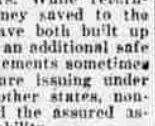
Defective Eyesight and Health



Probably the most serious form of defective sight is that in which it goes on for a long time unsuspected—because of the vision retaining comparatively clear. Though the person can see clearly the eyes are defective, and they are placing a severe strain upon the health.

Our glasses, properly ground and fitted are guaranteed to restore visual harmony and to be perfectly satisfactory in every way.

NOMINATIONS for officers to serve the Fortnightly club during the year 1924 were made by this group of women at their annual luncheon in the tea room of the Osburn hotel Saturday afternoon. The election will be held during the early part of February.

Franklin Folts, of the school of business administration at the University of Oregon, spoke on the subject of thrift as a feature of the observance of Thrift Week in the city.

In the absence of Mrs. W. F. Osburn, president of the club, Mrs. Helen Maxham, vice-president, presided. The extensive program of study which the club will take up this year was discussed with final decision being withheld until a later meeting.

Miss Ruth Lane, who visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Lane during the holidays, left this week-end for Philadelphia where she will begin her contact with the Swarthmore Chautauqua association. Miss Lane expects to be booking until May when she will become advance agent and then later a circuit director during the winter. She graduated from the University of Oregon last year and has been successfully engaged in chautauqua work since that time and also at various periods during her four years in college.

Mrs. I. K. Peters of this city who has been in Oakland, California, for several months past has returned to Eugene and is domiciled at the Osburn hotel.

The women of the auxiliary to the Chamber of Commerce will have their regular fortnightly social meeting in the chamber parlors Wednesday evening.

A special meeting for the purpose of choosing delegates to represent Lewis and Clark chapter of the D. A. R. at the state convention to be held in Eugene this spring will be with Mrs. E. E. DeCou, regent of the local chapter Tuesday afternoon. The women will also make final plans for the D. A. R. colonial ball to be given in the armory Friday evening.

Mrs. H. J. Roth entertained about thirty members and friends of the Young Married People's class of the Baptist Sunday school Tuesday afternoon, January 15, at tea. Mrs. Albert Coffman assisted the hostess.

Mrs. Marie Fletcher, teacher of the class will receive the members for their monthly business meeting Monday evening, February 4 at her home, 1186 Ferry street.

Division number one of the Associated Charities will be hostesses for a bridge tea in the Osburn hotel Tuesday afternoon from 2 until 5 o'clock, the affair being given as a charity benefit. There will be bridge tables arranged, and at 4 o'clock tea will be served and there will be music.

EMERY AGENCY PAYS GARAGE LOSSES

The Emery Insurance agency has again demonstrated the prompt and reliable insurance service furnished by the companies represented by it. The fire occurred on January 5, destroying the Warnock building, and stock of cars of the Lane Auto company, and the Oregon apartments. On January 17 the Emery Insurance agency handed Mr. Warnock and Mr. Keiffer, proprietor of the Oregan apartments, Oregon Fire Relief checks of $3000 each. On January 19 they handed Mr. Warnock a draft of $176.00 from the Hartford company for damage to adjoining building. On January 21 they handed the Lane Auto company $11,819.83 from the Northwestern Mutual Fire Insurance company of Seattle, Wash. The difficulty in getting the burned cars out accounts for the last named payment being a few days later.

When it is known that these insurors have been getting this protection from the Oregon Fire Relief of McMinnville, and the Northwestern Mutual at an annual saving of from 25 per cent to 35 per cent, and when trouble came, secured prompt and courteous service, the wisdom of insuring with these splendid HOME companies is easily seen. These companies have been giving this kind of service for many years. While returning large sums of money saved to the policy holders, they have both built up substantial reserves as an additional safe guard. Contrary to statements sometimes made, the companies are issuing under the laws of this and other states, non-assessable policies, and the assured assumes no contingent liability.

Benjamin Franklin, the great Apostle of Thrift, is the Father of Mutual Insurance in America, having established the first fire insurance company in the United States 172 years ago—a Mutual company—still successful.

EUGENE SCHOOLS ARE ENDING FIRST TERM

Eugene schools are the scenes of activity this week. The first semester ends January 25, and examinations are being held now.

Thirteen or fourteen will graduate from the high school this semester, according to David J. Jones, principal, though no graduation exercises will be held at this time. The graduates will be given their diplomas in June, when the remainder of the senior class graduates.

Indications are that between 140 and 150 will graduate in June, according to Jones. This is the largest graduating class ever turned out from the local high school.

About 75 have enrolled in the high school as freshmen for the beginning of the next semester, January 28, it was said today. The 75 represent the graduates from the Geary and Junior high schools.

There will be a large number of new high school students the coming semester from outside schools of the county. They will register during the remainder of the week.

Weather Damaging Grain? Opinions Differ

The weather Lane county has experienced this winter, and is still experiencing, has damaged fall sown grain to some extent, according to some local observers.

YOU CAN'S LOSE if you buy right. It's our business to know values and we are offering some bargains which will make money for the purchaser.

TWO GOOD LOTS, 123x160 feet on a corner of West 5th street for only $500. Watch this prediction; they will sell for 50 per cent profit within a year. That's good interest isn't it?

One beautiful high east front lot with trees and fine view between 19th and 20th streets on South Olive street. Price $800. There are but a very few lots like it and in a short time it will sell for a big profit.

One full size south front lot a short distance this side of the University campus. Price $1000 on easy terms. There isn't another lot near this that can be bought for less than $1500, and it will sell for that amount in another year.

"OWN YOUR OWN HOME" $250 cash and monthly payments at 6 per cent will put you in the class of HOME OWNERS, and give you possession of a neat little five room bungalow with a large corner lot on which there is room to build two more houses. Price $2900.

WOULD YOU LIKE a brand new, thoroughly modern home? We have three of them just now finished and ready to move into. Can make terms on either of them.

STOCK RANCH of unusual merit and value; 610 acres splendidly improved and well located; recognized by everybody who knows the place as one of the finest stock ranches in Lane County. Owner is contemplating other investments and will sell at a price which should interest any one who wants such a place. Terms if desired.

TO EXCHANGE—We have a quarter section of splendid land well improved and free of incumberance in the best section of Alberta, with $60 equipment of stock and machinery to exchange for a small farm here and can give one an excellent bargain.

RIVER ROAD ACREAGE—Right close to Eugene, on the paved highway, we have some most desirable small home site tracts at attractive prices.

TIMBER LAND as has its real value. Some as low as $5M per thousand.

HOUSE LOOTED AS FAMILY IS AWAY ON TRIP TO CORVALLIS

A burglar or burglars ransacked the home of J. O. Burgess, 990 Seventh avenue west, Sunday evening in the absence of the occupants. No estimate has been made as to the value of the loot taken.

Entrance was effected through the back door Sunday night while the family was at Corvallis. Upon their return a ransacked house greeted them. Bureau drawers were opened and rifled, boxes were overturned and various articles thrown in a heap where they had been pawed over.

Downstairs, near a front window where light from a street lamp entered, was a pile of inexpensive clothing that had been left by the burglar who had evidently carried it from the second story to examine it by the light that came in from the outside.

Among the articles stolen were the following: Brown canton crepe dress, black silk dress, plaid sport skirt, white serge skirt, blue silk blouse, army shirt, Ben alarm clock, pearl handled manicuring set, leather suitcase with initials "E. S. P." on end in black letters, box of jewelry (pin with photograph of woman, two stick pins, shirt studs, a pin, three women's rings and other articles of jewelry).

Some small change in a purse was also taken.

CONGRESS SITS AS HUGE GRAND JURY

inquiry will be directed into "propaganda" circulated in support of the Mellon tax program and in opposition to a soldiers' bonus.

Affecting the nation's foreign policy, a second inquiry was directed by the senate committee of foreign affairs into the question of American recognition of Soviet Russia. Senator Wm. E. Borah, republican of Idaho, chief proponent of Russian investigation, was in charge.

Adding a small town touch to the general inquisition, the senate also began an investigation into the desirability of five cent street car fares in the capital.

A fourth investigation and one of national importance was launched by the senate interstate commerce commission into railroad freight rates.

Teapot Tempest Continues.

The senate public lands committee met to resume its investigation into the leasing of national oil reserves by Former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall.

Another inquiry—into farm depression and proposals for relief—was continued before the senate agriculture committee.

In the background were less important inquiries into proposals for creating a department of education for reorganizing all government departments for revising civil service laws. Two more inquiries—the contest to unseat Senator Earle B. Mayfield, democrat of Texas, and into the existence of "diploma" mills, were temporarily held in abeyance while agents sought additional evidence. Senators were planning to inaugurate even more investigations. The principal one of these was an inquiry into the administration of Gov. Leonard Wood in the Philippine Islands and the stock dealing transactions of his son, Lieut. Osborne C. Wood. It was proposed by Senator Ladd, republican of North Dakota. A second was proposed by Senator Wheeler of Montana, into the fur seal trade.

Administration leaders were frankly appalled by the amount of investigation undertaken. It was estimated the cost of all inquiries would range possibly up to a half million dollars.

NEVADA BUILDING EXECUTION CHAMBER

Warden Dickerson.

Gas in Los Angeles.

The desired gas can be obtained on the Pacific coast only in Los Angeles and difficulties are expected in securing its transportation to the Carson City prison due to interstate rail restrictions as to its transportation. The process of making the gas locally is considered impractical.

Gee Jon, an elderly Chinese tong gunman, looks forward to death behind a wrinkled, yellow mask of oriental indifference.

Hughie Sing, a boy of 19, Nevada born and educated, and in the Carson high school when called upon to do the bidding of his tong, while trying to hide his emotions, does not look upon his forthcoming execution with the same stolid calm of the older man.

Only action by the state pardons board can now step in to prevent the execution as every legal remedy has been used. It is possible that Thomas Russell, a Mexican, convicted of killing an Indian girl, Mamie Jonnie, at Elko, Nev., will be executed on the same date, as Judge Joseph McNamara who refused to set a date for the execution was given thirty days by the state in which to act.

TEAPOT HEARING UPSET BY COMING OF ROOSEVELT

on, "whether he thought Sinclair bribed Fall in connection with Teapot Dome. He said that 'bribery' was a nasty word. He then said:

"I think somebody might have lent Mr. Fall some money."

Walburg told me he was unhappy and was thinking about resigning and getting a new job," said Roosevelt. "He told me that the one thing that worried him was a payment to a foreman of Mr. Fall's, that payment being $68,000." Roosevelt testified. He said he had the cancelled checks.

Teddy Approves.

"When I warned this I telephoned to my brother Teddy in Washington. He came to New York Saturday and insisted that I come back with him, and we decided to come before the committee and tell you what I have just said. I do not want the committee to think that I come before it with only hearsay evidence but I do think that, knowing this, the committee should investigate for itself and find out if the suspicions I have are true."

Walburg himself was then called to the stand announced that he also intended to resign, and said that Roosevelt's testimony was "substantially correct."

"Archie was in the foreign department and there was a Russian thing coming up and I didn't think that he would want to become involved with it as a director of the company," said Walburg. "We discussed the whole question about two hours and then we discussed the possibility of coming before the senate committee to testify. I told Roosevelt that I would tell the truth and that I wouldn't perjure myself."

Books "Harmonized."

Walburg said that he kept Sinclair's books for two years when a special book keeper was employed to handle the oil magnate's private accounts. He said that the books of the Hyva corporation and Sinclair's private books "were brought into harmony."

Special Call Issued For Hospital Clothes

A special call from the Pacific division headquarters of the American Red Cross has been sent to the Lane county chapter for garments such as bed jackets, hospital caps, bathrobes, pajamas and sweaters, it was announced this afternoon by Miss Grace Norton, executive secretary of the local chapter.

The materials will be used only for the men in the veterans hospital who have not yet received compensation awards from the government, according to the letter received here.

Steps are to be taken at once toward procuring the garments needed, according to Miss Norton.
