Objects of Convention. The convention of union labor leaders, farmers and political liberals called here to discuss concerted political action considered three propositions in the Monday session.

1.—To form a political federation like the British labor party, with no existing organization losing its identity, but all agreeing on the same platform and candidates for office.

2.—To attempt to capture the congressional primaries by invading the primaries of the old parties and nominating their own men by joint action of labor, farmers and liberals.

3.—To band together under a national, nonpartisan league to have the machinery of the present northwest farmers' organization.

STATE COMMISSION IS TRYING TO SPREAD TAX BURDEN EVENLY

Portland, Ore., Feb. 21.—To dissipate a possible misconception in the public mind that the special commission created by legislative action to make an investigation of the tax situation is seeking to provide more revenue and increase the tax burden by recommending an income tax, the commission Monday emphasized its policy as one intended not to increase taxes, but to equalize the burden by spreading it over a larger number of taxable persons through a more equitable system.

Consolidation Facts. From what might be read between the lines from newspaper print in the matter of the consolidation of Springfield and Eugene, I want to correct one error that seems to be an outstanding feature, and that is that Eugene is trying to force the consolidation. This is not the case.

I believe that I know about as much as anyone what has happened in this matter and I know and many in Springfield know that as far as those who have studied the consolidation from the standpoint of Eugene that if Springfield wished such a consolidation and if they asked for such that the fear in Eugene that have taken an interest in this move would do all in their power to get Eugene people to consider it favorably.

If the people of Eugene were not educated to the good that might result from the consolidation and what it might mean to be the second city in the state and what the two cities might do if working for its best interest in the way of industries it would fall even if Springfield was 100 percent for consolidation.

If Springfield really feels that Eugene is promoting anything of a selfish standpoint, bury the thought.

If Springfield can not be benefited by having the backing and unselfish support of Eugene in landing industries regardless of whether in Springfield or in Eugene, let the two separate governments exist, but let us be 100 percent loyal to the best interests of both. Eugene has no axe to grind, I assure you I am

Yours sincerely, MELVIN HANSEN.

BATTLE FOR EXISTENCE NOT STRENUOUS AT WALDPART, ON COAST, SHELLEY FINDS

R. S. Shelley, supervisor of the Sitka law forest, returned this morning from a week's trip to Waldport, where he went to inspect the road at Cape Perpetua, which the government built and maintains for a short distance along the coast between Lane and Lincoln counties. Many small bridges were found in need of repairs, which will be made at once in order to fit the coast for travel.

Much sickness and bad weather have fallen to the lot of the people of Waldport, according to Mr. Shelley, who found everything from bad colds to smallpox and measles which was more severe than that which has prevailed in Eugene.

"I used to wonder how the people of Waldport made a living," relates Mr. Shelley, "because they appear to have little in the way of visible means of support and to take life remarkably easy. An old timer who has lived there for 40 years says that when he first arrived he used to wonder about the same thing. A man who was sitting upon a log of driftwood said there was no need to work in that country and sold the newcomer his place for $250. The latter has bought additional land and is now in comfortable circumstances, apparently without much exertion. The people fish, hunt and trap a little, keep a few cows and let the tide bring in their fuel and break it up on the rocks."

The mill people pay no taxes on the property, claiming that they have only a lease on the plant from the government. It is likely that the case will be tried in the courts, as the people of Lincoln county are anxious to tax the valuable sawmill property. A railroad built by the government from the mill to the spruce timber will be used to transport the latter to the former.

lumbermen will meet at the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow evening to plan for the entertainment of the New York Retail Lumbermen's association, which will arrive here Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock on a special train and will leave for the south at 8 o'clock in the evening.

Fund Reaches $8,400.—At the report luncheon at the Y. M. C. A. today a total of $8,400 was reported subscribed for the 1922 budget. This is $200 more than last reported. The canvass will continue, $1000 yet remaining to be raised.

Start Crew at Natron.—County Roadmaster McKy started a crew constructing a piece of road on the Jess Smith hill near Natron today. A short stretch will be improved with better grades near the hill.

Tree Operations Performed.—Three patients were operated on this morning at the Mercy hospital; Louis Rankin, of Junction City, Miss. Edith Fleming, of Eugene, and Mrs. Claude Arne, of Cottage Grove.

Roy Clark Recovers.—Roy W. Clark, who has been in the Mercy hospital for a major operation, was dismissed today. R. R. Morlan was admitted for medical treatment.

Sister Dies at Vancouver.—Miss Grace Ayers, teacher in the Greary school, is in Portland, where she went to attend the funeral of her sister Mrs. O. T. Hortley, who died at Vancouver Saturday. Miss Ayers expects to return to Eugene next week.

Gallop in Goose in City.—With the four hubs of the wheels set about three to five inches off center, an Overland automobile was being driven about the streets today. As the car traveled about the motion developed by the four off-center wheels was similar to that of a ship in distress. Besides a rocking motion back and forth a few new side dips give the rider a new thrill in motoring.

Gone to Roseburg.—Miss Mildred Parks, stenographer in the Potter, Foster and Immel law offices, has resigned her position and will leave tomorrow for Roseburg where she has accepted a position with the Douglas County Abstract company. Miss Parks' former home in Roseburg with her parents but has been employed in

A. will participate in a covered dish supper, in which they will be joined by their husbands or friends this evening after their usual physical exercises and a swim in the tank, which has been repaired and is now ready for occupancy.

Saw Saver's Finger.—An electric wood saw severed the middle right hand finger of William Wilkinson, 961 Third avenue east, Saturday evening. The front finger of the same hand was also badly lacerated. Wilkinson was handling the wood alone when the accident occurred, although two men usually are employed.

Students Urged to Attend.—The workers of the Methodist Sunday school and all others interested in Bible study are urged to attend the midweek service at the Methodist church Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The study of the parables will be omitted this week, but a very interesting and helpful talk will arrive here Tuesday afternoon at Walters.

Engineers Making Surveys.—Hollis W. Libby, resident engineer of the Oregon State Highway commission; W. S. Hodge, Harold Bevan, Van M. Beatty, Orville Willdows, and M. L. Ray, assistants, are making their headquarters at Niadrod Inn while preparing a survey of sections of the McKenzie highway which are to be improved next summer.
