FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 21.

Oregon's Population Growth.

Oregon's population has increased within the past five years by 19 per cent, according to an estimate compiled by the Oregon state chamber of commerce after exhaustive inquiry.

In the 1925 estimate no account is taken of population increase in eight counties of eastern and central Oregon. These are Grant, Jefferson, Lake, Malheur, Morrow, Sherman, Wallowa and Wheeler.

Generally speaking western Oregon counties have been gaining population at a more rapid rate than those of eastern Oregon. Lane county's present population is estimated at 54,040. In 1920 it was 36,166. The increase is 49 per cent.

The state chamber of commerce made its estimates on the basis of information obtained from affiliated organizations in various "key" districts of the counties. Figures on gas, electrical and telephone services and school enrollment were gathered in each city and town district.

Income Tax Publicity.

Income tax publicity is repugnant to the American sense of regard for fair play and the proprieties. The publicity provision was put into the law as the manifestation of a "bolshievis" complex which possessed some of the members of congress in the committee having the measure in charge.

But as the law has been made to provide for publicity of income tax returns by opening the records to persons of all degrees and all varieties of motives, and by posting the records publicly in federal buildings, it is not easy to follow the contention of the department of justice that publication of the income returns in newspapers is unlawful.

The publicity feature of the income tax law serves no good purpose and it ought to be repealed. But as long as it stands we are unable to conjure a mental picture of any editors being put in jail for publishing income tax returns.

"Thirty" has been written at the bottom of Jack Guyton's last page of news copy. Mr. Guyton, a veteran reporter of Marshfield, died suddenly early yesterday.

Norman F. Coleman is an able college professor and executive, but it is doubtful that he will ever play a more important part in the march of progress by anything he may do in future than by what he has been doing in recent years for the Local Legion of Loggers and Lumbermen.

Furtherance of the preservation and correct recording of Lane county history and marking of historic Lane county spots is a highly useful work to which the pioneer association has set itself.

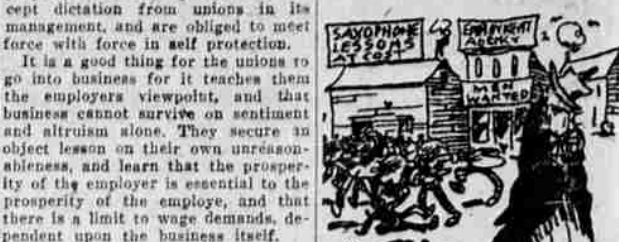

Tomorrow is the day. Corvallis is the place. Football is the game. Oregon and the Aggies are the contenders. Enthusiasm is the keynote. Go is the word.

Wall street is on a buying spree. Let us hope that there will not be too many headaches in the cold gray dawn of the morning after.

COMMENT OF THE PRESS

Unions in Business. (Salem Capital Journal) At the El Paso annual convention of the American Federation of Labor, resolutions of censure have been introduced, condemning the action of the Coal River collieries company owned by members of the brotherhood of locomotive engineers, in a disagreement with the United Mine Workers of America.

ABE MARTIN

The Governor and the Solons. (Grants Pass Courier)

The republicans in the state legislature appear to be getting ready to have a little "party" for Governor Pierce this winter when that body convenes.

Two Women Governors. (New York World)

The election of Mrs. Ferguson to be governor of Texas and of Mrs. Ross to be governor of Wyoming has been hailed as a great victory for the cause of sex equality in politics.

Effective Tune. (London Tit-Bits)

The daughter of a country rector taught the choir boys a new tune at a Monday evening's practice, to be sung on the following Sunday.

Chapter No. 5. Mrs. Spriggs—"There she is now. That's her fifth husband."

Oregon Briefs

The smallest real estate transaction on record in Wasco county was consummated last week when Sheriff Christian bought a lot in Shaniko for 75 cents.

J. A. C. Freund, 66, for many years prominent as an educator in Oregon, died in Forest Grove last week.

Beginning with Deschutes county, an agricultural census to include nine other counties of eastern Oregon will be made by Richard Webber of The Dalles, district enumerating supervisor.

One hundred and thirty friends and relatives gathered at Scio last Tuesday to observe the ninety-sixth birthday anniversary of "Aunt Nancy" Bilyeu, who has lived near Scio for more than 70 years.

When J. O. Palmer of Douglas county was received at the state penitentiary last week to serve a life sentence for a statutory crime, he was the eleventh member of his family to become a public charge.

Mussolini complains, justly, that our immigration laws are hardship for Italy. They are an infinitely greater hardship for the United States. The skillful workers that Italy would send to us, and that we stupidly refuse to admit, represent the very wealth that this nation needs. Everybody knows the service that Italian immigration has rendered the United States in the building of railroads, in agriculture and in other directions.

Florida alone could usefully take care of all Italian immigration for the next ten years and be enriched thereby to an extent inconceivable.

Why not permit the different states to establish their own quotas, regulate their own immigration and agree to keep immigrants thus admitted within their own borders for a certain number of years after their arrival?

There is only one kind of wealth, HUMAN INTELLIGENCE. It has built up the United States. Why do we shut it out now?

Dr. Edwin E. Slosson assures a gathering of scientists in New York that chemistry will do many wonderful things. Among others it will control the size and sex of animals, and it will enable humans beings to control the sex of children before birth.

Let's hope that the learned doctor is mistaken, and that the power that really rules this little earth will retain the control of sex.

Men are so conceited, women so good natured, that if sex control were possible, few girls would be born. The number wouldn't be sufficient to supply population or to civilize the men. With men outnumbering women three to one the world would go back to barbarism.

Farmer-Attorney-Logger Woodcock yesterday sold 20 head of fat hogs to John Henry of Seattle, Wash., at four cents per pound on foot.

J. M. Adams today sold his residence on Patterson street through E. J. Frasier to W. H. Hogan, recently of Burns, Ore., for $2000.

Mrs. Emma Thompson was hostess for a tea yesterday, honoring Mrs. S. R. Jessup of Salem.

Theresa Friendly, secretary of the local Red Cross society, announces that a meeting of that group will be held Thursday, November 23 at 2:30 p. m.

Rev. Calvert Smeot left this afternoon for Oakland, Cal., having been called there by the death of his father.

A large amount of poultry is being shipped daily from Eugene to Portland, Seattle and Victoria.

A good many fat hogs and a lot of Thanksgiving turkeys are being delivered into this city.

Grass is growing nicely now. Cattlemen say that grass was never better in the Willamette valley at this time of year than now.

Wild geese and ducks are reported to be quite plentiful along the Long Tom and in Coyote creek.

Paris Girl Wins In Typing Honors

PARIS, Nov. 21.—Miss Odette Piau, of this city, is the champion typist of Europe. She won her title in an open competition in which French, Belgian, Swiss and English champion typers of both sexes met in this city. Air Service Plans Saving of 15 Days

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Fifteen days on the through journey from Bagdad to London will be saved when a new commercial service for passengers now planned begins operation. Special passenger-planes designed for this route, which passes over the desert between Cairo and Bagdad, will be used. They will be equipped so that meals can be served in the cabin, and the day saloon will be converted into sleeping compartments at night.

Hours of Labor for Students Are Fixed

BERLIN, Nov. 21.—Students earning their livelihood will not be allowed to work longer than four hours daily for their support, according to Dr. Roethlis, the retiring president of Berlin university. Because of the belief that close connection with more or less radical workmen might "imprison" the young students with socialist ideas, the problem of the poor student, forced to work his way through university, has worried the president.

DOCTORS IN SESSION

BERLIN, Nov. 21.—Physicians from Argentina, Cuba, Russia, Switzerland, Poland, Turkey, Spain and Portugal attended the first international instruction course for doctors since the close of the war, which was held here recently. There were lectures and clinical demonstrations by prominent medical men and surgeons from all parts of Germany.
