INSANE MAN GIVES NEIGHBORS SCARE

After shooting holes in his house and frightening the neighbors last night in his neighborhood, William Hudson, 141 Jefferson street, aged about 50 years, was committed to the insane asylum today by the county court. Hudson who is a bachelor and lives alone, was arrested by Chief of Police Christensen this morning after he had kept people awake in his neighborhood all night.

Officers watched his place all night and frequently shots greeted them from inside the house. Eight shots were fired during the evening, one putting out the lights. After that was believed the man ran out of ammunition or could not find more in the dark. He frequently came to the door, cursed the police and everybody in the neighborhood, who he declared, were shooting at him and breaking in the furniture in the house.

FRANCE WANTS STRONG ARMY

vice will not immediately affect France's standing army, now estimated at 785,000 men.

This reduction is to be accomplished, Briand explained, through adoption by the French parliament of a bill which will in effect mean that one and one-half of the three classes of effectives shall be in service and that the enlistment period be cut in half.

In his closing words, Briand over and over repeated that "when France is not alone," it will be much easier to bring about disarmament. To achieve that, he said, France will do all she dare—ready law done much—but will do nothing imprudent.

France, he said, cannot possibly do anything else than what she has done, Germany, Briand said, could not 3,000,000 men in the field within a few weeks. She has an immense industry running night and day which could produce rifles, machine guns and cannon.

Claims to Have Saved Poland.
Plans were ready, chemicals were ready, material was at hand. The German police were all officers and non-coms, being trained to lead others.

One of their duties was to prepare for war.

Turning to Russia, Briand launched at once into a brief but graphic picture of a bolshevik horde, numbering 6,000,000 men, ready to overrun Europe. Poland would have fallen beneath this horde, Briand said, had it not been for France's intervention.

And after Poland, France herself

FRANCE, THE PREMIER SAID, HAS SEVERAL TIMES PREVENTED WAR SINCE THE ARMISTICE BECAUSE OF THE STRENGTH OF HER ARMY.

Arthur Balfour, head of the British delegation, rose immediately after Briand's speech. He praised the speech and declared the conference had heard Briand "with full sympathy."

"We have heard nothing more than a great speech. We have heard a perfectly candid and lucid exposition of the innermost thoughts of the prime minister of our great ally."

Supports Briand's Contentions.
Neither England nor America, he said, faces the menace which France finds at its door, "a country great and powerful in spite of defeat. It is good for us all that we should be initiated into the innermost thoughts of the French policy."

Balfour supported Briand's contention that there has been no "moral disarmament" either in Russia or Germany.

"M. Briand appears to have some fears lest France find herself in moral isolation," he continued. "That would be a tragedy, indeed. That the liberties of the world in general and France in particular should be imperiled by the domination of her eastern neighbor is the policy for which the British empire fought and which it still believes."

Britain Grieves for the Million Men She Lost.
Britain grieves for the million men she lost, but she does not regret it, Balfour declared.

If some one should again threaten the peace and independence of neighbors and allies, how could it be possible that another one hundred thousand would be sacrificed?

Italy Responds Next.
Schneider of Italy's group responded to Briand's remarks. He said that he was in French, explaining that he wished Italy's thought to arrive directly across the table to the French delegation.

He said the Italian delegation was in general with Briand regarding the situation in Europe.

Italy, Schneider said, was always on the side of peace. He declared his countrymen sought to live in accord with her neighbors.

Italy has already made considerable military reductions, he said.

Proximity and the fraternity of the war bound France and Italy together.

He said he would not discuss Briand's figures.

"We are normally at the side of France. How may I express the wish and hope that the armistice and armistices may soon become possible?"

Japan Would Support Principle.
Baron Kato responded on Japan's behalf. He spoke in Japanese.

After expressing Japan's appreciation of the sympathy of the speakers in men and words by France, Great Britain, Italy and United States, Kato said:

"Japan is quite ready to announce her support of the principle in relieving the burdens of the people by reducing land armaments to the limit of national security and the preservation of order. Japan has not the slightest intention of maintaining land armaments in excess of defensive necessities of the eastern situation."

Baron de Cartier of Belgium outlined what Belgium had suffered during the war, in loss of life, property, deportations and other things.

The Belgian army has been reduced to the minimum consistent with national security, he said.

Baron de Cartier said that just as soon, however, as her national security was otherwise secured, Belgium would like to take part in further general reduction of land armaments.

Secretary Hughes then briefly replied for the United States.

"No words ever spoken by France have fallen upon deaf ears in the United States," he said amid applause. "The heart of America was thrilled by France's valor and sacrifice."

"It is evident from what M. Briand has said, that what is essential that we may achieve the great ideal in the ill to peace and that cannot be until the institutions of liberty are national."

Briand Reassured by Hughes.
"May I say to M. Briand, that there is no moral isolation for the defenders of liberty and justice?"

Hughes assured Briand that the American people would read his speech with understanding. What is needed to make progress possible is candor and frankness such as Briand employed.

"Then will to peace may have its way," said Hughes.

Without attempting to outline at this time, detailed practical means for land armaments, he said, he felt sure the expressions from the various powers made it certain that the conference could find ways of dealing with it.

The conference then sent the question of land armaments to the committee on armaments, composed of the heads of

SALTS IF BACKACHE AND KIDNEYS HURT

Stop Eating Meat for a While if Your Bladder is Troubling You.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and lazy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them. Use salts to relieve your kidneys; removing all the body's uric waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sores, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore, water seals and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to cleanse and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

J. C. Price, Wiley Hanna and Clarence Stone, returning to Eugene about noon this morning after spending the night trying to get through from Deerhorn on the McKenzie. The water at Hendricks bridge was higher than the fences according to the men, and at Deerhorn the swinging bridge had been washed out with the water. They left their car there and came through the high water on a spring wagon. The water was going down slowly this morning they say.

Likes Club Rooms.
W. A. Reed, secretary of the Corvallis Commercial club, and president of the state commercial secretaries association, was a visitor in Eugene Saturday. He visited the Eugene Commercial club rooms during the evening and said that Corvallis and other towns might like the Corvallis football games but none that he knew could come up to it in commercial club rooms.

Three Cars Collide.
Three Eugene automobiles, driven by Raymond Marlatt, plumber, Tommy Walker, University of Oregon student and a young man by the name of Brink, collided last night at the corner of Sixth and Olive streets about 11 o'clock. Brink who was going north on Olive street, had the right of way but Walker, who was going east on Sixth, was half way across Olive street when the two cars collided.

The force of the impact caused the Walker car to skid and turn around a number of times on the wet pavement. In turning around Walker struck the Marlatt car, which was traveling west on Sixth. All three of the cars were damaged but not to any great extent.

MARINES GUARDING LOCAL POSTOFFICE

Marine guards, heavily armed, began guard duty at the Eugene post office last night. Privates Harvey Howard and Alfred E. Schnell have been assigned to duty here and are dividing the time between the post office and the train station. The marines convey outgoing and incoming mail to the trains and do other guard duty.

Marine guards are now riding mail trains and have been assigned to duty at nearly all the important postoffices, it is said. While but two uniformed marines were sent here for duty, it is regarded as likely others, working in plain clothes, will make this their headquarters.

MINE BOSS SAYS HE WAS HELPLESS

Arizona Man Was Simply Down and Out and Couldn't Even Move Himself—Feels Fine Now.

Harry E. Scott, a well known mine boss, whose address is box 683, Tombstone, Arizona, writes:

"I was down and out nearly all the time with rheumatism and finally got to where I couldn't move, even to feed myself. My wife thought I would never get well again, and she knew my condition better than anyone else."

"I was absolutely helpless when my wife started giving me Tanlac and in four days I ate a hearty meal for the first time in many months. Tanlac put me on my feet and feeling just fine. I have gained eighteen pounds in weight, too."

Tanlac is sold in Eugene by the Linn Drug company and by the leading druggists everywhere.
