

INTER-ALLIED DEBT PARLEY NEAR SUCCESS

Expectations Are That Meeting Will Close By Next Wednesday

PARIS, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Important telegrams are on the way to Washington regarding the progress of the negotiations between American and British financial conferees over the disputed debt rights of the United States to share in the Dawes plan proceeds.

Frank B. Kellogg, American ambassador to Great Britain, who is here for the conference, had a talk with James A. Logan, Jr., also of the American delegation also this morning. It is not anticipated that the American will confer with representatives of any of the other countries during the day.

SUCCESS FORESEEN
PARIS, Jan. 9.—Present expectations are that the inter-allied financial conference will close by next Wednesday and delegates are so confident of their ability to achieve a result that they are already making preparations to leave Wednesday night to submit the conclusions of the conference to their respective parliaments.

The Anglo-American negotiations continue to make headway, many questions of detail already being settled. It is hoped that the Washington agreement for repayment of the American occupational army costs should be to 24 years or to a longer period, even up to 40 years, and other points will be settled by night.

Indeed, the Anglo-American controversy over the right of the United States to share in the Dawes plan annuities which was at first regarded as the principal obstacle, now is placed as third in order of difficulty among the questions on the program.

First comes that of Belgium's percentage of receipts from Germany. This is particularly delicate because it raises the whole question of the disposal of the Dawes plan proceeds.

Second comes the question of dividing the receipts from the Ruhr occupation. This is of such complexity that it is possible that it may be postponed as proper examination of books, it is believed, will require months.

The American claims come third, the cost of the occupation fourth, recovery of amounts collected in excess of claims fifth, the Belgian war debt, sixth, and restitution of industrial machinery and the like removed from the occupied region by Germany, seventh.

Debt Question Deferred
As to the question of inter-allied debts, which loomed so large at the beginning of the week, although extraneous to the conference, the exchanges of views thus far have convinced the delegates of the principally interested powers that the question is neither ripe nor suitable for treatment at a general conference.

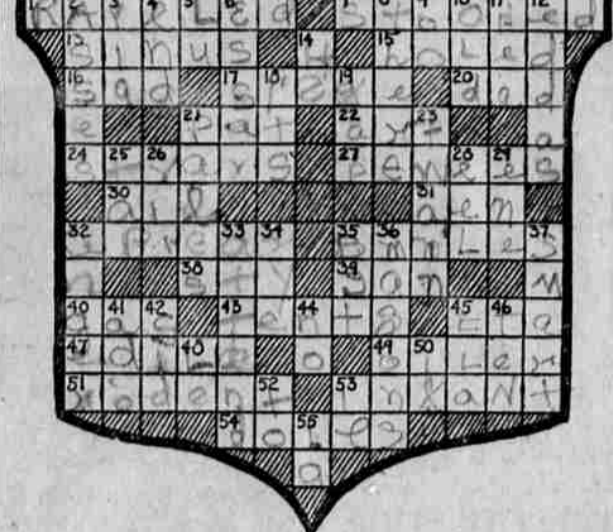

The process of conducting the conference by conversations between the various units composing it continued today. The British and Belgian delegations were in communication during the morning and it was announced that Premier Theunis of Belgium would confer with Finance Minister Clementel of France and Winston Churchill, British chancellor of the exchequer, this afternoon. The French delegation spent most of the morning conferring with Premier Herriot at Leo Hartford, a local taxi driver, also was jailed when he was found in the room with the three suspects. The men have been about Klamath Falls for several weeks, but have been in hiding since the robbery and murder officers declared.

What evidence authorities have to connect the suspected men with the crime has not yet been given out, although District Attorney Ganong said it was sufficient to warrant the filing of murder charges.

RELATIVITY IS GIVEN BACKING BY PROFESSOR

Albert A. Michelson Of University Of Chicago Has Experiments

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Further credence to Einstein's theory of relativity was given here last night when Prof. Albert A. Michelson, scientist at the University of Chicago, asserted in a lecture that his most recent experiments had furnished Einstein another striking confirmation.

While he prefaced the announcement of his findings with the statement that they were provisional, Prof. Michelson declared he believed that additional experiments which he will make would further support Einstein's theory.

The theory was tested by the ether drift experiment, the latter also being proved, Prof. Michelson said, in which two beams of light were thrown by mirrors in opposite direction through a 5200 foot vacuum tube. The two beams arrived at their starting place at various displacements, which indicated there had been an impediment in the velocity of light. One of the principal objects to be determined in the experiments was whether the motion of the earth influenced the velocity of light.

Had the two beams come home at the identical time then it would have been probable that some of Einstein's theory would have been difficult to explain. As it was, the two beams showed wide displacements.

The result came as a climax and in a rapid tribute, Einstein, not only being confirmed, also had furnished material for still more brilliant work, he said.

A stereoscopic picture which Professor Michelson in almost a layman's tongue made his hearers see the fascination of the art and its intricacies. His demonstration illustrated in a number of ways the striking property of wave motion. A mechanical wave was made so slowly that the eye readily observed its properties. Small waves or ripples on the surface of water were projected and made to appear almost at rest through the method known as intermittent illumination.

Sound waves were illustrated by the interference of two trains of sound waves from two large tuning forks much in the fashion of the wave travel. The picture disclosed that sound waves, like light waves, travel in straight lines. Asemitic gas flame was used in this experiment. The flame turned up to the point of flaring was made to flare when a high pitched note was sounded. The second wave (too high to be heard) could be reflected and focused and made to cast shadows quite like light.

Light Analysis Projected.
The analysis of light by a prism into a spectrum was projected and two important types, continuous and bright lines spectra, were thrown on the screen.

Interference of light waves analogous to that of ripples and sound were shown by projecting on the screen the colors of soap films and finally the fringes of an interferometer. This instrument was devised for the experiment on which the theory of relativity is founded and which was the key to Prof. Michelson's recent test.

It takes the sunlight eight minutes to reach the earth, the nearest star four light years, and the farthest star about 4000 years, under the method of light calculation, he said. Light travels 183,000 miles a second, Professor Michelson declared, adding that "thereby hangs a tale."

"The person to whom I was explaining, said 'He did not believe it.'"

Radio Record Is Shattered By Canadian

VICTORIA, B. C., Jan. 9.—Constant two-way radio communication between the steamship Makura and the Estevan wireless station from the time the vessel left here until she arrived Sunday at Sydney, Australia, a distance of 9,007 miles, has broken a world's wireless record, it was announced today by E. J. Houghton, divisional superintendent of the Dominion government radio telegraph office here.

The record was made by Operator Durkes of the Estevan station. Several weeks ago Operator Durkes established a world's wireless record when he kept in touch with the steamer Tahiti for a distance of 5000 miles.

After suffering from a nervous breakdown, and being subject to dizzy spells, a man of 35 regained his health and strength through glandular treatment. As an actual test of his perfect health, this gland patient recently ran and won the one-mile and three-mile race in the annual field meet at one of California's State Institutions. Even more remarkable than his speed was the physical condition of the athlete after breathing the tape. He exhibited nothing of 3000 distress, had broken a breathing of the ordinary runner.

The British high commissioner has sent a strong note to Ibn Saud that the raids must cease and the loot be returned, otherwise the raiders will be severely punished in the future.

It is reported that in one foray Ibn Saud's men destroyed every tent belonging to a semi-tribe and killed every man over ten years of age. They did not, however, molest the women who handed over their jewelry.

OREGON TAXES LOW, IS WORD OF TREASURER

Thomas B. Kay Is Speaker At State Chamber Of Commerce Session

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 9.—(Special)—Oregon is not a tax-ridden state, and agitators, office-seekers and newspapers who refer to it as such are dealing in canard, declared Thomas B. Kay, state treasurer in an address at the meeting of the state chamber of commerce here yesterday.

Backed by statistics and other data, Mr. Kay emphasized the point that taxation in this state is really lower than in most western states. His address struck a popular chord with the delegates, who shouted their approval of Irving E. Vining's suggestion that the speech be printed in full and distributed by the state chamber.

Delegates totaled more than 150, and each wore a tiny brass tack in his coat lapel, typifying the slogan for the year, printed on a card below the tack, reading "It's time to get down to brass tacks." The session was at the Multnomah hotel, and the visitors were welcomed by Mayor Baker. After this address W. D. B. Dodson, general manager of the Portland chamber, spoke on the state development program.

A banquet at 7 o'clock, at which Mayor Baker was toastmaster, was the concluding event.

"How to Finance a Project," was told by C. D. Rorer, president of the Eugene Bank of Commerce and president of the Oregon State Bankers' association. He declared that industrial projects of merit are not hard to finance, but that it is usually a problem for the home community. Too many have failed, he said, suggesting that the state chamber might do well to form an advisory bureau whose experts could assist new and struggling enterprises.

At the business session directors were elected as follows: E. I. Stoddard, LaGrande; George H. Curry, Arlington; and Eric V. Hauser, Portland, as new members; Julius L. Meier, Portland; I. E. Vining, Astoria; Peter Loggie, North Bend; T. B. Kay, Salem, and R. S. Hamilton, Bend, all re-elected. The hold-over directors are: J. T. Rorick, The Dal-
