

NEASE TIMBER CRUISE REPORT IS FILED HERE

More Than Six and a Half Billion Feet of Timber Found on Hundred Thousand Acres in Lane.

More than six and a half billion feet of timber was found on 108,133 acres of Lane county timber land in a cruise just completed by M. G. Nease, according to Mr. Nease's report filed with the county assessor. This inventory started March 3 and was concluded August 15 at a cost of $24,645.61 to the county. Mr. Nease was engaged by the former board of county commissioners to make the cruise.

Mr. Nease, who is a Portland man, had cruising crews working up the Mohawk, in the territory back of Wendling; up Row river and in the Siuslaw country, starting at a point about eight miles downstream from Loraine.

The lands cruised were designated by the former county commissioners, Linnest Sharp and L. N. Honey. A price of 25 cents an acre is provided in the contract, but a codicil added makes the price 22 1/2 cents an acre providing a general survey of uncrused timberlands in the county is not demanded by the county government.

The contract entered into with Mr. Nease was the subject of heated discussion last spring, and was one of the things that added fuel to the fire that brought about the recall election last May, whereby Commissioners Sharp and Honey were voted out of office.

"This report proves the great need for a complete timber cruise of all the timber lands of Lane county," said Mr. Nease. "It is apparent that if this average is maintained through the county it will result in placing on the tax rolls many millions of dollars in timber property at present practically exempt taxation. If the same ratio is held it will show Lane county to have more than 30 billion feet of privately owned timber subject to taxation."

The cruise was taken in 13 different townships scattered all over Lane county. It reveals many sections rich in timber that were hitherto considered low in production, according to Mr. Nease. Some of the quarter sections showed more than 20 million feet. One quarter, containing 90,280,000 feet, averaged 141,000 feet to the acre, nearly all of yellow fir. The cruise report is filed in a handsome, gold-stamped volume, bound in morocco and 20 by 25 inches in size. It weighs upwards of 75 pounds and is kept in the vault at the assessor's office. More than 500 maps in color, showing the nature of the land and all features controlling timber values, are included in the book. Original negatives are kept by Mr. Nease, and in case of loss by fire, the costly report may be replaced at the cost of duplicating the prints and coloring work, he said.

Mr. Nease left today for Tillamook where he has a contract for cruising timber. He also has contracts for Creek and Lincoln counties. Last year's tax roll showed 455,564 acres of timber land listed, according to Ben F. Keeney, county assessor, who made no comment as to the effect of the report on this year's tax roll. The roll will be out within a few weeks, and Mr. Keeney said it may be ready for the board of equalization by the first Monday in September.

Results of the cruise, by townships are as follows:
Township 15 south, range 1 west—8,013.98 acres, 304,510,000 board feet; Township 15 south, range 1 east—19,347.01 acres, 891,140,000 board feet.
Township 15 south, 2 east—5,424.67 acres; 598,235,000 board feet.
Township 15 south, range 3 east—2,408.75 acres; 120,305,000 board feet.
Township 16 south, 1 west—5,486.37 acres; 229,950,000 board feet.
Township 16 south, 1 east—5,066.81 acres; 312,945,000 board feet.
Township 16 south, range 2 east—(one-half township) 11,394.58 acres; 1,003,210,000 board feet.
Township 16 south, range 3 east, 6—498.16 acres; 416,325,000 board feet.
Township 21 north, range 1 west—10,524.21 acres; 983,915,000 board feet.
Township 22 north, range 1 west—19,681.28 acres; 1,683,247,000 board feet.
Township 19 south, range 7 west—11,063.65 acres; 316,320,000 board feet.
Township 20 south, range 6 west—7,981.62 acres; 294,990,000 board feet.
Township 20 south, range 7 west—1,810.80 acres; 63,150,000 board feet.
Total acreage 108,133.94. Total feet, board measure, 6,611,812,000.

LANE CLUBS MAY DISPLAY AT FAIR

With the expectation of having exhibits from boys' and girls' industrial clubs in Lane county at the county fair September 15 to 18, W. H. Baile, district leader, is holding demonstration meets over the county. Today he is holding a club tour with the McKenzie Jersey Club. Last night he met the Coast Fork Poultry club at Goshen and Friday he will meet the Jersey Hoosters' Club of Junction City on the farm of H. W. Dunn, Junction City, R. F. D. No. 2.

Division of the $50 prize money put up by the National Jersey Breeders' association for boys' and girls' work was considered by the executive committee Wednesday afternoon. The local association is offering $10 for the best showmanship exhibited by a boy or girl, regardless of the merits of the animals shown.

Howard Turnbull, Of Western Union 'Family' Gets Mention for Town

Eugene and Oregon are constantly gathering more favorable publicity, and that not of the paid variety, either. In the last issue of the American magazine is a story telling of the strange adventures of Western Union messenger boys that contains one allusion to this town, and two to other parts of the state. Altogether, the three instances outnumber the allusions made to any other state in the same story, and instances are cited there in from many states in the union.

When, eight or nine years ago, Howard Turnbull, news construction foreman for the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company at Garibaldi, Oregon, then a Western Union messenger at the Eugene office, was called to Oak street in answer to a call for a messenger he little thought he would be asked to run opposition to the street car system and tax companies, but he was, and did.

Prized For Performance
On arriving at Sher Khan's he was met by an adult who wanted the small daughter of the family taken home, a distance of a mile and a half. Young Turnbull obligingly pedaled the handcar on his bicycle, placing the little miss on the elevated seat and took her home in comfort and safety. The story is told without names in the magazine, but was cited by the company manager in New York as an instance of fast thinking that a messenger boy is called for in meeting an emergency.

The other Oregon cases are also interesting. A Portland messenger was called to a home by a woman who said she wanted him to take care of her two small children

Dobbin Gives Way To Motor; Eugene Route C To Start

It is goodbye forever to Dobbin at the Eugene postoffice, September 1, when the last horse-drawn rural mail carrier goes into discard. From that time, motor route C will take over the work of rural route 1 and will extend this route to include Fox Hollow, coyote valley and the former rural route 1 of Loraine. The Fox Hollow postoffice will be discontinued, and mail from this point will be addressed to Eugene, motor route C.

A substantial saving in the cost of distributing mail will be effected by this change, declared Darwin E. Yorran, postmaster. Mail will reach the people in this locality much earlier in the morning, and daily instead of triweekly. The new motor route will cost $2000 a year, it is estimated, and as the three carriers and Fox Hollow office cost $3700, the saving will be approximately $1700 yearly.

Residents on the old route and those who will be on the new motor route C are asked to send in their change of address to Postmaster Yorran at once, to avoid delay in delivering their mail.

LADDER NEXT NEED OF FIRE FIGHTERS

"If Eugene keeps on building six and seven story buildings at the present rate, the next piece of fire apparatus we will need will be an aerial ladder truck," predicted W. E. Nussbaum, fire chief, at the city hall Wednesday. "At present the longest piece of ladder we have in the place is 20 feet, and the total length of ladder is only 60 feet. Most of the new buildings, however, are well equipped with fire escapes, but a 20 foot ladder is a big handicap even with a two story frame building. The boys can climb 20 feet, and must make the rest of the way with their pompier sticks, hand over hand."

"The new city service truck which the council expects to order at its next meeting will provide 235 feet more in ladders. This will be a big help, but we need an aerial that can be needed with a few more tall buildings like the ones now being erected. The pumper is also sorely needed, and I hope the committee purchases standard equipment, so it will work with the equipment we now have. Several of the larger cities in the valley have bought apparatus that was not standard, and are now regretting it."

TOURIST IS STRUCK BY AUTO; INJURED

L. G. Colenwood of Iola, Kansas, a tourist, is at the Eugene hospital today, suffering from injuries sustained Wednesday afternoon at 6 o'clock at Thirteenth avenue and Franklin boulevard. He had stopped his car, and was walking across the street when the machine of W. W. Allingham, deputy collector of internal revenue, approached.

As Mr. Allingham drove closer he sounded his horn, and Mr. Colenwood is said to have jumped back directly in front of the machine. He was knocked down by the car, and sustained several broken ribs and bad bruises. He is said to be getting along nicely at the hospital today.

Kiwanians, Lions Lunch at Country Club Wednesday

When Ted Derow of the Kiwanis club defeated Dr. J. Louis Hesse of the Lions club in an aerial golf day noon, the Lions club had to pay for the joint Kiwanis-Lions luncheon at the Eugene Country clubhouse. Mr. Derow was a present, and by Earl G. Jemel, president of the golf club, with a loving cup for his feat.

W. R. Wallace of the Lions club placed first in the field trials to be held here this fall.

Lions, wary of defeat at baseball and golf, have challenged the Kiwanians to a trapshoot, 15 men to a side. It will be definitely arranged soon.

Soul of Greatest City Is Revealed

Broadway of the great white lights, Broadway of the iron soul that voraciously swallows up its millions of adventurous souls, is the theme of one of the finest pictures it was ever our good fortune to witness. The picture is "Broadway After Dark" and it opened a three day run today at the Rex theatre to enthusiastic audiences.

Everything combines to make it a wonderful picture, one of the greatest, in fact. We say this confidently, knowing that the current year has been rich in pictures that deserve the name of great. First, it is a screen adaptation of Owen Davis' famous play of the same name, and the reputation of Owen Davis as a dramatist needs no elaboration. Second, it was directed by Monta Bell, a prodigy of Charles Chaplin. And last, there is the exceptional cast of star players, composed of Adolphe Menjou, Anna Q. Nilsson, Willard Louis, Norma Shearer, Carmel Myers, Edward Burns and others.

The farwelling engagement of Victor Townley, the comedian Caruso, and the showing of Al St. John's comedy, "His First Car," complete this Rex program.

Sensation Held Keynote of Film

An unquestionable thirst for sensation, a passionate desire to make life a colorful adventure, and a reputation for never taking a dare are some of the things that cause the modern girl to stop at nothing in her search for a new thrill.

Petting, wild jazz parties and joy rides are some of the means by which she injects glamor into her life.

An example of how a sudden daring impulse can wreck a real love is found in "Miami," the big society picture now playing at the Castle theatre, today last day. Joan Bruce, the heroine, is, in her own words, "a 1024 speedster." Her flirtation with a married man has led her into a compromising situation and she knows that she has played too fast and loose for the man she loves to believe her innocent. Rather than have him think worse of her than she really is, she tells him that she is merely playing with him and to convince him that her "brakes don't work," she dashes into the middle of a swimming party, steps on the diving board and at a universal dare dips into the pool. She returns and repeats the escapade until she is entirely nude. She has more than ac-

Mountain Lodge Hard to Locate

A large percentage of motion picture audiences do not realize the pains taken and the difficulties overcome in obtaining the use of locations suitable to a production. After finding a suitable location there are always diplomatic overtures to be made to obtain the use of the location. The principle difficulty is to find a place which has not been used before.

"Mountain Lodge" as an appropriate name for the location used for the mountain lodge sequence in "Borrowed Husbands" showing last time today at the Hellig, and Director David Smith, who is indefatigable in hunting for such places, was fortunate in finding this location—virgin territory—as motion picture people would express it.

The lodge is an exact reproduction of a Swiss chalet. Many of the fixtures, and all of the carved relief ornaments were imported directly from Switzerland. No expense was spared in making it a place of ideal beauty.

Howard Webster to Appear in Person At Heilig Theatre

Howard Webster, who appears in person at the Heilig, Friday and Saturday, aside from being an actor and taking the villain lead in "The Lure of the Yukon," is a polished orator and a clean, persuasive conversationalist.

He has had many thrilling experiences in the wilds of the north wilderness. He played five distinct parts in the great epic production, "The Chocobos," which averaged him seven months in various locations as far north as the Arctic circle.

When the cast returned to the states and had completed the production, Webster, not having enough of the cold, organized a company, wired for Norman Dawn, the famous director, and played villain in the Alaskan picture, "The Lure of the Yukon." Many of the sets were filmed and acted when it was nearing the holidays and the weather was half a
