

SHERIFF'S DEPUTIES AND MILITIA ONLY RECOGNIZED BODIES

Adjutant General Announces
That no Other Bodies of Home Defense Guards Have Legal Standing With State.

A circular from John M. Williams, acting adjutant-general of Oregon has been received in Eugene setting forth the methods of organizing the state for home defense. Only two classes of bodies are recognized, companies of deputy sheriffs and state militia. The circular follows:

"Headquarters, Military Department, State of Oregon, Portland, Oregon.
"The following is published for the information of all concerned:

"In the formation of organizations for the defense of the State of Oregon, during the present war, two plans have been adopted and organizations have been formed thereunder.

"At the commencement of hostilities it became necessary on account of the enemy's activity in this country to organize for the defense of our home institutions and industries.

"1. As the sheriffs are the recognized civil guardians of the peace of the state and the most readily available, the plan was adopted of organizing companies in each county under the sheriff. The men were sworn in as deputy sheriffs and organized into companies with regular military formation for drill and training. These companies have in all cases been recognized by the counties and in many cases uniforms purchased for them by the county. Arms, so far as available, have been issued to the sheriffs by the state under bond given by the county court for their use.
"2. In some instances sheriffs refused or neglected to organize for home defense, and it was then determined by the commander-in-chief to exercise the extraordinary power given him under the constitution and statutes to call into the service of the state a sufficient number of companies from the unorganized militia to insure protection to every part of the state. The method of organizing these companies is fully set forth in Circular No. 3.
"3. No other organizations are recognized by the state or will receive any support from the state.
"As the two classes of organizations above outlined have been organized under direction from the office of the Adjutant General they are equally recognized as part of the Home Defenses and will equally receive all the support that the state can give them. It is therefore urgent that wherever these separate organizations are thrown together there should be the closest co-operation and most complete harmony between them consistent with the military character of the militia companies.
"During these days of tremendous war all should co-operate for the purpose of the most complete efficiency to win the war. It is the 'Advocate of Fraternity' that we should fight and not each other. Let us all get together and do our best to win the war insofar as the citizens of this state can assist in doing so.
"By direction of the Commander-in-Chief
"JOHN M. WILLIAMS,
"Acting Adjutant General.
"Official: CECIL A. JAMES,
"Captain Q. M. Corps, Assistant to the Adjutant-General.
"Sheriff D. A. Elkins some months ago organized a company of deputy sheriffs in Eugene which was armed and has since organized several other companies in various parts of the county, so that it is well protected. In addition there have been four companies of militia mustered in in Eugene, giving Lane county about half the available bodies for home protection, in the state of Oregon, including Portland.

ROSEBURG, OREGON.—"I feared something terrible had happened so bad that I could scarcely stand on my feet. I had a severe headache and I was weak and nervous. My head and feet ached—would be so—and I was troubled with constipation. I had a severe pain in my side. I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and Pleasant Pellets and they made me well and strong. Then, during middle life I again took these medicines and got through so well—I was strong and well."

SCHOOL CONFERENCE IS SET FOR CAMPUS

Educators Will Assemble First Week of Summer School and Discuss Live Questions.

How the schools may respond more quickly and effectively to the new demands made of them in the present war crisis, is the general topic of educational conference to be held in connection with the University of Oregon summer session, during its first week. Other problems of the schools also will be discussed by authorities from the University and from all parts of the state. All educational workers of the state, and others interested in these questions, are invited by the summer school authorities to attend and take part in the conferences.

The sessions will begin Wednesday afternoon and run through Friday afternoon. Among the University faculty members to participate will be Dr. B. W. DeBusk, professor of secondary education; Dr. Joseph Schafer, dean of the summer school and professor of history; Guy E. Dyar, acting director of the extension division, and Lieutenant Colonel John Leader, head of the department of military science.

Among others who will participate in the program are Dr. R. G. Hall, Portland; Dr. J. M. Miller, Eugene; Superintendent C. W. Boettcher, Albany; Superintendent J. O. McLaughlin, Hood River; Superintendent J. C. Almack, Coquille; Superintendent George A. Briscoe, Ashland; Superintendent J. W. Todd, Salem; Superintendent W. T. Rutherford, Principal C. A. Howard, of the Eugene high school, is among the other school administrators who will be on the program.

The subjects of the various conferences are as follows: "Educational Hygiene," Wednesday afternoon, June 26; "Exceptional Children," Wednesday evening; "Secondary Education," Thursday afternoon; School Administration, Thursday evening; "Schools and Military Efficiency," Friday afternoon.

Seven Indicted for Plot to Deceive President

San Francisco, Cal., June 12.—Four men and three women were under indictment here today charged with conspiring to deceive President Wilson and his cabinet in connection with the Hindu revolt plot which led to the conviction in April of 29 Hindus, Germans and Americans. Among those indicted late yesterday, are Wm. A. Wotherpoon, San Francisco attorney, and Mrs. Wotherpoon. The others are Sallendra Nath Ghosh and Agnes Smudger, arrested in New York during the progress of the Hindu plot trials; Taraknath Das, now serving 22 months in federal prison on the plot charge; Pulin Behari Bhow, alleged to have been the leader of the Hindu-German plots in the middle west, and Huma Zalsnek, reputed Bolshevik leader here.

The seven are alleged to have started a campaign to raise $100,000,000 in the United States for the India nationalist party and to have falsified fraudulent passports on the state department, the Brazilian ambassador and the Swedish, Danish and Dutch ministers in Washington.

Preservers Urged to Obtain Full Season Sugar Supply

The food administration issues the following:
The food administration is urging all manufacturers of jams and preserves to take immediate steps to obtain their entire sugar requirements for the 1918 pack. Federal food administrators in all states are also being instructed to see that manufacturers of essential food products requiring sugar take the first opportunity of building up their supplies.
The food administration takes the position that preserves and jams are essential foodstuffs, and that canners perform a valuable conservation function. In the event that it is necessary to reduce still further the shipping tonnage that now brings sugar to the United States, the food administration is endeavoring to guard against any possible loss of the fruits that could be saved by canning.

Telegraphers' Head to Meet With Federation Leaders

Chicago, June 12.—Following an endorsement by the Order of Railway Telegraphers on the attitude of the Commercial Telegraphers' union in its controversy with the commercial telegraph companies, President S. J. Konenkamp, of the telegraphers' union, will leave Chicago today for St. Paul, to confer with officials of the American Federation of Labor.

The railroad telegraphers formally agreed that they will refuse to handle commercial company telegrams. There is no likelihood of a walkout by the railroad men in the event of a telegraphers' strike, because they are now government employees.

The national war labor board was scheduled to meet today in Chicago. It is regarded possible that the board might consider further the telegraph situation.

SUES ON ACCOUNT

Frederick H. Wheeler, through L. M. Travis, his attorney, commenced suit in the circuit court Tuesday to recover $398.04 alleged to be due for goods sold to the Comet Electric company by the Marshall-Wells Hardware company. The account had been assigned to Wheeler for collection.

New War Orders Will go to Middle West and South

Washington, June 12.—Loaded to the limit, the east United States has been staked off as a barred zone for further expansion of war industry. New war orders will go to the middle west and the south until the congestion is relieved in the east.

The barred industrial zone, as recently outlined by the United Press, was announced officially today to include New England, eastern and southern New York, Pennsylvania as far west as Altoona and Williamsport; New Jersey, Delaware and eastern Maryland, except Baltimore.

Since the beginning of the war the consumption of German man power has never been so great as it has been in the last few months. Recent terrific losses have already precipitated a crisis in German effectiveness. They are filling up their depleted ranks from auxiliary troops which heretofore had been exempted on account of age or wounds.

Gompers May Make Visit to Great Britain and France

St. Paul, Minn., June 12.—President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor is seriously considering a trip abroad to fight forces threatening a division of labor bodies in the allied countries. His decision may be known while the annual meeting of the federation is in session here. The American labor mission, recently returned from England, suggested Gompers as one of two men to remain in Europe for the remainder of the war, welding laborers together in a "win the war" spirit.

German atrocities in Belgium were made vivid to delegates to the federation convention today by Prof. A. G. Van Hecke of the Belgian labor mission. "Belgium will never submit to German domination," asserted Van Hecke, amid cheers.

Rights of U. S. Soldiers Not Citizens, are Defined

The committee on public information issues the following:
In response to inquiries the war department authorizes the statement that there is no discrimination of any kind between soldiers who are not citizens of the United States and the native born or naturalized citizens in the American army, excepting that the former cannot hold commissions. In all other respects—care, attention, privileges, etc.—they are all on the same footing.

offensive to date, according to scientific military calculations, total at least 666,000.

Having engaged 260 divisions in the original Picardy-Flanders offensive, 53 divisions in the Meuse-Argonne and 24 in the St. Mihiel drive.

War between Monmouth and Noyon, the Germans have thus employed a total of 333 divisions (3,996,000 men) since March 21. Military experts estimate the average enemy loss at least 2000 men to a division.

With a maximum of 210 divisions (2,520,000 men) on the west front, the above total means that a great number of divisions have been engaged two or three times, while the Germans still possess more than 30 fresh divisions (360,000 men) which have not yet been used. Under the present organization of the German army in the west, the cream of the army, both officers and men, is concentrated in von Hutler's "shock army." This army is counted upon to deliver initial blows with irresistible force, permitting less able troops to pass through the breach thus created.

The "shock army" consisted originally of 25 divisions (300,000 men). It opened the drive against Amiens and Chateau-Thierry with heavy losses. It has encountered even more terrific losses in the present drive, five divisions (60,000 men) being replaced on the first day alone.

Since the beginning of the war the consumption of German man power has never been so great as it has been in the last few months. Recent terrific losses have already precipitated a crisis in German effectiveness. They are filling up their depleted ranks from auxiliary troops which heretofore had been exempted on account of age or wounds.

Officers Training Camps to be Open to Civilians

Washington, June 11.—The army's need for officers has become so great that the next series of training camps again will be opened to civilian candidates. The fifth training camps will be located at the permanent replacement camps instead of with the divisions.

The artillery especially is short of officers. The plan that has been practically decided upon is to admit 1100 civilian candidates and 1200 from the ranks to the artillery officers' training camp each month. Only men from civil life who are above draft age will be accepted as candidates. Those with technical education are being sought.

mans who had penetrated south of Amiens and Loge farm.

On the right the boches gained a foothold in Bethancourt and Machemont, two and four miles southwest of Rosecourt, respectively, necessitating withdrawal from the latter village. They also crossed the Oise at this point, apparently compelling the French to evacuate the salient, which extended about seven miles northward to the vicinity of Sempiigny, two miles south of Noyon.

This would indicate that the French have given up practically all of Ourscamp wood and that the new front and the Marne front are linked up near Carlepont, seven miles directly east of Robecourt. The French counter-attack won them more than 1000 prisoners and several cannon. The Germans claimed 10,000 additional prisoners, raising their alleged total since May 27 to about 75,000.
