CITY ONCE REPORTED TAKEN FINALLY FALLS BEFORE FRENCH

where the enemy attack broke down under our fire.

British troops carried out a successful local operation yesterday astride the Neu-Berquin road advancing our line on a front of about four miles and taking a number of prisoners.

By LOWELL MELLETT
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

With the British Armies in France, Aug. 27.—(Night)—It is easy to understand why the German staff is confused by the kaleidoscopic events in the changing Somme fighting line which today's new attack north of the Scarpe makes close to 50 miles long.

The British method of "hit and run" with modifications—that is to say, hit an drum if the running is good; if not, to sit tight or drop back and hit somewhere else—is bound to keep the boche guessing. He often guesses wrong while the steady forward movement of the line as a whole continues.

Reports of today's battle are confusing enough when reduced to cold print, where things actually seem much simpler than they actually are. These reports included the fact that the Canadians had reached the St. Rohart sugar factory, the fourth point eastward along the Cambrai road since the German invasion.

Resistance stiffens in the region of Croiselles. Our troops got into Vaux-Vraucourt (four miles southeast of Croiselles) and the same distance northeast of Bapaume) and grabbed 150 prisoners, including five officers, before they were forced to withdraw. Others had the same experience south of Bapaume, taking 75 prisoners—in other words, Thillois's fangs have been pulled and its machine guns suppressed. Delville road (two miles northwest of Comblies) was captured last night and this morning, the British utilizing the hard rains to draw the first long breath in many days, while still holding their gains.

There was less fighting on most parts of the battle front last night and this morning, the British utilizing the hard rains to draw the first long breath in many days, while still holding their gains.

AMERICANS AND MEXICANS FIGHT BORDER BATTLE

Officials here were inclined to regard the incident as of comparatively little importance, except for the fact that it was the first outbreak of any size along the border in a long time. The border is strongly patrolled at all essential points and there is no apprehension as to the extension of the incident. American troops, it was assured, can cope thoroughly with any raiders.

The war department was awaiting full concentrated waving handkerchiefs and surrendering in the vicinity of St. Leger (a mile and a half southwest of Croiselles).

The Australians are reported to have peacefully penetrated a little nameless wood south of the Somme.

Malshorn farm near Ginchy, (a mile and a half northwest of Comblies) was taken and the capture of Maricourt, (four miles southwest of Comblies) was easy.

Stories of great stores of German munitions captured at Miraumont (north of the Ancre) being turned against the German line are now also true of British munitions which were captured by the boches last spring. These were recovered at Posieres and Moyva hill.

Muns Fight for Time.

The Germans are still endeavoring to stiffen the defense about Bapaume, where their situation is steadily growing worse.

Summed up it is apparent that the Germans are fighting harder, although it still seems to me they are only fighting for time. One of the amazing exploits reported today probably equals anything the well-worn Somme fields have yet seen. A youthful airman attacked 12 Fokker planes which were not disposed to return his fire and fled. He then fought an inconclusive engagement with a Fokker triplane. To wind it up he was in turn attacked by 20 Fokkers, 12 above and eight below. He hurled his machine into the first, setting it afire. He was wounded but his observer brought the machine back safely.

With the British Armies in France, Aug. 28.—The Germans, in their desperate efforts to stay the British advance, are strongly increasing their front line forces by recklessly drawing on Rupprecht's reserves.

Several divisions of fresh troops are reported to have been thrown into the battle south of Bapaume.

There was less fighting on most parts of the battle front last night and this morning, the British utilizing the hard rains to draw the first long breath in many days, while still holding their gains.

Officials here were inclined to regard the incident as of comparatively little importance, except for the fact that it was the first outbreak of any size along the border in a long time. The border is strongly patrolled at all essential points and there is no apprehension as to the extension of the incident. American troops, it was assured, can cope thoroughly with any raiders.

The war department was awaiting full advised this forenoon, but thus far the indications are that two American service men and one civilian were killed, while a score of officers and soldiers were wounded.

Mexican Casualties Unknown.

Mexican casualties could not be established, but indications were that close to 100 were dead and may be twice that number wounded.

The American dead are:

Captain J. D. Hungerford, Tenth cavalry.

Corporal Barney Lutz, Company D, 35th infantry.

Private W. K. Klint, 35th infantry.

The fighting started late yesterday when an American sentry halted a party of Mexicans, said to include custom officials, whom he suspected of attempting to smuggle a countryman across the border. The Mexicans opened fire, American troops returned the fire and soon a shower of bullets was raining on both sides of the border.

Ill-feeling between Mexican and American customs guards, it was declared here, has existed for days as a result of strict enforcement of passport regulations by both Americans and Mexicans.

ROSEBURG, OREGON.—I feared something terrible had happened so bad that I could scarcely stand on my feet. I had a headache and my head and back ached hard and I was weak and nervous. My legs and feet ached—wouldn't go—and I was troubled with constipation. I had a sore in my side. I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and Pleasant Pellets and they made me well and strong. Then, during middle life I again took these medicines and got through so well—was strong and well.

CITIZENS JOIN IN PATRIOTIC SERVICE

People Assemble for Singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" and Other Songs.

The people of Eugene in carrying out their part of a nation-wide demonstration starting with the tapping of the Liberty Bell in Independence hall at Philadelphia, last night, assembled at the corner of Eighth avenue and Willamette street for a community song service. The Liberty Chorus and crowd led by Mrs. Floyd Booth opened the program by singing "Keep the Home Fires Burning."

Miss Edith Graham, of Indianapolis, Indiana, who is well known in musical circles of the east, sang the first verse of the "Star Spangled Banner." The people joined in the second verse and then, Miss Graham, alone, sang the third. There were few men and boys in the crowd who did not remove their hats and stand at attention throughout the singing of the entire song.

Another song was "O, Beautiful for Spacious Skies," by Katherine Lee Bates.

The service closed with everyone singing "America" with the addition of the verse:

"God save our splendid men
Bring them safe home again
God save our men,
Make them victorious,
Patient and chivalrous
They are so dear to us
God save our men."

It is planned to hold another similar patriotic song service in the near future.

London, Aug. 28.—Members of the German socialist minority are now forced to submit copies of all speeches they intend to deliver to the military authorities.

Two speeches which were to have been delivered by Bernstein Haas recently were suppressed on the ground that they were calculated to show lack of unity in Germany during the present crisis.

Rolph Leads Stephens for Gubernatorial Nomination

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 28.—Scattered returns from about 900 precincts in California early today showed Mayor Rolph of San Francisco's running ahead of Governor Stephens for the republican gubernatorial nomination.

These returns gave Rolph 23,351; Stephens 16,423.

These figures gave few ballots from southern California, Stephens' stronghold, and it was believed the margin might be reduced with further returns from that section.

Reading Glasses

Why does a man of forty-five or fifty need "Reading Glasses?"

Because his eyes, which for distant vision may be as good as ever, can not longer focus objects close by. How do the Glasses help him? They shorten the "focus" to a comfortable reading distance.

Cannot Almost Anybody Fit "Reading Glasses?"

No unskilled person should be employed to fit ANY kind of glasses, for an eye must first be accurately measured. The word "Optometrist" means "eye-measurer."

We are Registered Optometrists, and our services are at your command.
