WHY WORRY? SAYS FRENCH PHILOSOPHY

Frank Blewett Sends Father Bit of Philosophy Which is Current in France.

From Fort Meyer, Va., William Steudler, senior member of the club, now in the 37th Engineers, sends us the following adaptation of an earlier French "why worry" philosophy, which he received in a letter from an Oregon man somewhere in France:
"You have two alternatives—either you are drafted, or you are not. If not, you have nothing to worry about. If you are drafted, you have two alternatives—you are in camp or you are at the front. If you are in camp you have nothing to worry about. If you are at the front, you have two alternatives—either you are held in reserve, or you are sent to the firing line.
"If you are in reserve, you have nothing to worry about. If you are sent to the firing line, you have two alternatives—either you fight or you don't. If you don't, you have nothing to worry about. If you do fight, you have two alternatives—either you get hurt or you don't. If you don't, you have nothing to worry about. If you get hurt, you have two alternatives—either you are slightly hurt or badly hurt. If slightly hurt, you have nothing to worry about.
"But if you are badly hurt, you still have two alternatives—whether you recover or you don't. If you don't recover, then you are dead and can't worry. So what's the use of worrying?"

Step Lively! Corns Quit With "Gets-It"

What's my step? What's the use! I go along "right side up without care," even with corns, because I use "Gets-It," the painless, off-like-a-banana-peel corn remover. I tried other ways galore, until I was blue in the face and red in the toes. No more for me. Use "Gets-It." It never fails. Touch any corn or callus with two drops of "Gets-It," and "Gets-It" does the rest. It's a relief to be able to stop cutting corns, making them bleed, wrapping them up like packages and using sticky tape and salves. It removes any corn clear and clean, leaving the toe as smooth as your palm. You can wear those new shoes without pain, dance and be frisky on your feet. It's great to use "Gets-It."
"Gets-It," the guaranteed, money-back corn-remover, the only sure way, costs but a trifle at any drug store. MFD by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.
Sold in Eugene and recommended by A. Knyskandal and Linn Drug Co. A. Knyskandal Linn Drug Co.
