INFLUENZA'S TOLL INCREASED IN CITY BY FIVE IN 36 HOURS

Menace Not Yet at Climax in Eugene, Says County Health Officer; University Situation Improving.

Five deaths make up the toll taken by influenza and pneumonia within the last 36 hours. One of these was a student at the University of Oregon, and the other four were townpeople. The total deaths from the plague in Eugene now stands at fourteen, with fifteen as the known aggregate for Lane county.

First to pass away on Sunday was Max P. Taylor, city editor of The Guard, whose end came at 3 o'clock Sunday morning.

Mrs. P. Irene Burgess, of 392 High street, died on Sunday evening from pneumonia following an attack of influenza. Her funeral will be held tomorrow at Pleasant Hill.

Ralph Loma Coe, 4 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy G. Coe, 1269 Tenth avenue west, died Sunday from influenza. The funeral, which was private, was held at the Branstetter chapel at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon.

S. A. T. C. Man Passes. Emanuel Northup, Junior, 18 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Northup, of McMinnville, died at 1:40 o'clock Monday morning at the temporary infirmary at the Phi Delta Theta house, 1332 Kincaid street, from pneumonia. Emanuel's parents were at the bedside when the end came. The body was sent to McMinnville today for burial. Mr. Northup, senior, is dean of men and professor of mathematics at McMinnville college. Deceased was a member of the Students' Army Training Corps at the University. His death was the third among the men of the S. A. T. C.

Miss Ora Jones, 24 years old, nurse for Dr. C. W. Southworth, died at 2:30 o'clock Monday morning, having been ill less than five days from influenza, which developed into pneumonia. The death occurred at the Mercy hospital. Miss Jones came here last March from Pueblo, Colo., where three brothers are now living. Her parents are dead. A sister, Mrs. J. D. Monroe, lives at Cottage Grove, where the funeral will be held. Miss Jones was a member of the Methodist church and a member of the business girls' class in the Sunday school.

Danger Still Mounting. Influenza danger in this city is still mounting, with the high mark still to come, according to Dr. S. M. Kerron, health officer of Lane county. Dr. Kerron urges that precautionary measures on the part of the people of the town be not relaxed in the slightest; rather, he says, they should be redoubled. The climax, in his opinion, has not yet been reached, even in the number of cases, while the number of pneumonia cases which will develop from influenza already reported is expected to increase within the next few days.

At the University the situation has shown steady general improvement within the last three days. The number of cases reported this morning was approximately 200, a decrease of 51 since Saturday morning, and a falling off from the high mark of 343 reported several days ago.

Precautionary measures have been kept up rigidly under the direction of the faculty committee on student health, headed by Professor John F. Howard. Class work continues with barely decreased enrollment owing to illness and the absence of those taking care of the sick. All assemblies and meetings remain under the ban.

Food Administration Checks Hotels and Restaurants

Richard Mayo, who is connected with the food administrator's office at Portland, spent yesterday in Eugene looking after the interests of the office and checking up the hotels and restaurants to see that all orders are being complied with by the eating houses.

Mr. F. M. Wilkins said this morning it was the opinion of Mr. Mayo that the food situation will be even more serious this year than last and that the restrictions will be greater and that they are planning on at least another year of it.

Medical Officer Coming To Inspect Camp Men

Captain George Wilson, of the medical department of the United States army, will arrive from Portland Tuesday to make physical examination of 150 men who have made application for admission to central officers' training schools. A committee of the National Association of Military Training camps, headed by Alma D. Katz, civilian aide to the adjutant general, will visit the University within a few days to hold conferences with the applicants. Others coming from Portland with Mr. Katz are E. B. MacNaughton and J. A. Cranston, members of his committee.

BRUTALITY TALES POUR IN FROM ALL RESTORED REGIONS

Proof of Fresh Outrages by Germans in Retreat From Flanders Received in Telegrams at London.

London, Oct. 21.—(British Admiralty Wireless)—From all quarters of the countries that have been under the heel of the enemy come stories of brutality toward helpless women and children, theft of provisions intended for their help and other acts of savagery. Telegrams arriving in London continue to furnish proof of outrages committed by the Germans in their retreat from Flanders. The enemy set fire to Roulers in several places and cross roads were mined. Inhabitants tell heart-rending stories of pillage and violence and say just before the end the Germans stole their food so as to force them to consent to quit their homes.

A correspondent of the Havas Agency on the British front telegrams that shots were fired at the crowds in Lille from a German airplane and several persons were wounded. The enemy also bombarded the town with a long range gun. The Germans have destroyed the municipal water works and gas and electric appliances.

On September 30, the Germans carried off all securities which were still in the possession of the Bank of Lille.

Two outstanding crimes disgrace the invader—the deportation of women in October, 1916, and the carrying off of men which was effected 10 days ago. These men went out of Lille singing the "Marseillaise."

The Germans have robbed and pillaged in every direction, destroying furniture and breaking open floors and ceilings. When the Germans left Ostend they drove every head of cattle out of the town. When the allied troops arrived there was no milk in the place and the children were suffering. The British landed thousands of tins of condensed milk and many tons of flour for these inhabitants.

The burgomaster of Ostend was taken in a torpedo boat destroyer at the request of the king and queen of Belgium, who went minutely into the condition of the Ostend inhabitants. Dr. Calmette, director of the Pasteur institute at Lille, has written a letter describing the action of the Germans in carrying off the last three horses remaining at the institute for the production of anti-diphtheria serum. In view of the fact that this action is not only contrary to international law, but also in opposition to the most elementary dictates of humanity, M. Calmette demands that reparation be exacted.

NOTE ONLY DE-CLARES INTENTION

the terms of an armistice should be fixed by the military advisers the German note stated that the present standard of power "of both sides," should be safeguarded. There was no definite acceptance of Wilson's statement that the terms should be fixed by the military advisers of the United States and the allies. The text apparently left open the possibility of Germany claiming that the military advisers of Germany as well as the allies should participate in fixing the terms of an armistice.

Washington, Oct. 21.—Senator Poin-dexter, Washington, today introduced a resolution making it unlawful for any official of the government to answer any German peace note, or hold any communication with Germany on the subject of peace until the Germans shall have surrendered to the allies.

By ROBERT J. BENDER (United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, Oct. 21.—The German reply to President Wilson's last peace note will be here soon.

The state department received information of this today through a reliable official source.

The Swiss legation had not communicated any information to the department as to its receipt, but the news came reliably through other channels.

If the department was advised of the trend of the German note it did not make its information public.

It was pointed out, however, that if the German wireless is correctly quoted in dispatches from London, Germany will stand out for an armistice which will be arranged jointly, by the generals of her staff and those of the allies. The allied governments declare that any armistice shall be dictated by Marshal Foch.

Indifference of the last few days at the German reply suddenly changed to widespread interest throughout the capital today. The state department information was said to have been derived from German wireless messages picked up at London.

It was indicated that the text of the department's information would not be given out but that Secretary Lansing would await receipt of the official note through Swiss channels.
