

LABOR OPPOSES DOMINATION OF POLITICAL SIDE

Special Report is Received By Conference of American Federation

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 21.—(AP)—A special report on political policy to the American Federation of Labor's 44th annual convention today by its executive council asserted that the organization must be kept free from political domination and that the non-partisan political campaign committee created during the recent national campaign must be maintained permanently.

Belief reforms, increased interest in the primaries of all parties, and freeing independent political movements of the narrowly circumscribed limitations as revealed by the recent national campaign also should be sought, the report declared.

Success Acclaimed.

Results achieved in the recent congressional elections were acclaimed as "signal success in the furtherance of the interests of the wage earners and of the people of the country generally."

The report was signed by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, eight vice-presidents and the secretary and treasurer.

"Elimination of the cumbersome and archaic ballot definitely designed to prevent intelligent choice of candidates and to make independent voting difficult," was urged, "if we are to have a free expression of the political intentions and desires of the people." As to independent political movements, which, the report said were revealed by the recent national campaign as so "narrowly circum-

Members of the Order of Eastern Star, Evangeline chapter, are planning to hold their regular social meeting this evening at seven-thirty o'clock. Special guests will be the past matrons and past patrons.

On Saturday afternoon at two o'clock the Ladies of the G. A. R. will hold their regular meeting at the armory. There will be initiation ceremonies.

Mrs. W. W. Calkins has as her house guest this week Mrs. W. H. Matthews, her sister, from Spokane, Washington.

An interesting event of yesterday afternoon was the meeting of the L. O. E. club, in the club rooms of the Elks temple. Mrs. W. W. Branstrater and Mrs. W. G. White were the hostesses for the afternoon.

In the dining room Mrs. T. H. Spooner was chairman assisted by Mrs. Max Anderson, Mrs. Ivan Anderson, Mrs. Hugh Ford.

During the afternoon the members played bridge, honors going to Mrs. Earl Fonda, Mrs. Hugh Earle, Mrs. F. L. Poindexter.

For their next meeting the club will meet with Mrs. Allen Andrews and Mrs. Ben Skinner as hostesses.

The A. N. club members were entertained with a duck dinner at the Oldham home in West Springfield last evening. Miss Grace Oldham and Miss Maude Smith being the hostesses.

One of the larger affairs planned for this week-end will be the dance which members of the sophomore class of the University of Oregon are hosts for at the armory at eight-thirty o'clock, Saturday evening.

An event that has been greatly anticipated by Eugeneans was the concert given last evening presenting Richard Martin, tenor. The concert was given at the First Christian church of Eugene, and was well attended.

Great range and power of voice were displayed by the singer, as well as richness of tone. His work was highly praised by local music lovers.

HEILIG MANAGER MAKES STATEMENT

Although no settlement has been made between the musician's union of Eugene and the Heilig theatre, the management of the theatre still stands ready to work out an amicable agreement, according to telegraphic information from C. W. McKee of Seattle, general manager of the Heilig theatres. His telegram answering the musician's demands after the attempt at arbitration Wednesday night was received yesterday.

"We are at the forefront for development of a cosmopolitan Eugene," said Mr. McKee in his telegram, "and have been giving the city service where as most other towns use organs and no orchestra for most attractions. I am sure of Eugene's appreciation of Mr. Heilig's particular desire in this respect, and we keenly appreciate the favorable interest of Eugene citizens in this matter."

"We always accord our employees fair consideration, but cannot entertain unreasonable dictation from them."

"Kolb and Dill's route has already been re-arranged, but if the road call is lifted we will make every effort to reinstate the Eugene date, and we continue ready to negotiate with the musicians toward an amicable settlement."

"We are using a special effort to bring the best attractions to Eugene, and if these attractions are kept out by these circumstances it is entirely the fault of the unreasonable and un-American attitude of the Eugene musicians association in attempting to force unwarranted help and expense. Please thank the civic associations for their good offices."

Support Friends.

"It is also essential," the report said, "that the non-partisan political machinery of the American Federation of Labor must be constantly active in support of men for public offices who are truly responsive to the interests of our people and to labor in particular, as well as to be constantly on guard, that those having received labor's support will be true to the promises made."

"The attainment of this object demands that the non-partisan political campaign committee created during the recent national presidential and congressional campaign be maintained on a permanent basis, instructed to carry on their work continually."

"It is therefore recommended that our national non-partisan political campaign committee be charged with the duties of carrying out this suggested procedure."

CAPITAL BOWS IN TRIBUTE TO MRS. HARDING

Highest Dignitaries of Government Join With Befriended Poor

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—(AP)—The death of Mrs. Harding aroused a deep sense of personal sorrow in the national capital.

"The highest dignitaries of the government, headed by President Coolidge, joined in expressions of grief and regret, but quite another tribute of affection found voice among those who had befriended in the lumber walks of life and those who had looked with admiration and with pity on the tragic course of her brief tenure as mistress of the White House."

Mrs. Harding had many warm friends in Washington long before her husband became president. As the wife of a senator for six years she won a reputation as a gracious hostess and wholehearted and democratic participant in many public charities. These qualities she carried with her into the White House.

Soldiers Grieve.

Among those who mourn most deeply at her death are the wounded soldiers at Walter Reed hospital, where she passed many hours and left many tokens of sympathy and encouragement.

The solitude she showed on many occasions for the interests and happiness of others was returned to her many fold when a serious illness cast the first cloud over her domestic life in the executive mansion during the summer of 1922. All of Washington poured out its sympathy and its prayers while she lay between life and death and then slowly began to mend.

Sorrow Remembered.

The city's most vivid memories of her cluster about the funeral of the husband at whose side she was watching when he passed from life in San Francisco. In all that vast picture of grief and affection at the dead president, the figure that will live longest in the recollection of the capital is that of the widow, who, bowed by her sorrow, went courageously through the long ordeal of mourning.

After the funeral of the president, Mrs. Harding lived in virtual retirement. She maintained a hotel suite here, near the White House, and her time between Washington and Marion, and took only a small part in the social activities of the capital. She aged perceptibly and friends who saw her during her last visit here a few weeks ago realized that she was losing ground steadily in her long fight against physical and spiritual adversity.

fully. Shedding lustre on this inspiring sight is the civic pride manifesting itself. This mighty factor is the backbone behind the various candidates; in short each community and each "set" is solidly behind their favorite and no community that values its reputation for doing things is going to let some one else walk off with the most desirable prize when a little concerted effort will "bring it home."

With but one more day in which to turn in subscriptions and secure "second period" votes, and with only two weeks more to go before the final day and hour of the election, this race is steadily being brought to a close and the end may now be said to be in sight.

Ten o'clock tomorrow night is positively your last chance to enter subscriptions and secure "second period" votes and points on the $300 special award. Make every day, yes, every hour, count while the time counts most.

Very Close Race.

The entire race is so close that any

NO TRACE FOUND OF BANK BANDITS

Howard Carter to Resume Work on Tomb of King Tut

BEND, Ore., Nov. 21.—No trace of the Metolins bank robbers has been found, according to word from the sheriff's office, in Madras, Jefferson county, this morning.

Sheriff Gard said late last night that he was convinced that the bank robbers were responsible for the gas taken from the garage at Mitchell early Thursday morning and that they were now heading north to the highway because of the condition of the roads in the interior following heavy rains.

Joe Maddock Honored

Several graduates of the University of Michigan, living in Eugene, went to Albany Thursday night to attend a banquet in honor of Joe Maddock, football coach of the University of Oregon. About 30 alumni from all parts of the Willamette valley were present. Among the Eugene visitors were C. A. Brown, E. H. Decker, Lawrence T. Harris, Earl O. Immel, Dr. J. F. Titus, Dr. George P. Winchell and C. W. Robbins.

Forecaster to Be Helped Out by Tree Rings

TUCSON, Ariz., Nov. 21.—(AP)—The tree as an accurate and reliable assistant in the task of long-range weather forecasting may be the outcome of more than 20 years of study by Dr. A. E. Douglass, director of Steward Observatory and professor of astronomy at the University of Arizona here.

A definite connection between the annual rings on trees and rainfall has been established, Dr. Douglass said. The first inkling of such a possibility occurred to the scientist 20 years ago while he was working near Prescott, Ariz. He discovered that the annual rings on pine trees there corresponded, by showing rapid or slow seasonal growth, to the average rainfall over the past 40 years.

From the tree rings Dr. Douglass worked out the probable variations of the sun during the past four or five centuries. He received striking corroboration of his theories and work more than two years ago in a letter from Dr. E. W. Maunder, an English astronomer, who has been studying the sun's spots historically and found a death of them from 1650 to 1715. Dr. Douglass' further studies have indicated that such a condition can be traced through the annual rings of the pine trees.

Dr. Douglass' pamphlet on the subject, "Some Aspects of the Use of the Annual Rings of Trees in Climate Study," recently was selected by the Smithsonian Institution as one of the scientific classics of the year. The Arizona scientist has been invited to speak on the subject before the Carnegie Institute at Washington, D. C., in December.

He hopes to aid materially in increasing the accuracy of long-range weather forecasting through his discoveries. At present he is investigating the giant Sequoias, some of which have been pronounced the oldest living things. He hopes to obtain data for a period extending probably 3,000 years back.

Mr. Dewey Seeks Use of Silver to Replace Dollar Bill

BOSTON, Nov. 21.—Use of the silver dollar in place of bills will save the government $1,000,000 a year, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Charles S. Dewey said Wednesday, in an address at the second annual conference of New England banks that are members of the Federal reserve bank.

To the 54,000,000 cartwheels now in circulation the treasury department desires to add $30,000,000 in this country and $10,000,000 in the insular possessions, he added. Since it costs only one cent to mint a silver dollar and 1.7 cents to make a $1 bill, Mr. Dewey explained that a tremendous saving could be effected if the plan were accepted by the public.

Jefferson Myers Files Expense List

SALEM, Ore., Nov. 21.—Jefferson Myers, unsuccessful democratic candidate for state treasurer, has filed with the secretary of state a campaign expense statement showing that he personally expended $544 in the race for treasurer. Elton Watkins and Walter L. Hembree, unsuccessful democratic candidates for congress from the third district and for secretary of state respectively, report expenditures of $715.16 and $296.74. E. C. Whitten, treasurer of the democratic state central committee reports an expenditure of $3,353.02 in support of democratic candidates. Will T. Kirk of Portland spent $100 in opposition to the workmen's compensation bill.

Subway Advertising Of Enormous Value

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The narrow rim of space in subway cars from which hundreds of advertising cards stare passengers in the face has assumed an enormous value. Three advertising corporations have offered the Interborough Rapid Transit company sums ranging from $43,000,000 to more than $100,000,000 for a 20-year advertising concession.

Irish Election Is Highly Apathetic

DUBLIN, Nov. 21.—By-elections in the Dail Eireann in south Dublin City and north Mayo have resulted in the return of republicans by substantial, although no overwhelming majorities. This is regarded in some quarters as a serious setback to the government, but the results were apparently largely due to the apathy of the electors, fewer than fifty per cent in Dublin voting.

Secretary Hoover To Stay in Cabinet

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Secretary Hoover has definitely decided to remain in the cabinet despite various efforts by congressional organizations to secure his services. The secretary made his decision after President Coolidge has earnestly requested that he remain in the service of the government.

Expert testimony

Five of the best-known cooking authorities in the country conducted the tests—with ten different kinds of foods.

Each dish was cooked twice, from exactly the same recipe, except that plain milk was used in one batch and Borden's Evaporated in the other. The two samples of each dish were served to groups of men and women who knew nothing about the purpose of the test. Each person was asked whether he could tell the difference, or which he preferred. Here are a few of the results:

- Soups: seven out of eight preferred the soup made with Borden's Evaporated.
- Creamed Carrots: five out of seven favored Borden's.
- Creamed Potatoes: everybody voted for the Borden dish.
- Muffins and Creamed Chipped Beef: six out of ten preferred Borden's; three of the others couldn't tell the difference.

They proved beyond question that Borden's Evaporated Milk is exactly as good as plain milk for all cooking—while for many dishes it is better.
