BEACH ROAD SOLVES COAST HIGHWAY SAND

Possibilities of eliminating the six miles of sandy road leading north from Florence by a beach highway in summer is being studied by J. W. McArthur, county bridge superintendent, who has returned from several days spent on the coast. The several miles of sand which have heretofore spoiled the summer drive up the coast can be avoided by tracing along the beach route, declares Mr. McArthur. After the rains start in the fall the old road is generally in fair condition.

Florence people have built a road from that city to the beach and Mr. McArthur traveled over it with a car to the water's edge and then up the beach for several miles to a point where the main road is only a quarter mile from the beach. He says by planking this distance the coast highway can be reached from the beach road and a fine drive developed.

Mr. McArthur found the coast highway along the Heeeta cape in good condition. Improvements have been made on the road through the lighthouse grounds and also in the vicinity of Ten-Mile creek where the forest service has made recent changes. George Stonefield, road supervisor, has the highway in good shape in the Heeeta vicinity. There is one bridge which needs the roof repaired and several smaller ones some replanking, says Mr. McArthur.

The bridge superintendent also inspected the structures in southwestern Lane and found that only minor repairs were necessary.

Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism Mr. James H. Allen, of Rochester, N. Y., suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work. He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body. With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system. He freely gave his discovery, which he called Allenrub, to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. He has therefore instructed druggists everywhere to dispense Allenrub with the understanding that if the first pint bottle does not show the way to complete recovery he will gladly return your money without comment.
