Style---

Have you ever observed that some women do not look well dressed no matter how expensive their clothes? They seem to lack that something called STYLE.

Style does not come from the clothing one wears, but from the figure that is underneath the clothing.

Some women naturally have a stylish appearance. It is the poise or balance of the figure that gives the easy, graceful movements when walking, stooping, turning, in fact doing anything that calls for the slightest muscular exertion.

The foundation of a correct figure is proper poise of body maintained by the means of a properly poised corset. MODART Front Laced Corsets are poise designed. There is style in a MODART for each type of figure. They are designed to bring out the latent beauty of form which is every woman's inheritance and to add every possible touch of smartness.

A trial fitting of the MODART Corset, which is free by our corsetiers, will prove to you their distinctly smart style.

FOCH EXTENDS PLAN TO KEEP HUNS BUSY ALONG ENTIRE LINE

Re-opening of Bulgarian and Palestine Campaign Bids to Keep Hindenburg Well Occupied on Defense.

By CARL D. GROAT (United Press Staff Correspondent) Washington, Sept. 21.—General Foch has broadened the scope of his plan for keeping the Hun busy everywhere, war authorities pointed out today.

For some time he operated this method mainly on the west front.

But the past week's developments show that his scheme has been extended until now it reaches into the east. And it may become more inclusive with an Italian drive.

American manpower has a direct bearing on this relentless, never-ceasing warfare. With the United States expeditionary forces overseas approaching the 2,000,000 mark, it is now fully possible for Foch to strike continually and at widely separated points, so as to keep the boche guessing and his forces more than busy.

Americans Create Reserve.

While it required no shifting of men from the west line to stage the drive against the Bulgars or to effect the successful British smash against the Turks in Palestine, American man power has created the reserve balance which has made it possible for Foch to keep the central powers on the jump at all times and places.

The American army is destined soon to be greater than the force the boche can muster on the west front. Some estimates of German strength on the western front today run as low as 2,000,000. It is probably somewhat greater than that, but not very materially so.

The American embarkations have not been stated recently. They were past 1,600,000 at last accounts.

With the United States force growing steadily, together with development of material and with the boche constantly weaker, General March's prediction of a military victory next year gains added weight.

Artillery Situation Improved.

The development of material is going forward amazingly well. That the artillery situation is improved is evident from the known American hammering at Metz with nine-inch and larger caliber guns. Metz is the American objective. But its fall is distant, for it is a strong hold harder to crack than Verdun, before which Germany hammered many bloody weeks. The pincer operation rather than direct assault will be tried, as the latter involves a large and useless waste of life. The American artillery is pounding the town at present.

Bulgaria has been left by Germany to largely shift for herself. This fact, coupled with the striking advance against her this week, leaves her situation more difficult and causes speculation as to whether she will weather the storm. Turkey can give her no aid, for General Allenby is keeping the Ottoman force busy in Palestine.

Incidentally, the Bulgar minister, Panaretoff, is due back in the city next week and whether he will attempt a new separate peace campaign is a subject being discussed in some quarters.

Classes in Care of Sick Now Open for Registration

Persons expecting to be members of the new classes in elementary hygiene and home care of the sick which will start soon, should register at the Red Cross headquarters as soon as possible, according to Mrs. E. L. Zimmerman, chapter supervisor. The course consists of 15 lessons.

Owing to the fact that great numbers of doctors and nurses have been and will be called to the colors in the near future, it becomes necessary for people at home to be able to care for their own sick. Mrs. Zimmerman said today. "It is hoped that all who can will avail themselves of this opportunity."

The classes promise to be very interesting. Mrs. Zimmerman is a graduate of the Good Samaritan hospital at Portland, and was a surgical nurse in that institution for four years.

Marine Corps Recruiting To Be Resumed October 1

Sergeant Ellis R. Allgood, in charge of the United States recruiting office in Eugene, has received a communication from the district headquarters, in Portland, as follows:

"On Oct. 1st recruiting in the marine corps will be resumed. Recruiting stations will examine and select men as heretofore. The names of applicants accepted will be forwarded to the provost marshal general, who will direct the local board concerned to induct the individual applicant into the marine corps for general service or in special cases to enroll him in the marine corps reserve for limited service. The present standard will be maintained. Young men will at all times be given preference. No instructions have as yet been received, but it is expected that the present age limits (18-40) will be enforced."

LARGE APPLES GROWN

Mrs. Frank Inman, of Eugene, motor route No. 1, brought to The Guard office today six Wolf River apples that filled a large-sized pasteboard shoe box. One of the apples weighed 1.3-16 pounds and was 14.3-4 inches in circumference.

MOSS PICKERS WANTED

The Lane county chapter of the Red Cross today issued an appeal for workers to pick moss on Monday. The work will be in progress from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., and it is desired that just as many women as possible respond.

MOTHERS OF BOYS IN SERVICE TAKE PART IN PATRIOTIC PARADE

Two Hundred Women Carry Service Flags in Fourth Liberty Loan Demonstration—Patriotic Exercises Held.

Two hundred women, mostly mothers of boys "over there," paraded the streets of Eugene this afternoon to carry home to the hearts of their neighbors some thought of the sacrifice the mothers of the nation are making in the great conflict for human liberty.

No more impressive demonstration of loyalty to country and devotion to a principle was ever witnessed in the city of Eugene than that which took place today as the column of women moved, two by two, carrying service flags, with one, two, three, four and five stars. Then, there were—the most impressive of all—mothers proudly carrying flags with gold stars.

There were in line mothers, wives, sisters, daughters and some small children and on banners carried by many of them, beneath the service star, there appeared the words, "over there."

The demonstration was planned as a part of the campaign for the fourth Liberty loan and no feature in support of the war financing plan could have carried home to the heart of everyone that witnessed it more forcefully the thought that it was intended to convey—the need for any sacrifice the nation may ask in winning the war.

The parade of women formed at the armory. It was headed by the Eugene municipal band, which was followed by a patriotic float with a banner reading "Fourth Liberty Loan." There were other cars in which some women, who could not walk, were passengers.

The Boy Scouts with an American flag and a picture of President Wilson, headed the marching column of women.

The mothers of the boys in the 65th artillery, forming the Oregon Coast Artillery, were first in the line. Then came the mothers of boys in various branches of the service, wives, sisters and daughters.

The line of march extended on Willamette street from Fifth avenue to Eleventh avenue where automobiles were waiting to carry the mothers to the fair grounds. Younger women marched for the entire distance.

Patriotic exercises were held at the fair grounds, where a section of the grandstand had been reserved for the women who took part in the parade. Rev. A. M. Spangler delivered a patriotic address.

Some of the service flags that attracted especial attention were as follows:

Mrs. L. C. Sherman, two blue and one gold star, two sons in service and one who was killed in action.

Mrs. J. H. Dick, four stars, three sons and one son-in-law.

Mrs. C. E. Russell, five stars, four sons and one son-in-law.

Mrs. J. M. Williams, four stars, husband and three sons.

Mrs. Wood, four stars, four sons.

PIONEERS WILL HOLD REUNION OCTOBER 5

Annual Meeting Will Be Held on Skinner's Butte, It Is Announced.

Due to the fact that Society of Lane County Pioneers, to which any person who has resided in the county 50 years is eligible, did not hold its reunion during fair week, a general get-together meeting will be held in the park ground back of Skinner's butte on October 5, it is announced. The gathering will not be restricted to pioneers and everybody is invited to be present.

No definite program has been arranged, but there are many members prepared to bring up reminiscences which will be of interest to everybody, members state. Those expecting to attend are requested to bring their own lunches.

A statement issued by William Pitney, president, and W. L. Bristow, secretary, says in part:

"This may be our last call until we meet in that great reunion 'over there.' There have been some two score called since our last gathering a year ago. Those who can are urged to bring a song book which contains old patriotic airs.

"We should not fail to emulate the example of the self-sacrificing pioneers who came before us—we should lead lives that will be an honor to their memories. They laid the foundation for which we are reaping the benefits.

"Many are passing over the 'stream of time,' leaving their work in our hands. Let us perpetuate their memories by holding these annual events."

Eugene Boy Reported To Be Missing Is Thought Safe

Four Oregon boys, among them Private William T. Davis, nephew of Mrs. S. A. Huddleston, of this city, are included in the casualty lists announced by the war department for today.

Private Davis is listed as missing in action, but it is believed that he is safe. Mrs. Huddleston received official notice from the war department a few days ago stating that her nephew had been reported missing in action in July, but she has since received letters dated in August from him, stating that he was safe.

The other Oregon boys included in the lists today are Louis Henry Simonsen, Svenson, died of disease; Frank Ward, Nyssa, wounded severely; Jack M. Elliott of Portland, wounded severely.

MANY APPLYING FOR ADMISSION TO UNIVERSITY CAMP

Re-opening of Central Officers' Training Schools to Civilians To Bring Members to Campus for Preparation.

Reopening of the Central Officers' Training schools to civilians, as announced by the war department this week, is expected to give impetus to applications for entrance to the Third Officers' Training Camp for civilians, conducted at the University of Oregon, under the direction of Lieutenant Colonel John Leader. The Oregon camp is designed, for the most part, to prepare men to obtain commissions in the Central Officers' Training Schools.

It has been found that most of the men who have been able to win commissions thus far in the central camps are graduates of short courses similar to those conducted at the University. The Third camp, to be opened October 5, will accommodate three hundred men, of whom one-half have already been accepted.

Open to All Qualified.

The civilian camps are open to any citizen of 18 years or over who, in the judgment of the camp officials, will be able to handle the work.

Under the new orders received from Washington, all civilian males between 18 and 46 are eligible for admission to the Central Officers' Training schools, except that "no applications will be entertained from civilians who are in deferred classifications on account of industry, occupation, or employment, including agriculture." Civilians in Class 1A admitted to training schools will be required to enlist for duration of war, and if found not qualified upon completion of course be given option of discharge from service and revision to regular classification under selective regulation.

Chance For Men With Dependents.

Under this ruling civilians exempt from draft for any but occupational reasons are in a position to apply for training at the Central Officers' Training schools, where they may win a commission. Should they fail to obtain a commission, they are able to obtain a discharge from the army and return to the previous deferred classification. This is considered an opportunity for men with dependents to qualify for a commission which would insure them sufficient income to care for their families, at the same time not obligating them to serve for a private's pay in case of failure to obtain the more remunerative place. Such men, it is pointed out, can increase materially the probability of obtaining a commission at the

NURSES' TRAINING COURSE INTENSIVE

University Hopes to Send 100 Qualified Young Women To Hospitals at Cantonments.

Three months of preliminary instruction in nurses' training courses to be conducted at the University of Oregon beginning September 30 will open the way to admission to a two years' course in the regular government cantonment hospitals, according to information received from the office of the surgeon general in Washington. The course is to be given at the request of the surgeon general's office, which is trying to fill an immediate need for 25,000 student nurses.

The work given will necessarily be intensive along the lines of anatomy and physiology, chemistry, bacteriology, hygiene and principles of nutrition and food preparation.

Special care will be taken, Miss Mabel Cummings, head of the department of hygiene and physical education, in the admission of young women to this course. No one will be accepted, it is emphasized, who is not physically fit or who does not possess the necessary personal qualifications. Physical examinations will be given all applicants after their arrival at Eugene.

The course to be given will be heavy, but not too heavy, Miss Cummings says, for young women of the enthusiasm and energy. There will be five term hours' work (five class hours a week) of anatomy; three of chemistry, with laboratory; three of bacteriology and sanitation, with laboratory; three hours of hygiene, and three hours of instruction in the principles of nutrition and food preparation. Besides this there will be 12 lectures on the properties of drugs and 12 lessons in bandaging, both series given by a physician, and three hours' work each week in practical nursing, given by Miss Margaret Morris, an experienced nurse, who has lately done three months' work in a cantonment at Rockford, Ill.

Qualified girls up to the number of 100 will be accepted for this course.

$25,000 EXCHANGE IS MADE IN REALTY

Announcement of a deal in which S. P. Ness, a local attorney, acquires the ranch located near Vida and formerly owned by Dr. Omar R. Gullion, of Eugene, which is valued at $25,000, was made this morning by the Sam Rugh Realty company. Dr. Gullion traded the 323 acres of improved farm land, together with all stock, crops, and equipment on the place, for the property of Mr. Ness located on Olive street between Ninth and Tenth avenues, on which is a residence and a garage. There were other considerations.

The ranch taken over by Mr. Ness is said to be one of the best stock ranches on the McKenzie river.

Mr. Ness will engage in farming and extensive stock raising, he states.
