SHOTS EXCHANGED WITH SEATTLE POLICE

Seattle, July 13.—A pitched battle between the police and an auto theft suspect in the Panama hotel here, occurred at 4 a. m. today and ended after a dozen shots had been exchanged by the besieging policemen and the man, who had barricaded himself in a room. After a half hour of fighting, during which one policeman narrowly missed death, the officers broke in the door and captured Gus Belsio, 32, who had run out of ammunition for his automatic pistol.

The siege started at 3:30 a. m. when Motorcycle Patrolmen A. J. Hill and C. J. Jensen, went to the hotel to arrest Belsio. The officers had previously arrested George Lyons, 18 and R. E. McCormick, 19, at First avenue south and Spokane street at 3 a. m. The two boys were held for investigation in connection with auto theft cases.

Hill and Jensen were told that the boys had been living with Belsio at the Panama hotel and proceeded there to find Belsio.

When they knocked at the door, Belsio opened it and saw the officers and summoned it shut. He then told them that if they tried to come in he would shoot. The policemen drew their guns and again knocked at the door. Belsio replied with a bullet which pierced the door and passed close to the head of one of the officers. He fired again as a warning and the officers called headquarters for reinforcement.

A police squad, armed with pistols and tear bombs, answered the call and aided the siege. Belsio fired a volley of shots through the door and the officers returned the fire.

Belsio ran out of ammunition. The police broke down the door and overpowered him. At headquarters he said he thought the officers were bandits.

BEBE IS "EXCITER"

Society folk, wintering at Miami and vicinity, turned out en-masse to witness the filming of thrilling scenes for the Paramount picture, "The Exciters," which is being shown at the Castle theatre today and Saturday, and in which Bebe Daniels and Antonio Moreno are co-stars.

So interesting in the novelty of picture production were the spectators that some even expressed a desire to appear in the picture as actors and actresses. One well known society woman loaned her motor boat for certain water shots in which Miss Daniels, as Rommie Hand, the chief "exciter" at this fashionable resort, skims over the water at enormous speed.

There is much comedy in this picture, despite the fact that it is a melodramatic love story. The supporting cast under the direction of Maurice Campbell is especially competent.

FIFTEEN CAMERAS USED

More than 15 cameramen were used to photograph the sensational story scenes in the William Fox special production, "The Town That Forgot God," now showing at the Hellig.

Placed at advantageous locations all through the village, which was constructed for the express purpose of destroying it by a raging torrent, the cameramen recorded what probably is the most spectacular screen thrill of its kind ever seen in motion pictures.

Six of the cameramen, who were placed inside the floor area, were swept from their platforms and were carried down stream by the raging torrent.

The use of small armies of expert cameramen for the making of big, spectacular scenes for motion pictures has become an absolute necessity. To rebuild a town after it had been destroyed would involve such a tremendous expenditure that no chances can be taken in the filming.

CAREY AT REX

Opening today, for two days at the Rex, Harry Carey in a dramatic hurricane of action, romance and thrills, "Desert Driven," is the featured attraction at that theatre.

Adapted from the popular story, "The Man from the Desert," by Wyndham Martin, "Desert Driven" is indeed a new type of Carey picture, without the wild and woolly western riding and shooting that has predominated the star's past productions, and unusual with its vivid action, dramatic thrills and heart appealing romance. Marguerite Clayton, pretty and younger sister of Ethel, is the leading lady and a notable cast of players are seen in support.

On this same program is the new Stan Laurel two-part comedy, "The Handy Man," a novel and laughable fun film, and a delightful setting by Rosner, the music master, promised in accompaniment to the pictorial program.

On your camping and fishing trips always take a generous supply of FRYE'S DELICIOUS BACON. You will want it with your eggs for breakfast, and a few slices, fried with the fish for dinner, will give them just the right finishing touch. If you like fine bacon, FRYE'S DELICIOUS will win your favor. The mild, rare flavor, the delicious tenderness, certainly appeal to the appetite.

More than thirty years' experience has taught us that only choice, young, grain-fed pork produces perfect ham and bacon. That's the only kind used for FRYE'S DELICIOUS BACON and FRYE'S DELICIOUS HAM.

Buying a whole FRYE'S DELICIOUS HAM is more economical, and FRYE'S DELICIOUS BACON costs less by the side. Then, too, it's so handy to have them hanging in the cooler ready for an emergency.
