

$100,000 IN BONDS BOUGHT BY SOLDIERS AT COLUMBIA FORT

Coast Artillerymen Subscribe. Officers Shifted; Capt. Williams Commands First Company at Present.

BY HAROLD B. SAY.

Fort Stevens, Or., Oct. 22.—Officers and men of the Oregon coast artillery and regular units stationed here had subscribed nearly $101,000 to the liberty loan bond issue last night. The goal is $120,000. To date the sales have averaged more than $50 to a man.

Speculation as to whether or not companies of the Oregon coast artillery will be used to replace Third Oregon men has been uppermost in conversation of the men here. The Fourth company has taken over the guarding of the shipyards at Astoria.

Santa Clara still remembers the boys under the tents on the sand. When Neil and "Bob" Robertson returned from a four-day furlough last Monday they brought along enough cakes to feed the whole Second company. Peaches and apples were also sent by the same people.

The first bayonet practice with dummys was held yesterday morning. Six lines of "Scotch Broom" Germans swing from frames behind a trench and the men put as much spirit in sticking the dummys which "come back" viciously with their wooden arms as though they were Hindenburg's Huns.

Lieutenant Harry Keeny of the Third company, has been made fort police officer.

Lieutenant Lewis Beebe, former police officer, has been assigned to the Eleventh company.

Captain Williams, adjutant, has been assigned to the First company. His place at headquarters has been turned over to Elmer T. Foss, first lieutenant of the Seventh company.

The reason for changing officers around is to acquaint all with the various lines of duty in the corps.

Fatal Accident Happens on Hunting Trip; Gun Fired as Victim Rises.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 22.—The people of Wisconsin are mourning today over the tragic death yesterday of United States Senator Paul O. Husting, who was accidentally shot by his brother, Gustave, while duck hunting.

According to reports here, Senator Husting had sighted a flock of ducks and called his brother to shoot. He was in front, and, as his brother fired, he raised, receiving the full charge of shot in his back. He was rushed to a farmhouse nearby. Physicians hastily summoned found his condition such that it was inadvisable to move him to a hospital.

BROOD MARE ON FARM IS SOURCE OF PROFIT

Besides Doing Share of Work She Will Raise Many Colts.

A brood mare on the farm is a source of two profits. It is not uncommon to hear of some remarkable mare on a particular farm that, besides doing her share of the farm work, has raised many hundreds of dollars worth of colts. It is seldom that there is more than one such mare mentioned. To obtain the greatest returns, nearly all the work animals maintained on the farm should be mares of this character, says a new Farmers' Bulletin of the United States Department of Agriculture.

"Horses always are needed to do farm work," says the bulletin, "and generally they can be raised from farm mares more cheaply than they can be purchased, while the surplus, if of proper breeding and liberally fed on suitable balanced rations, will find ready sale at good prices because they will have the characteristics that suggest the ability to do work satisfactory and profitably."

Brood Mares Do Double Duty. It is pointed out that breeding working mares places double duty on them, consequently they must be robust individuals properly conformed, and must be given good care and treatment. With two sources of profit from one animal, farmers can well afford to pay more for such stock, feed it more heavily, and give it special attention. The small farmer is most likely to get the best results from such a plan because he usually works his own teams or is in a position to watch them closely and see that they are not ill treated.

The two outstanding requirements in profitable farm mares are that they be breeders and workers, says the bulletin. Any mare that is not at least of high grade should not be considered. The particular breed or grade would depend largely on local markets. In a locality where there is a local horse market it is generally advisable to breed the prevailing type, since by so doing, sales are more easily made and the services of high-class stallions are practically assured.

Send for Free Bulletin. The bulletin already mentioned, Farmers' Bulletin 803, entitled "Horse Breeding Suggestions for Farmers," contains practical information for the breeding and management of mares, also the care and feeding of foals. Special directions are also given for the feeding and management of young horses. This bulletin may be obtained free upon application to the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., as long as the department supply lasts.

Board of Regents

One who attended such a meeting was a loyal citizen and Mr. Eaton answered that he did.

There was a petition signed by 43 members of the faculty of the University presented asking that Mr. Eaton be retained.

Mr. Eaton testified in his own behalf, declaring that he "would be the last man in the world to place an obstacle in the way of the government in the prosecution of the war. I now ask you to weigh the evidence and give a decision from which there can be no appeal."

He read a statement which covered 16 pages of typewritten manuscript, in which he defended the peace council and the men who took part in it, stating that the newspapers had without exception misrepresented it, its attendants and objects. He declared that the letter to the Journal was merely a recital of facts but had been "twisted into furnishing an excuse for some who had waited long for a chance to attack me."

Mr. Eaton, in his statement presented to the board no arguments or evidence which had not been used in his articles in print or his letter to the chamber of commerce, but devoted some time to denunciation of The Guard.

Mr. Eaton told more in detail his movements at Chicago and his subsequent trip to Washington and New York and stated that great newspapers, such as the New Republic and The Nation, were in sympathy with him.

Mr. Eaton presented no evidence to support his contention that he was high in the confidence of the government and that he secured information of value to the government.

After accepting the resignation of Mr. Eaton the board of regents adopted the following resolution:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of the Board of Regents of the University of Oregon that in accepting the resignation of Allen Eaton we do not intend to accuse him of intending disloyalty to his government."

Nine of the 13 members of the board of regents attended the special meeting, which was delayed two hours pending the arrival of Judge J. W. Hamilton of Roseburg. Those in attendance besides Judge Hamilton were: A. C. Dixon, Charles H. Fisher, Mrs. George Gerlinger, L. L. Mult, C. C. Colt, W. K. Newell, Ben L. Olcott and Henry McKinney.

J. H. Churchill, W. H. Gore, Governor Withycombe and Judge R. S. Bean chairman of the board, were not present.

VETERANS WERE TOO MUCH FOR RECRUITS

Game at Pullman Is 26 to 3 in Favor of Washington State College.

The members of the University football team, together with the faculty members and coach returned from Pullman, Wash., Sunday afternoon. The team of recruits was able to make little headway against the veteran team from Washington State college. That team had six or seven letter men on the field, while not a one of Oregon's men were veteran players.

All of Washington State college's Bangs, a veteran of three years' experience, a veteran of three years' experience. The green crew which Coach Bezek pitted against the Dietz machine was wholly unable to solve their opponents' offense, nor could they penetrate the opposing line for gains.

For Oregon Bill Steers, at quarterback, starred. In the last period he booted the pigskin for a field goal from the 45-yard line, scoring Oregon's only points. Williams, at left tackle, also shone. Steers and Williams punted well for Oregon.

Scores in Nine Minutes. In the first nine minutes of play Washington State scored a touchdown. Dietz men rushed the ball 77 yards and Bangs carried the ball over the line for the first score. On the kickoff Bangs kicked short, losing for his team a try for goal.

Out of four forward passes, Washington State gained 30 yards, only two of which were completed. Oregon failed to make a first down in the first period. Oregon failed to make yardage in the second period, while Pullman made 85 yards in three first downs, but failed to score. Washington State failed on an attempted forward pass and made most of the yardage on backs and end runs.

Captain Williams, of Oregon, punted six times in the period after Oregon saw that no yardage could be made against its opponents.

The third period began with Steers of Oregon punting to Bangs, who ran back the punt 72 yards for a touchdown, and then kicked goal.

Steers Scores on Drop Kick. Steers later, following an attempt to buck through the line which resulted in his being thrown back for five yards, drop-kicked from the 45-yard line, giving Oregon three points. The score at the end of the third period was: Washington State college, 13; University of Oregon, 3.

Oregon failed to solve the State college defensive in the final period, while Washington State added 13 points to its score. Bangs made two more touchdowns and kicked one goal in this period.

TURKS KILL 700,000 GREEKS, IS REPORT

All Christian Nationalities Under Sultan Are Slaughtered remorselessly.

New York, October 17.—Not sated by the slaughter of hundreds of thousands of Armenians and Syrians, the Turk has also turned against the Greek Christians in his dominions and more than 700,000 have fallen a victim to persecution in the form of death, suffering or deportation, it was declared here today by Frank W. Jackson, of this city, chairman of the relief committee for Greeks of Asia Minor. He said the real details of these new Turkish atrocities were just beginning to leak out.

"The story of the Greek deportation is not yet generally known," said Mr. Jackson. "Quietly and gradually the same treatment is being meted out to the Greeks as to the Armenians. Although closely guarded, certain echoes of these horrors come out from time to time."

"There were some two or three million Greeks in Asia Minor at the outbreak of the war in 1914, subject to Turkish rule. According to the latest reliable and authoritative accounts some seven to eight hundred thousand have been deported, mainly from the coast regions into the interior of Asia Minor."

Greeks Are Law Abiding. "The Greeks of Asia Minor have always been law-abiding and perfectly loyal to the Turkish government. Under Abdul Hamid they were well treated, but his successors adopted a program to crush them."

"At the declaration of the present war all persecutions were stopped but the spring of 1915 brought to the stage a tragic, novel drama unique in the history of the world as to its horrors and destructiveness, that is the Armenian deportation; under that innocent name the extermination of a Christian race was started."

"Along with the Armenians most of the Greeks of the Marmara regions and Thrace have been deported on the pretext that they gave information to the enemy. Along the Aegean coast Aivalik stands out as the worst sufferer. According to one report some 70,000 Greeks there have been deported toward Koria and beyond. At least 7,000 have been slaughtered. The Greek Bishop of Aivalik committed suicide in despair."

The latest account from Trebizond shows the towns along the Black Sea are being emptied of their Greek population. From Lyndon S. Crawford, missionary of the American board at Trebizond we have a letter dated July 24, 1917, in which he says the following order came from Turkish army headquarters at Sheishieh: 'By 1225 July let no Greek man over 16 and under 50 be found in Ordu. Send all such on into the interior. As for the families, we will send further orders later.'

Hail Russia as Deliverer. "Mr. Crawford also wrote: 'First let us express once more our thankfulness to God for the deliverance He has sent us by the great, grand Russian army and people. We are more and more appreciating what the Russians have done for this region. Immediately after the Russian occupation of this province in April, 1916, hundreds of Armenians began to come out of their hiding places.'

"From the Greek minister to the United States, George Rousseas, I have a letter dated Sept. 21, 1917, in which he says:

"Backed by the Germans, the Turks have put into execution and even organized their wildness. They have decided to exterminate the Greek element which is the most important and most numerous in Asia Minor."

"Under pretext of necessities of war entire populations have been deported, members of families have been separated. The old, the men unfit for military service and the women, were sent into the interior of the country, abandoned without the slightest help and exposed to all sorts of deprivations. The men fit for military service were taken by force into the army despite the fact of having paid for exemption; some of the wealthiest have been even called on to pay this exemption fee three times over."

The relief committee for Greeks of Asia Minor, Mr. Jackson said, has been organized for non-political and purely humanitarian purposes and aims at securing means to aid these Greeks reduced by sudden persecutions to a state of want.

Government Control of Meat Bones Is Proposed

Washington, Oct. 22.—Plans for government control of all meat bones and fats now generally sold by butchers, hotels, restaurants and clubs to meat packers for use in making soups, oleomargarine and grease, probably will be presented to Food Administrator Hoover today by Louis Steinfield of New York, who is here to voluntarily assist the administration in the food conservation movement. A billion pounds of the material could be turned over to the government annually, he claims, for making soups and for use in American camps and canteens.
