

118 MEN FROM LANE TO BE DRAFTED FOR SERVICE ON JULY 22

Class No. 1 Will be Nearly Exhausted When Quota is Supplied on That Date, Draft Officials State.

Lane county has received another call for men under the draft. The local draft board was notified Saturday afternoon that 118 men most report for service July 22. This is the largest draft yet received, and represents a part of a total of 2500 men who will go into the service from the state on that date.

When the quota for July 22 is supplied, class one in Lane county will be nearly exhausted. The number drafted on that date will total 445 men and, with close to 1000 volunteers in various branches of the service, the county will have close to 1400 men bearing arms.

Draft officials of the state were astonished Saturday when the call for 2500 men, the largest yet made, came from Washington. The astonishment was due, not only to the size, but also to the fact that a call for 1350 men had been received Friday, thus making an aggregate of 2850 Oregon boys summoned to military duty within 24 hours.

Saturday's call asks only for white men, for general military service. They are to be sent to Camp Lewis, American Lake, Wash., within the five-day period starting July 22.

Allocations announced yesterday for the 45 boards of the state are as follows:

AUSTRIANS ARE ROUTED AND FLEEING

attempted rear guard actions. Great numbers of the enemy have been wiped out, and announcement of huge hauls of prisoners is expected hourly.

All the Italian guns lost on this front last week are reported to have been recaptured. Nine Austrian divisions (108,000 men) have been completely annihilated. Fifteen others have been worn out in the San Dona Pieve region, where entire regiments have been destroyed.

The total Austrian losses in the drive are now estimated at more than 200,000.

The Italian losses in killed, wounded and captured are only 40,000, according to a semi-official statement.

The reports indicate that General Diaz seized the psychological moment for renewed and vigorous counter attacks at the whole river line when the Austrians had only two bridges of any size. The others had been swept away by the flooded waters, leaving the enemy detachments on the west bank short of food and munitions and without means of obtaining reinforcements.

The retreat will leave the Austrians in a worse position, both militarily and politically, than before they started their drive a week ago yesterday. If they yield all the ground they captured, they will have to face their enormous losses in manpower without any concrete objective having been obtained. This not only will have a serious effect on the army's morale, but will add to the already serious depression at home.

There is considerable speculation as to the effect the retreat on the Piave will have on the impending renewal of the Austrian drive southward from the mountain region. It has been known for several days that the enemy had massed strong forces in the mountains preparatory to another effort to reach the Venetian plains. Whether the Piave defeat will hasten this drive as a diversion or will cause its indefinite postponement is problematical.

British troops, in a surprise attack south of Asiago, penetrated the Austrian lines, killing more than 100 and bringing back 31 prisoners.

Ten enemy machines were brought down, bringing their total of aerial losses during the drive to 95 airplanes and 9 observation balloons. The allies have lost 11 planes.

"A German assault was repulsed in the Antheil region (six miles northwest of Complesse)," the communique said.

"Between the Marne and Rheims, the Germans again attacked Italian positions on Bligny mountains. After sharp fighting, the Germans were repulsed with heavy losses, losing prisoners."

"There was active artillery fire in the Woerthe region and the Vosges."

Numerous squads of our bombers have crossed the river, where our artillery and aircraft are hammering the enemy. Considerable bodies of our troops have reached the old Piave lines in large sectors and are harassing the retreating army.

Paris, June 24.—Italian troops holding positions on Bligny mountains, eight miles southwest of Rheims, repulsed another German attack after sharp fighting, inflicting heavy losses on the enemy and taking prisoners, the French war office announced today.

Washington, June 24.—Counter-attacking in the face of German reserves, the Italians have broken through the Austrian line at Cella-Bella and are threatening the retreat of the enemy after crossing the Piave, official Rome cables announced today.

Forty-five thousand prisoners and vast war booty, including an enormous number of guns, have been captured by the Italians.

American airmen are operating with Italians in the drive, and the cables today highly commend the Americans for their bravery in "their initial action."

Artillery action has destroyed all but one bridge thrown across the Piave during the Austrian drive. It was stated, and the withdrawal of the enemy is being effected only with tremendous losses. Several Austrian divisions have been practically wiped out.

Entire battalions attempting to ford the swollen streams have been swept away, the cables stated, and the muddy waters are choked with Austrian dead. The attack on the Austrian forces remaining on the Montello, begun yesterday and completed today, was carried out by three Italian columns. Picked Austrian troops, ordered to hold the line from Maserada to Sarnonza to protect the Austrian retreat, have been completely defeated after a desperate stand, and are being pursued by Italians on the left bank of the Piave.

The cables added that the attempts of the Austrian command to prepare the people for the official announcement of the Italian victory are being continued.

The official Vienna announcement referred to the reverses and declared them due entirely to adverse weather conditions that prevented the use of the Austrian artillery reserve.

London, June 24.—The Austrian war office through its official statement yesterday began to prepare the Austrian people for announcement of the retreat from the Piave.

"The heavy rains, which have placed broad stretches of the Venetian plains, have multiplied the burdens and privations of our troops," the statement said.

"The Piave has become a rushing stream and its volumes of water have many times made it impossible for several hours to communicate between the two banks. It is only possible with the greatest difficulty to provide the fighting men with the most necessary supplies of munitions and provisions."

The British employed tanks in night raids for the first time, when several of them participated in a local affair near Boquoy on Saturday night. They inflicted great damage on the enemy and returned safely. Nothing of special interest was reported from the British front last night. The French war office reported Saturday night and Sunday "calm" on the whole front.

Berlin reported the repulse of allied raids on the Somme and Oise fronts and the capture of Italian prisoners in a local operation southwest of Rheims.

16 Belgians Sentenced to Death as Spies by Germans

Amsterdam, June 24.—Forty-four Belgians were tried by court martial at Ghent on charges of transmitting to the allies certain papers concerning the German army and the effects of air raids on the Bruges canal, the Echo De Belge declared today.

Sixteen were sentenced to death, five were acquitted and the remainder were sentenced to prison terms of from two to twenty years.

NOT HUN AT HEART

London, June 24.—Frederick Brandauer, German millionaire, preferred death by suicide to being repatriated to the Fatherland. Though confined in a British internment camp on the Isle of Man, Brandauer found life enjoyable. He took poison when informed that he had been chosen to be one of the next repatriation party.

Brandauer had lived 30 years in England, and his naturalization was invalidated only by a technicality. His sister is the wife of a German general fighting the allies on the western front.

OLDEST REGIMENT TO BE CENTRAL FIGURE

Tacoma, Wash., June 24.—(Special)—Officers and men of the oldest regiment in the United States army will be the central figures in the Western States Military tournament to be held at a huge spectacle in the Tacoma stadium on the night of July 4. The 1st infantry, dated back to 1872, will participate in the military maneuvers and show the people of the west how the war game is really played. The 1st infantry arrived but a few days ago from Honolulu, where it has been stationed since 1911, to take up its work at Camp Lewis, Tacoma.

Not a unit of the army has such an interesting history as the 1st infantry. It has gone along and fought in every war since its inception and has maintained its identity but for the exception of five years, from 1784 to 1790, when it was one of the sub-legions of the American army. For 130 years it has upheld the military standing of the United States. Men of today point back at times it was commanded by such men as Zachary Taylor and William Henry Harrison, who afterward became president.

Thoroughly trained and imbued with the spirit of the army it will show the young national army men of Camp Lewis how seasoned soldiers work. It will give a glimpse to people on the Pacific slope in the west, just the training men receive in the United States army. Infantry, artillery and cavalry maneuvers will be held. Some of the best riders of the entire west now at the Remount station, Camp Lewis, will give their thrills to the military tournament.

MRS. CHAS. PEDEN GAINS 27 POUNDS

Was Twice Examined and Each Time Told Operation Would Be Her Only Hope.

"I have just finished my third bottle of Tanlac and have gained 27 pounds," was the truly remarkable statement made by Mrs. Charles Peden, residing at 550 Mill street, Huntville, Alabama. Mrs. Peden is one of the best known and most highly respected women of that thriving little city where she has made her home for a number of years.

"When I commenced taking the medicine," she continued, "I only weighed ninety-eight (98) pounds; now I weigh 125 pounds and never felt better in my life. For years I have suffered with a bad form of stomach trouble, constipation and pains in my side and back. At times the pains took the form of torture and I was twice examined and each time told that an operation would be my only hope. I had fallen off until I only weighed 98 pounds and was so weak I could hardly get around."

"I had no appetite scarcely at all, and what little I did eat would cause gas to form in my stomach, which gave me palpitation of the heart, sick headaches and a dizzy feeling about the head. When those spells came on me, I would get awfully nervous. I worried about myself until I could rest and sleep but little."

"I had fallen off until I was almost 'skin and bones' and my strength and energy were slowly leaving me. I had a dread of the future and could see nothing but the operating table and the knife. I had a perfect horror of an operation, but had made up my mind that it was either life or death and prepared to submit to it. I had made all preparations for the operation and called on my sister to tell her goodbye, as I did not know whether I would live to see her again or not. My sister begged and pleaded with me not to allow them to cut on me and told me to wait and try a good tonic for a while. The next day as I returned from the consultation room I thought of what she said, and as I had heard so much about Tanlac, I decided to try it as a last resort, and stopped at the drug store and got a bottle. Of course, I had lost heart and had no faith in medicine, but to please my sister, I made up my mind to take it, and oh, what a happy day that was for me!"

"I never returned for the operation, but just kept taking Tanlac and my improvement has been so rapid that none of my clothes fit me. Night from the start I began to improve. The medicine seemed to take hold right at once. It had a soothing effect, and in a few days I felt no pain at all. I was so happy over my wonderful improvement that I sent for my neighbors to tell them how much better I felt. I sent and got another bottle of Tanlac and have just finished my third and feel like I have been made all over again into a new woman."

"As I have said before, I now weigh 125 pounds and none of my clothes are big enough for me, and I will have to make them over again. I now have a ravenous appetite and my husband says I am simply eating him out of house and home. I have even gone back to my coffee which I was told not to touch. Those horrible pains in my back and head have all disappeared and I sleep like a child. I am no longer nervous, and when I get up in the mornings I feel refreshed, cheerful and bright. I am now able to attend to my housework again and I feel as if I had started life all over. My husband is highly delighted and my recovery is the talk of the neighborhood. I do nothing but rejoice all day long over the recovery of my health and praise Tanlac to everybody."

"I feel so grateful for my escape from the operating table and the knife that you may publish what I have said; you may, if you wish, tell other women suffering as I was to come and see me and I will be glad to tell them about my case."

Tanlac is now sold in Eugene by Linn Drug company, and in Springfield by John Ketele.—Adv.

GERMANY RUSHES TO AID OF AUSTRIANS

By CARL D. BROAT
United Press Staff Correspondent
Washington, June 24.—Fearing a demoralizing rout of her ally, Germany is rushing reinforcements to Italy, army men were informed today.

With the Austrians in disorganized retreat across the flooded Piave and harassed by the Italians, French and British, such aid is the only thing that will prevent an Austrian disaster, with consequent disruption at home, military men say.

They pointed out that the allies might gain a turning-point victory now by taking the offensive. Whether they could prepare for such action before reinforcements make themselves felt is uncertain.

All the Austrian riot, strike and starvation reports are "taken with a grain of salt." While many officials believe in strong western front offensive measures now, some diplomats urged a strike in the Balkans. However, the military view is that the western line—and that includes Italy—will be the decisive battle ground. Experts say no diversion should be permitted, not even to send American troops to Russia.
