WE HOLD THE POWER

THE SUPREME ISSUE before this nation is to win the war. Nothing else counts now except our power to fight unto destruction the barbarism of Germany's military machine which seeks to conquer and dominate the world.

In 1852, or more than 65 years ago, Henry Winter Davis, one of the ablest statesmen which Maryland ever produced, predicted that the time would come when the autocracy of continental Europe would seek to destroy the democracy of the world; and he said that it would be better for American soldiers to fight on a thousand battle fields in Europe with England as an ally than to have to fight on our own shores without allies.

That time has come. We are fighting on the battle fields of France to save ourselves from having to fight on the battle fields of our own land.

We are trying to meet the conflagration in Europe rather than to see it sweep across the ocean and attack our own cities and sweep throughout our land, as it has through France and Belgium and Italy and Serbia. Under such conditions, all that we have on earth is at stake. Civilization, Christianity, womanhood, childhood, liberty are all the issue, with their future hanging in the balance according to the strength of our power to fight.

In order to meet the mighty fighting power of Germany, developed through generations, we must build a fighting machine surpassing Germany's to the extent that heaven surpasses hell, that liberty surpasses slavery, that American men of honor surpass the brutish German outragers, that the honor of American women surpasses the lustful crimes of the German soldiers.

This government can be done except by the power of money. The government can not create money. It can only use the money which its people through taxes or Liberty bonds or War Savings stamps furnish. The government is merely the representative of every individual in the nation. It has no power except the power given to it by the people of the country.

The responsibility, therefore, rests upon every single individual man, woman, and child to do the utmost in their power to stand by the government as the government stands behind the soldiers who are fighting this battle for our existence.

In this work the War Savings stamps and Liberty bonds come as a powerful appeal to the very soul of every individual in the country.

The War Savings stamp is one way through which every man, woman, and child can give expression to his patriotism. The War Savings stamp appeals to the boy and the girl to save their pennies as well as to the man and woman of small income and to those of larger income. None are too poor, none too rich to co-operate with the government.

The war is progressing very satisfactorily, and the Germans are being steadily forced backwards in spite of their best resistance. Prisoners and guns have been captured by the Allies in large quantities, and the evidences of declining morale in the German army are increasing daily.

gradually, but surely, gaining control of the situation on the western front, it becomes more imperative than ever that every man, woman and child at home exercise all power they may put behind the armies of the front by buying bonds and stamps and taking their full part in every war activity.

A Story of Married Life REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

By Adele Garrison

Why William Trumbull Said "Ain't No Job Too Hard if You Want Us."

Now for William Trumbull and his push cart. This was the whimsical thought which came to me as I saw Dicky escorting his mother and Cousin Agatha to the taxi which was to take them to the tiny railroad station at Marvin, on their way to the city.

Our erratic and often intoxicated landlord had appeared in the morning to see why we were not already moving. Dicky's altercation with him had made him so angry that he had departed, threatening dire vengeance if the last article were not off his premises at the stroke of the next day's noon.

This was to keep William Trumbull and his push cart traveling back and forth between the new home and the old, all night if necessary, until the last installment of Dicky's "collection" was landed in the attic of the new home.

"You don't need to worry, none, Miss Grammie," he said in his staccato husky utterance, which people found hard to understand at first—I myself had puzzled over it for days before I could get the poor man's real meaning.

William Trumbull beamed up at me out of his near-sighted eyes, which yet were so clear and child-like a blue that they redeemed his ugly face.
