

850 DISASTER DEATH TOLL FOR ONE YEAR

Red Cross Gives $1,871,000 Relief When 63,000 Families Are Made Homeless.

Forty-three disasters, resulting in the death in the United States of 850 persons and the injury of 2,500 called for emergency relief measures and the expenditure of $1,871,000 by the American Red Cross during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1921, says an announcement based upon the forthcoming annual report of the Red Cross. These disasters caused property damage estimated at $30,000,000, affected sixty-seven communities and rendered 65,000 families homeless.

The year's disasters were of varying types, including several which previously had never been thought of as falling within that classification. The Red Cross furnished relief in seventeen fires of magnitude, five floods, seven tornadoes or cyclones, one devastating storm, three explosions, including the one in Wall street; one building accident, two typhoid epidemics, the most serious being that at Salem, Ohio, which affected 9 per cent of the population; one smallpox epidemic, in the republic of Haiti; one train wreck, the race riot at Tulsa, Okla.; the famine in China, emergency relief in famine among the Indians of Alaska, the grasshopper plague in North Dakota and an earthquake in Italy.

Pueblo Most Serious
By far the most severe of the disasters in the United States during the period covered by the Red Cross report was the Pueblo flood early in June, 1921. The rehabilitation problem confronting the Red Cross in Pueblo was one of the most difficult in recent years. When the first news of the horror was flashed throughout the country, the American Red Cross National Headquarters responded with a grant of $103,000 for relief work. Governor Shoup of Colorado, appreciating the long and successful experience of the Red Cross in organizing disaster relief work, placed the entire responsibility for the administration of relief in its hands.

In response to appeals from President Harding, Governor Shoup and other governors of western states and through local chapters of the Red Cross and other community organizations, public-spirited citizens brought the total contributed for Pueblo's rehabilitation to more than $325,000.

The terrible havoc wrought by the flood waters is a matter of record. More than 2,500 homes were affected and 7,351 persons were left homeless. Estimates of $500,000 as an absolute minimum for rehabilitation were made by Red Cross officials in charge of the relief work.

Fast Work in Wall Street
The Wall street explosion was notable in that relief workers of the Red Cross were on the scene twenty minutes after the disaster occurred. The race riot at Tulsa also was unique in disaster relief annals in that outside of a small emergency relief fund contributed by the Red Cross, the only relief measures outside the city consisted of the service of social workers, nurses and a trained executive whose object was to assist local forces in directing their own efforts.

In decided contrast with the previous year, only one tornado assumed the proportions of a major disaster. This occurred on April 15, in the border sections of Texas and Arkansas with the city of Texarkana as the center. The significant feature of this disaster relief work was the fact that it covered so much rural territory as to make necessary a large number of relief workers.

The famine in China, necessitating relief expenditures totaling more than $1,000,000 by the American Red Cross was by far the most serious of the foreign disasters in which the Red Cross gave aid.

Builds Up Its Machinery
In connection with the administration of disaster relief measures, an increasing effectiveness on the part of the Red Cross to deal with emergencies was manifested during the past year. In 1920 Chapters of the American Red Cross there have been formed special committees to survey the resources of their respective communities and to be prepared in case of disaster. In others of the 3,402 active Chapters, a network of communication has been formed through which instantaneous relief may be dispatched to any part of the United States.

That its work in this field may be continued with ever greater effectiveness, the American Red Cross is appealing for widespread renewal of membership during its Annual Roll Call, to be conducted this year from November 11 to 24.

LIFE SAVING CORPS ENROLLMENT 10,000

Growth of Red Cross Life Saving Corps throughout the country continued unabated during the last fiscal year, a summary of the year's achievements by that Red Cross Service shows. There are now 109 Corps with a total membership of more than 10,000 members, of which 1,270 are sufficiently skilled in the work to act as examiners. Among the outstanding achievements of the Red Cross in this field during the last year was the organization at the United States Naval Academy, Annapolis, of what is perhaps the largest life saving corps in the world.

EGGS BRING 46 CTS.; POULTRY STRONGER

Fresh eggs, which are not overly plentiful at the present time, are bringing the owners of poultry flocks 46 cents a dozen, according to quotations announced today by Sber Klann, local commission merchant.

Light live hens have gone up to 13 cents a pound from 11 cents, springers to 20 to 23 cents a pound from 20 cents, heavy live hens up to 22 cents from 18 and 20 cents, and old roosters from 0 to 15 cents. Ducks, for which there was no market for a while, are now being purchased wholesale at 20 cents.

Price of Veal Goes Down
Veal has suffered a slight decline, bringing 11 cents where it has been bringing 13 cents, and dressed pork 11 cents where it has been 12 and 13 cents. Pork on foot is 8 cents, instead of 7.

Wheat Slightly Stronger.
A one-cent rise came in the wheat market yesterday, and wheat is now being purchased for 77 and 80 cents at the plant of the Eugene Mill and Elevator manager.

Nuts Bring Fair Prices.
Among the new items in the produce market are celery, turnips, parsnips, chestnuts and walnuts. Celery, by the dozen bunches, is bringing the grower 90 cents wholesale. Turnips are being taken up by local grocers at 2 cents a pound, and parsnips at 2 1/2 cents a pound. Chestnuts are bringing 20 cents a pound and walnuts 28 cents.

Oregon Backfield Men Slower than Turtles

Fred Nutting, who writes the "Miscellaneous" column in the Albany Democrat, and is a football fan of long standing, has this to say of the Oregon-Idaho game last Saturday:

"I saw enough of the football game Saturday between U. of O. and Idaho to appreciate the fact that a turtle would be ashamed to be in the company of the U. of O. backfield. On the other hand that of Idaho is one of the best I have seen, full of pep, off like a sprinter, and the team was due to win at least 20 to 0; but good fortune and a strong defense favored Oregon and the score was a tie. I rooted for Oregon, of course, always do for the home team, and do hope she will learn the modern game of football and play it. One play, as pretty a forward pass as one ever saw, showed what can be done; but the team seemed to lack the nerve to attempt anything with risk in it, and just plunged through the line, or tried to, in any old place."
