Clara K. Young

Strikes a melodious cord, this time in—

“The Marionettes”

The story is of the transformation of the simple country girl into a Parisian Butterfly. It has been adapted from Pierre Wolff's famous novel.

Clara Kimball Young featured in the Select Star Series release “The Marionettes,” to be shown here at the Oregon theater today, stepped into the laundry of her home recently to interview the new “wash lady,” previous to that artist of the wash tub taking up her weekly duties in the C. K. Y. household.

Miss Young was somewhat startled, as she felt sure she had met Bridget before somewhere—somehow—at least her face was strangely familiar.

“Haven't I seen you before somewhere, Bridget?” queried Miss Young hesitatingly.

“No mum,” blandly answered that individual, “we have never met before, mum, but you have seen my pictures, mum. I am a movie actress myself, mum, same as you, mum. I want to get a job as actress in your company, mum, and I am willin' to start with you as your wash-lady, mum.”

Miss Young was rather taken aback until it dawned upon her that the previous day's mail had brought her a picture of a buxom Irish woman in full evening gown, full length gloves, shoes with spats and a large picture hat posed on the top of a large round head. On the picture was written “Bridget Ann McGillicuddy, Actress.”

The “wash-lady” was none other. Needless to say, Bridget Ann McGillicuddy had the entire center of the stage of that laundry for the rest of her stay in Miss Young's household.

It is not often that a motion picture producer can call to his aid the services of a queen and women of the most exclusive nobility of England. But David Wark Griffith, producer of the famous “Birth of a Nation,” “Intolerance” and “Hearts of the World,” has succeeded in accomplishing this in “The Great Love,” his first photoplay for Arterraft, which will be shown at the Eugene theater next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

In this photoplay, Queen Alexandra and many titled ladies are seen engaged at their various duties in hospitals and on their estates—some scrubbing, some mopping floors, others engaged in attending convalescent soldiers while others do menial work, but which they do not deem degrading, because it is necessary for them to do their bit in order that the cause of world democracy may triumph.

This is a remarkable photoplay and the manager is preparing to handle record-breaking crowds at the premier of “The Great Love” at his playhouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Stephens, of Marcola, spent Saturday in town on business.

Mrs. S. H. Danford, who has been quite ill, threatened with appendicitis, is reported as getting along nicely.

Peace.

The United States did not enter into this war unadvisedly, hastily, under stress of heat or passion. We took the step calmly, soberly, reluctantly, with a full sense of the awful responsibilities involved, the sacrifices demanded, the magnitude of the task.

President Wilson did not advise in his war message, nor did congress act in declaring a state of war between the United States and Germany without giving the most solemn consideration to what the action meant. They knew it meant the death of thousands of brave Americans; they knew it meant suffering and wounds and the disabling for life of hundreds of thousands of our young men. They counted to the full the human cost and the material cost.

Every development since has justified and proved the wisdom and the imperative necessity of America's participation. Every German success and every German failure have shown how necessary to our own welfare and peace, how necessary to the safety and peace of the world the defeat of Germany is. Every foot of ground Germany has been forced to give up, every foot of land she has seized, have demonstrated the imperative necessity of defeating that sinister, intolerable thing called Germanism.

Germanism is 3,000 miles away. It must never come any nearer. Let this war result in anything but the defeat of Germany, let her emerge with her power unbroken and her kultur still dominant, and it is but a question of time until we alone will be fighting Germany instead of warring against her with our allies on our side.

Lincoln said that this country could not exist half slave and half free. All Americans now recognize that truth. Events of last few years have shown clearly that this world can not exist half free and half autocratic — half free people loving liberty and justice and peace and half an autocracy seeking to dominate the world, caring nothing for liberty or justice and nothing for humanity and civilization where they interfere with its ambition.

There is no peace for America except a just peace, a peace that means a world fit for free people to live in, German ideals, German purposes, and German practices are the antitheses of American. The beliefs we love and honor and uphold are contemptible to them; the objects for which they will to death millions of their own men and millions of their enemy are abhorrent to our ideas of right and justice; their methods and practices in warfare are an abomination and horror to us.

The American who now advocates or wishes for peace, except a just peace, is either woefully misguided or a traitor to America's future and America's past, to all things American — the things which have made our country great and free, which hundreds of thousands of Americans have died to maintain, and for which Americans now are dying in France.

There can be no peace with honor or safety to ourselves or to posterity, except a just peace, and there can and will be no other peace. Work for peace accomplishes nothing but the hampering of our effort, the delay of the real peace, and a greater toll of death of America's fighting men. Our duty is to war for a just and righteous peace; to work or speak for any other peace is treason.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to flush Kidneys and neutralize Irritating acids.

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidney and bladder troubles.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.

D. W. GRIFFITH Presents “THE GREAT LOVE”

Cast Includes:

George Fawcett
Robert Harron
George Siegmann

Cast Includes:
Henry Walthall
Maxfield Stanley
Rosemary Theby
Gloria Hope

It's D. W. Griffith's latest and considered by critics, who have seen it at pre-release viewings, to be his greatest picture.

D. W. Griffith spent eighteen months on the war fields of France securing scenes of a magnitude hitherto unknown in pictures, and another six months in California completing the story.

The result is a photodrama so stupendous that words are inadequate of description, and a story as sweet as a lover's first kiss, as intimate as a doughboy's letter to his sweetheart, as wonderful as the sunrise on the sea, as beautiful as a baby's laugh.

The actual battle scenes were taken in front line trenches, under the auspices of the English and French governments.

MIRABILE DICTU

The Cast Also Includes:

Queen Alexandria, The Princess of Monaco, The Countess of Masserano,
Lady John Lavery, The Countess of Droghda,
Lady Diana Manners, Daughter of the Duke of Rutland, known as the most famous beauty in England.
Miss Elizabeth Asquith, daughter of the former prime minister of England.
