

EGYPT ACCEPTS BRITISH TERMS MESSAGE SAYS

Official Announcement Not Yet Made, Though Word
Has Been Sent

CAIRO, Egypt, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Although not yet officially announced it is understood authoritatively that the Egyptian government has accepted all the British demands made at the time of the assassination of Major-General Sir Lee Stack.

The first immediate consequence will be the evacuation by the British of the Alexandria customs house. The ministers of the education and public works have resigned and it is expected the minister of communication will resign.

Mustafa Nuh, former minister and a number of other lawyers, have addressed a letter to the public prosecutor, protesting against the arrest of members of the chamber of deputies in connection with alleged plots against the British and demanding their release.

EGYPT AGREES

LONDON, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Egypt has agreed to the outstanding terms previously unaccepted which were laid down after the assassination of the sirdar, Sir Lee Stack. Messages to this effect, it is reported from authoritative sources, have been received from Lord Allenby, British high commissioner in Egypt.

The demands to which the Egyptian government at first refused to accede were that all Egyptian officers and purely Egyptian units of the Egyptian army be withdrawn from the Sudan; that an increase in irrigation be permitted in the Sudan and that opposition cease to British wishes concerning protection of foreign interests in Egypt. After the Egyptian refusal, the British authorities themselves ordered the Egyptian troops to evacuate the Sudan and some have left.

The situation both in Egypt and the Sudan continues quiet, according to the latest reports from newspaper correspondents.

CONGRESS MEETS IN SHORT SESSION

The action of the republican congress, the full effect probably will be slow in developing and will be felt the more strongly as the life of the session progresses. One result generally looked for is the slowing up of action on legislation in general with a consequent increasing of the probability of an extra session of the new congress elected last month.

Interior Bill First.

After the usual preliminaries of a new session have been disposed of in the first half of this week, the house will get to work on the appropriation bill, taking up first that for the interior department.

Meantime, the republican steering committee of the senate will meet to map out a program for immediate senate action which may or may not find approval with the democrats and insurgents, which will continue to hold the whip hand.

The senate has a large amount of legislation pending on its calendar, including the deficiency bill, the Muscle Shoals project, and railroad farm legislation. Generally speaking, farm aid is regarded as the most important of all the subjects, but since the president has appointed a commission which is engaged in a study of this whole field, it is likely that a decision as to the form this legislation is to take will await the report of that commission. With Henry Ford out of the field and several new bids in hand, the Muscle Shoals question very likely will be sent back to the senate agriculture committee for further consideration. There is to be renewed pressure to dispose of this matter, but many leaders believe it will be one of the many problems which will be left to the new congress.

New Faces Seen

Although this is a holdover congress, a number of new faces will be seen on the floors of the two houses, and there will be important changes in the standing committees, particularly in the senate. New members in the senate include William M. Butler, of Massachusetts, chairman of the republican national committee, appointed to succeed the late Senator Lodge; Jesse H. Metcalf of Rhode Island, and Rice W. Means, republican, who succeeds Alva B. Adams, of Colorado, democrat, having been elected on November 4 to fill out the unexpired term of the late Senator Nicholson. Senator Adams was appointed to the vacancy and served through the last session.

New senate committee chairmen will include William Borah at the head of the foreign relations committee, in place of the Senator Lodge, and Senator Cummins of Iowa, as head of the judiciary committee of which the late Senator Brandegee of Connecticut was the chairman.

The republican organization in the senate has a new head in Senator Curtis of Kansas, former party "whip," who succeeds Senator Lodge. Senator Watson of Indiana is the assistant leader in place of Senator Curtis. There also will be a new party "whip." His selection has been left to Senator Curtis.

President Coolidge intends to delay transmission to congress of the budget for the next fiscal year and its accompanying message until after presentation of his annual message which is to be sent to the capitol and read in both houses Wednesday. The budget message probably will be submitted Thursday.

Mr. Coolidge regards the budget message as an elaboration on his annual message and as such desires it to follow the document presenting his general recommendation to congress.

ing machines could destroy the locks and make the canal useless.

Of course this country ought to build a water level canal. The Nicaragua route probably would be best.

But there is this comfort, everything is changed since the Panama canal was built. In the old days when it was opened, it multiplied by two the value of our fleet, making possible quick passage from east to west without going around South America.

Now battle fleets don't matter much. This nation could well afford to have on the east coast and at Panama such a fleet of flying machines and such a supply of TNT bombs as would make a "battleship" about as dangerous as a birch bark canoe with an Indian and a bow and arrow in it.

Why a nation with all the billions that it spends and allows to be stolen can't find time or money to provide flying machines and trained fliers that would make this country safe is not easily understood.

In Berlin a new law orders cats muzzled away from homes. Cats have hydrophobia. Dogs chase them, get bitten, and then the dogs get hydrophobia.

Both cats and dogs are out of place in cities. The fight against children's diseases will never be successful while dogs and cats roam around collecting germs and bringing them back to children that play with them.

Kind-hearted persons who say, "I must have a dog or a cat on which to lavish my pent-up affections," are reminded that a very superior animal, a human baby, can be obtained for that purpose at reasonable cost. The cheapest kind of a Chow puppy costs more than an intelligent human child.

Schopenhauer listed all women; first, because he was jealous of his mother; second, because a seamstress whom he pushed down stairs recovered heavy annual damages and outlived him. He said: "It is preposterous to call beautiful that narrow shouldered, broad hipped, short legged creature called woman."

The truth is that woman's natural figure, as you see it in the Venus de Milo, or the more feminine Venus Accrue, is infinitely more beautiful than man's bony frame.

The question is why in heaven's name do women insist on making so many queer experiments with that which is naturally beautiful? And why do they try to look like men?

RADIO SENDS PHOTOGRAPHS ACROSS OCEAN

Four Portraits Dispatched
By Wireless from London to United States

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Trans-Atlantic transmission of photographs by radio is a reality.

Portraits of President Coolidge, Premier Stanley Baldwin, the Prince of Wales and Owen D. Young were among those dispatched by wireless from London yesterday during a public test conducted by the Radio Corporation of America.

In its offices there a jiggling stylus drew these pictures on an oscillating cylinder and 20 minutes after each original had been put on the air in London, it was reproduced in New York. Officials of the company say that the invention, an all-American instrument by which not only pictures but printed messages may be transmitted, is a success.

The device was developed by C. H. Taylor, chief engineer of the Radio Corporation, E. F. W. Alexanderson, consulting engineer, and R. H. Ranger, directing engineer.

The cost of transmission of a picture is between $30 and $40.
