WINNERS OF FIRST FLIGHT ANNOUNCED

Fourteen Golfers Are in Line for President's Cup. Handicap Tourney Next on Hand.

The winners of the first flight for the annual President's cup golf tourney have been announced. All but two of the matches planned were played off last Sunday and beginning at 8:30 o'clock next Sunday morning the second flight will be played. The winners of Sunday's very interesting matches on the Country club links are: R. S. Bryson over Con Dillon, Dr. E. W. Hope over Prof. C. A. Burden, H. A. Dunbar over R. S. Hamilton, F. X. Schafers over Harry Korn, Ralph Martin over Harry Hobbs, Bert Prescott over George Schafers, Paul Willoughby over Dr. S. M. Kerron, Geo. Seitz over Professor A. N. French, Frank Harritt over Jack Pratt, H. P. Hoey over Ormond Bean, Ed Bryson over Walt McCornack, Claude Rorer over Stanley Smith, E. O. Immel over A. F. Rapp and Luke Goodrich over Dr. J. L. Hesse.

In order to give the members of the club more opportunity to play in matches and to give the tournament committees an accurate basis from which to compute the handicap ratings for each player, the committee has announced a tournament to begin November 24.

The active members have been divided into groups of four players each. Two members of each group are supposed to be of approximately the same skill and will play each other without handicaps. Each member of a group is to play the other three members of his group match play. This will constitute the first flight of the tournament.

The second flight will be made up of the winners of the different groups and will be with handicaps as the scores in the first flight warrant. The second flight will be medal play.

Each player entering the first flight will be charged 25 cents entrance fee. The total entrance fee will be used to buy golf goods for the winner of final flight. The winner's prize will be bought with 6-12 of the total fee; the second prize with 4-12, and the third prize from 2-12 of the total fee.

Following are the groups as made up from cards handed in to the committee:

Team 1, Hobbs, E. S. Smith, F. X. Schaefers, George Seitz; team 2, Rorer, Martin, Tiffany, Hope; team 3, French Rapp, Young, Stanton; team 4, Kincaid, Gilstrap, Griffin, Travis; team 5, Snodgrass, Bristow, Coe, Skipworth; team 6, Hamilton, Dixon Bowen, Bean; team 7, R. BLACK SPOT CANKER IS SERIOUS DISEASE

Apple Trees Affected Should Be Sprayed in Fall Says Fruit Inspector.

The apple tree is subject to a number of diseases, but the most troublesome, outside of scab is a disease called black spot canker, or anthrocnose.

This is spoken of as a serious winter disease, but in reality it is not a winter disease, but is referred to by these terms from the fact that the fall and winter is the time for Lane county orchardists to be on the lookout for the disease.

Few know the disease. Perhaps it is difficult to get acquainted with and remember, on account of its long name, nevertheless it is a disease that every apple tree owner should be on the lookout for, and ever ready to combat.

One of the most common sights in an affected orchard, and a very serious result of the attacks of this disease, is the girdling and killing of the young shoots. The disease gives the appearance in the limbs of sun scald or of some injury, killing the bark and leaving a black scar or canker.

According to County Fruit Inspector, Stewart, the tree should be sprayed as soon as the fruit is off the trees with 6-6-50 Bordeaux, or lime-sulphur 1-8. It is also well to prune out all the seriously affected branches as early as possible in the fall.

VETERAN RETURNS FROM TRIP TO SOUTH

Charles Dickerson Is Able to Identify Rock Under Which He Lay Wounded.

Charles Dickerson, who returned Monday night from taking in the Peace Jubilee at Vicksburg, Miss., and revisiting the battlefield on Lookout Mountain, where he was wounded November 24, 1864, says he found the rock under shelter of which he lay after he was wounded 53 years ago.

Mr. Dickerson, who served in the Civil war in Company H, 31st Iowa infantry, had a brother in the same company and an older brother, who had previously gone south, served in the confederate army.

The peace jubilee was attended by members of both the Union and Confederate armies and was one of the happiest gatherings he ever attended, reports Mr. Dickerson. The inhabitants of Vicksburg could not do enough to show their regard for their erstwhile enemies.

Mr. Dickerson also visited the battle fields of Lookout Mountain and Missionary Ridge. In the former he was one of those who fought "the battle above the clouds," and was wounded and the latter battle he says is the only battle he ever saw. He was in all others which he was near, he says, and so could see nothing except what transpired in his immediate vicinity. Having been wounded a few days before, but not being able to stand, he says he saw the scaling of Missionary Ridge from start to finish.

MACHINE-GUN PROVES VALUABLE IN BATTLE

Germans Are Not Able to Get Gun as Effective as Have the Allies.

French front, Oct. 7.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—German appreciation of the value of the machine gun in modern battles was apparent at the very beginning of hostilities in 1914, and the most recent developments in their infantry formations give testimony of ever-extending reliance on this weapon for the defense of the front line.

Each German infantry regiment will be provided with no fewer than twenty-four of these weapons, whose manipulators are formed into a separate company, and besides these, each company is to be furnished with six light rapid-fire guns, altogether making a formidable equipment. This is an enormous increase over the number provided at the beginning of the war, when each regiment of infantry of the active army and its reserve possessed only six of these guns.

Besides the regimental machine guns, special companies have been formed with the title of "Maschinengewehrscharfschuetzungabteilungen." These operate separately from the battalions of infantry in attacks. They are composed of groups of six machine guns each, and three of these groups as a rule work together. There are altogether over two hundred of these groups and their number is rapidly increasing. They came first into action during the battle of the Somme and they were engaged also in the battles around Verdun.

All the efforts of the Germans to find an effective portable machine gun or automatic rifle such as that possessed by the French and British troops appear to have been unsuccessful, and although such weapons have been brought into action on several occasions they have quickly disappeared.

COMMISSIONERS TO BUY MORE WAGONS

Addition May Be Made to Equipment of Trailers for Use With Caterpillers.

The Lane county commissioners, who recently purchased the large dump wagons used as trailers in hauling rock with the caterpillar tractor are contemplating the purchase of several more of the same or a similar pattern of wagons. They have proved much more economical as a method of transporting crushed rock than either teams or motor trucks, the cost on the Hayden Bridge road having been about 25 cents per cubic yard as against 65 cents asked for hauling in trucks.

MANY EXPECTED FOR BOYS' CONFERENCE

Every Pastor in Eugene Has Asked People to Asssit in Entertaining Delegates.

At the Eugene churches Sunday every pastor called upon his congregation to assist in entertaining the boys who will be here to attend the Older Boys' conference, which will convene in Eugene November 30, and close December 2.

All the local committees are at work preparing for the meeting and many prominent Y. M. C. A. workers will be here to address the boys.

The local association is especially anxious that Eugene should make good in the matter of entertainment of delegates and in every other way in connection with the conference.

"Oregon boys are in the army and navy. Oregon boys are in high schools. It has been no small task to give full attention to each group. This state knows well what is being done by the Y. M. C. A. for its soldier boys 'wherever they are,' but it perhaps does not realize the things that are being planned by the Y. M. C. A. for 'the boys at home,' who are more or less patiently waiting and preparing to do their bit," said Secretary J. D. Custer.

"The Older Boys' conference to be held at Eugene just following Thanksgiving is one of three such conferences under the direction of the Interstate Y. M. C. A. committee, which are to be held before the middle of December. The other two are scheduled for La Grande, Oregon, and Twin Falls, Idaho.

"The conference last year at Corvallis registered over three hundred. Leaders feel that with the important issues to come up this year, and the splendid co-operation being given by other state organizations the registration at Eugene will not fall below four hundred and may go to five hundred. Leaders from southern Oregon and some central Oregon counties are expected to play a large part in swelling the enrollment this year.

Why Not Have Tractors by Community Ownership?

On the average farm there usually is work for the tractor only a few weeks out of the year. That has been one of the objections to power farming. It is true that the tractor does not "eat" while it is idle, and has this advantage over the horse. But the tractor, like all unused machinery, depreciates in value, and the interest charge goes on. Community ownership has been suggested as an ideal method of bringing more power to the farms, but for some reason farmers do not take readily to the plan. Perhaps the suggestion for tractor garages which comes from California may prove more profitable. Mr. Adolph Mack, of the Committee on Tractors, after an inquiry made on behalf of the State Council of Defense thinks the number of effective hours per year per tractor might be increased by the garage system. A number of machines might be kept in each community, so that the farmer who might need a tractor for only a few days could hire his work done. Tractor plowing or reaping could be done much as thrashing is done in most neighborhoods. A skilled man—would you call him chauffeur or engineer?—would be plowed, but also in that the plowing in charge of each machine, and "this would result not only in more land being would be more efficiently done."—Farm Life.

All Choked Up With Catarrh? Why Continue Makeshift Treatment?

Sprays and douches will never cure you.

Catarrh is annoying enough when it chokes up your nostrils and air passages, causing painful and difficult breathing and other discomforts. But the real danger comes when it reaches down into your lungs.

This is why you should at once realize the importance of the proper treatment, and lose no time experimenting with worthless remedies which touch only the surface. To be rid of Catarrh, you must drive the disease germs out of your blood.

Splendid results have been reported from the use of S. S. S., which completely routs from your blood the Catarrh germs, for which it is a perfect antidote.
