goes to make life better and home happier.

"The county and state have appropriated money for premiums to be paid all prize-winners in each and every department (this does not apply on speed program as that is paid from gate receipts). "The county is also doing a large part in building barns for cattle, sheep, hogs and poultry. Five large buildings have been erected for the express purpose of helping exhibitors in every way possible to care for their stock.

"This is a year when all crops have not been what you wished, so it is the more necessary for all those who have been fortunate in raising good stuff to see that it gets to the fair. This does not mean a member of the strange or one who is not a member, but means all and everyone, young and old, who has succeeded in raising or growing a good article for exhibition.

"We want your hearty co-operation and help in this worthy work. Not only your exhibits, but your presence at the fair is desired. If you want to help your family, make the winter shorter and know more of the county in which you live, come to the fair."

OLYMPIA RED CROSS GIVES BENEFIT BALL

Ambulance Corps Recipient of Aid From Washington Society; Drill Work Begins.

BY J HAROLD BETYIEN (Special Correspondence)

Camp Lewis, American Lake, Wash., Sept. 21, 1917.—The Red Cross Ambulance Corps No. 14 has settled down to a daily routine of hard work. The work is enjoyed by the boys as the lazy life of the first two weeks in camp was very monotonous.

The daily routine followed out by Top Sergeant Martin Neilson is:

- Forenoon.
- 6:00—First call.
  - 6:15—Reveille; at reveille every one makes ready to fall in at assembly.
  - 6:20—Assembly, roll call and announcements for the day.
  - 6:30—Calisthenics. For ten or fifteen minutes following, setting up exercises will be given after which company will be dismissed not later than 6:45.
  - 7:00—Mess.
  - 7:30—Sick call.
  - 7:45 to 8:00—School.
  - 8:35—Drill call.
  - 9:00—Assembly.
  - 11:25—Recall.
  - 11:30—Company dismissed.
  - 12:00—Mess.

Afternoon.

- 1:30 to 2:15—School.
- 2:30—Drill call.
- 2:35—Assembly.
- 3:55—Recall.
- 4:00—Company dismissed.
- 5:00—Mess.
- 9:00—Lights out.
- 9:45—Call to quarters.
- 10:00—Taps.

School was started the first of this week and consists of lectures by our officers on anatomy and physiology. Each member of the corps is required to take notes from the lectures which are made very interesting by the officers. The afternoon school is a study of first aid to the injured and bandaging.

If anyone of the home folks could have stepped in and looked at the boys' hands and fingers last night they would have found many a bandage on either one as yesterday afternoon Mess Sergeant Ward McKinney called for volunteers to help open six hundred oysters to be used for an oyster stew this noon.

A dance for the benefit of the Red Cross Ambulance Corps No. 14 mess fund will be given by the Olympia, Wash., Red Cross Society on September 29. The dance will be held at the Tum Water club house at Olympia. All of the members of the Fourteenth corps here received an invitation to attend the dance in a body. The boys are very enthusiastic about the dance and no doubt all the boys that enjoy dancing will be on deck.

Chambers and party of Eugene in Mr. Chambers' car waiting to see the soldier boys. After quite a visit with Captain John E. Kuykendall and the boys the party left for Seattle. Those in the company were: Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Chambers and their daughter Mary, Miss Evelyn Bristow and Professor A. C. Shelton of the U. of O.

Canadian Dealers Warned Not to Increase Price of Coal

(By The Associated Press)
Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 21.—The offices of the dominion fuel controller today repeats the warning to coal dealers throughout the country that objection will be taken to any advance in the price of coal without notification first being sent to the fuel controller. The fuel controller holds that the coal dealers had a liberal profit last summer, sufficient to enable them to continue the present prices into the winter and give the smaller consumers the old price, notwithstanding any increase that the mines make at this time.

THREADED-RUBBER KEEPS BATTERY LONG ON JOB
Discussing the new battery equipped with Threaded-Rubber Insulation, which was only recently announced by the Willard Storage Battery Company, after having been in use on 35,000 cars for over two years, says Mr. Blank, the Willard representative in this city, told an interesting story of the performance of one of these batteries in South America.

"We recently got word from the home office," says Mr. Blank, "that a Willard battery with a Threaded Rubber Insulation was sold in Georgetown, British Guiana where the extreme heat usually limits the life of wood separator batteries to a year or less. This battery went into service the first of October, 1915. About August 1st of this year, the dealer who sold the car wrote in to the Willard factory to say that after 22 months of hard service the Threaded Rubber Insulation battery was still on the job."

"During all this time it has been given only a few minutes attention a week—that is, filled with distilled water and specific gravity taken with the hydrometer. Climatic conditions made frequent filling with water necessary. "Merely as a matter of precaution, the owner had the battery taken off, washed out with clean water and refilled, and the battery went back into service, good apparently for another long period of active work."
