

THE EUGENE GUARD

An independent afternoon newspaper published daily except Sunday.

PAUL R. KELTY, Editor EUGENE S. KELTY, Business Manager

Offices 1037-1041 Willamette Street Telephone 1200

The Eugene Guard is a member of the Associated Press. The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for publication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited to this paper and also the local news published herein.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 10

A Boy King Of Egypt.

Amenhotep IV was a boy king in Egypt in the days of its imperial glory, 1400 years before Jesus of Nazareth was born. Thebes, the seat of government, was the center of a highly developed and immensely rich civilization.

So sure was Amenhotep IV that he had discovered truth that he wanted the world to share his religion with him. And he fell into the error that zealots of all ages have committed. He sought to impose his belief upon those around him.

Amenhotep IV sensed the fact that all was not well in Thebes. He saw reminders all about him of the old and, as they seemed to him, erroneous religions. He blamed the environment. So he gave an order and one day the king and all his court set out down the river Nile on a great fleet of barges.

The beautiful City of the Horizon proved a fool's paradise. Only for a scant few years did Akhenaten reign and worship there. So taken up had he been with his religion that the king had neglected business of state.

Akenaten's trouble was that he was a few centuries ahead of his times. His teaching of a universal beneficent god and of the law of love among men fell on deaf ears.

The golfer once more turns unrepentant sinner. His New Year resolution requiring regular church attendance slips from him like Omar's oft mentioned winter garment.

The day of hog fuel utilization has arrived. Over at Coos bay a plant for the generation of electric power which will serve the whole Coos bay district will burn hog fuel.

Oregon's presidential electors will canvass the vote of the state at Salem Monday. To relieve the breathless public suspense we don't mind saying now that we have inside information indicating a verdict in the state for Coolidge.

COMMENT OF THE PRESS

ANOTHER WARNING (Medford Mail-Tribune) The fatal accident north of Wood, California last Saturday demonstrates again the necessity of guard-rails on the Pacific highway as a necessary protection to motorists during the such rails or rims, for without them, no amount of careful driving can prevent a car skidding off an icy road, one side or the other.

Winter motoring has come to stay. The Pacific highway has come to stay. The Pacific highway from Seattle to San Diego will be a thoroughfare every day in the year, regardless of weather conditions.

State authorities in California, Oregon and Washington should take prompt action and in co-operation with county authorities, see that every dangerous curve—particularly on an incline—be guarded by rail or abutments. Public safety demands it.

TRYING TO ABOLISH GOD

We do not seem to accomplish much, yet we get about as far as Zimovief of Russia and Calles of Mexico. Both these worthies set about to abolish God.

UNIVERSITY PRESIDENTS' LABORS

Are we working the heads of our higher educational institutions too hard? When Dr. Doney, president of Willamette university, was granted leave of absence for the purpose of wooing back his shattered health, this paper took the position that our university presidents are overworked by responsibilities and hard work.

In Lighter Vein

Super-Optimism. (Milwauk Tribune) An optimist is one who approaches a pencil sharper with confidence.

Saving On the Car.

An automobile owner who was a "bug" on fuel saving put a new-fangled carburetor on his car. It was guaranteed to save 20 per cent on gasoline.

SOMEWHERE—A LITTLE WHITE COTTAGE

Kent and I discussed and planned for the little cottage somewhere in the country. "It doesn't have to be far from New York or inconvenient to get to," I said anxiously.

"When can we move do you think, Kent?" I asked after silent speculation for a few minutes. I had thought about the little cottage so often, and now that I knew Kent wanted it too I longed to rush out of the city immediately.

"It would be best to wait for spring now, Babe," Kent declared. "I want to go slow about buying a house—we want to get just the right place you know."

"Yes, I suppose it would be better to stay where we are for the winter," I answered. I did not tell Kent, but I somehow had a strange desire to get out of town.

ABE MARTIN

Miss Tawney, Apple received an invitation to a New Year's dinner and tried to exchange it. When we see how thin the girls' women insist on dresses it seems like a shame to waste money on coal.

per cent. To save another 20 per cent an intake superheater was put on. Then the crankcase was filled with an oil that would add 20 per cent more.

Technicalities Aside. (American Legion Weekly) "And of course you're an able-bodied seaman like the rest," ventured the fair visitor of the battleship's

"Me? I'm a cox'n," he snorted, pointing to his chevrons.

Post Mortem. Engaged—"So your last boss was a mean man, eh?"

"See here!" stormed the guide. "You've gone and drunk up all the whiskey we brought along in case of snake bites!"

But Not Quite. "Teacher—"In the beginning of time, ages and ages ago, the earth was a steaming molten ball.

Teacher—"In the beginning of time, ages and ages ago, the earth was a steaming molten ball. Then, as it cooled, mountains were torn up on its surface, volcanoes appeared, craters exploded with lava, quakes erupted and the entire world shook."

Teacher—"In the beginning of time, ages and ages ago, the earth was a steaming molten ball. Then, as it cooled, mountains were torn up on its surface, volcanoes appeared, craters exploded with lava, quakes erupted and the entire world shook."

Teacher—"In the beginning of time, ages and ages ago, the earth was a steaming molten ball. Then, as it cooled, mountains were torn up on its surface, volcanoes appeared, craters exploded with lava, quakes erupted and the entire world shook."

Teacher—"In the beginning of time, ages and ages ago, the earth was a steaming molten ball. Then, as it cooled, mountains were torn up on its surface, volcanoes appeared, craters exploded with lava, quakes erupted and the entire world shook."

Teacher—"In the beginning of time, ages and ages ago, the earth was a steaming molten ball. Then, as it cooled, mountains were torn up on its surface, volcanoes appeared, craters exploded with lava, quakes erupted and the entire world shook."

Teacher—"In the beginning of time, ages and ages ago, the earth was a steaming molten ball. Then, as it cooled, mountains were torn up on its surface, volcanoes appeared, craters exploded with lava, quakes erupted and the entire world shook."

Teacher—"In the beginning of time, ages and ages ago, the earth was a steaming molten ball. Then, as it cooled, mountains were torn up on its surface, volcanoes appeared, craters exploded with lava, quakes erupted and the entire world shook."

Teacher—"In the beginning of time, ages and ages ago, the earth was a steaming molten ball. Then, as it cooled, mountains were torn up on its surface, volcanoes appeared, craters exploded with lava, quakes erupted and the entire world shook."

Teacher—"In the beginning of time, ages and ages ago, the earth was a steaming molten ball. Then, as it cooled, mountains were torn up on its surface, volcanoes appeared, craters exploded with lava, quakes erupted and the entire world shook."

Teacher—"In the beginning of time, ages and ages ago, the earth was a steaming molten ball. Then, as it cooled, mountains were torn up on its surface, volcanoes appeared, craters exploded with lava, quakes erupted and the entire world shook."

Teacher—"In the beginning of time, ages and ages ago, the earth was a steaming molten ball. Then, as it cooled, mountains were torn up on its surface, volcanoes appeared, craters exploded with lava, quakes erupted and the entire world shook."

Teacher—"In the beginning of time, ages and ages ago, the earth was a steaming molten ball. Then, as it cooled, mountains were torn up on its surface, volcanoes appeared, craters exploded with lava, quakes erupted and the entire world shook."

Teacher—"In the beginning of time, ages and ages ago, the earth was a steaming molten ball. Then, as it cooled, mountains were torn up on its surface, volcanoes appeared, craters exploded with lava, quakes erupted and the entire world shook."

Teacher—"In the beginning of time, ages and ages ago, the earth was a steaming molten ball. Then, as it cooled, mountains were torn up on its surface, volcanoes appeared, craters exploded with lava, quakes erupted and the entire world shook."

Teacher—"In the beginning of time, ages and ages ago, the earth was a steaming molten ball. Then, as it cooled, mountains were torn up on its surface, volcanoes appeared, craters exploded with lava, quakes erupted and the entire world shook."

Teacher—"In the beginning of time, ages and ages ago, the earth was a steaming molten ball. Then, as it cooled, mountains were torn up on its surface, volcanoes appeared, craters exploded with lava, quakes erupted and the entire world shook."

Teacher—"In the beginning of time, ages and ages ago, the earth was a steaming molten ball. Then, as it cooled, mountains were torn up on its surface, volcanoes appeared, craters exploded with lava, quakes erupted and the entire world shook."

Teacher—"In the beginning of time, ages and ages ago, the earth was a steaming molten ball. Then, as it cooled, mountains were torn up on its surface, volcanoes appeared, craters exploded with lava, quakes erupted and the entire world shook."

Teacher—"In the beginning of time, ages and ages ago, the earth was a steaming molten ball. Then, as it cooled, mountains were torn up on its surface, volcanoes appeared, craters exploded with lava, quakes erupted and the entire world shook."

Teacher—"In the beginning of time, ages and ages ago, the earth was a steaming molten ball. Then, as it cooled, mountains were torn up on its surface, volcanoes appeared, craters exploded with lava, quakes erupted and the entire world shook."

Teacher—"In the beginning of time, ages and ages ago, the earth was a steaming molten ball. Then, as it cooled, mountains were torn up on its surface, volcanoes appeared, craters exploded with lava, quakes erupted and the entire world shook."

Teacher—"In the beginning of time, ages and ages ago, the earth was a steaming molten ball. Then, as it cooled, mountains were torn up on its surface, volcanoes appeared, craters exploded with lava, quakes erupted and the entire world shook."

Teacher—"In the beginning of time, ages and ages ago, the earth was a steaming molten ball. Then, as it cooled, mountains were torn up on its surface, volcanoes appeared, craters exploded with lava, quakes erupted and the entire world shook."

Teacher—"In the beginning of time, ages and ages ago, the earth was a steaming molten ball. Then, as it cooled, mountains were torn up on its surface, volcanoes appeared, craters exploded with lava, quakes erupted and the entire world shook."

Teacher—"In the beginning of time, ages and ages ago, the earth was a steaming molten ball. Then, as it cooled, mountains were torn up on its surface, volcanoes appeared, craters exploded with lava, quakes erupted and the entire world shook."

Teacher—"In the beginning of time, ages and ages ago, the earth was a steaming molten ball. Then, as it cooled, mountains were torn up on its surface, volcanoes appeared, craters exploded with lava, quakes erupted and the entire world shook."

Teacher—"In the beginning of time, ages and ages ago, the earth was a steaming molten ball. Then, as it cooled, mountains were torn up on its surface, volcanoes appeared, craters exploded with lava, quakes erupted and the entire world shook."

Teacher—"In the beginning of time, ages and ages ago, the earth was a steaming molten ball. Then, as it cooled, mountains were torn up on its surface, volcanoes appeared, craters exploded with lava, quakes erupted and the entire world shook."

NEWS OF NEARBY TOWNS

Special Correspondence To The Guard From Various Live Districts In Its Field

COTTAGE GROVE

Washburne, banker; Manley Robinson, clerk; C. Peterson, watchman; George Stackwood, sentry.

Next Tuesday night will be social night. Members and their families are urged to be present. There will be card playing and dancing.

Very interesting meeting of the Junction City P. T. A. was held on Tuesday night. A very interesting program was enjoyed followed by the business of the meeting.

The association decided to give a short program and pie social Thursday, Jan. 15, to raise funds to finance that hot lunch.

The association also decided to investigate the financial standing of the district and see what could be done to remedy it.

Mr. and Mrs. George Kling are visiting Mrs. Kling's parents at Scio, Ore., this week.

Sam McMullen from Portland arrived today to spend a few days visiting relatives.

DEERHORN

DEERHORN, Jan. 9.—(Special)—The annual telephone meeting of the Leaburg and Blue River line had their meeting on Wednesday, Jan. 7, to elect officers and other important matters were discussed.

Insurance certificates, authorized by recent adjusted compensation bill are being received by Cottage Grove veterans. Some of the local policies are in the neighborhood of $2000, the amount being based upon length of war service.

Several timber men who have been here from the east have left for their homes.

TODAY

(Continued from page one)

Just 20 airplanes fit to be of service in war.

That makes our good machines average out about seventy million dollars each, which is not cheap.

John Kirk has returned from Portland where he went to spend the holidays with relatives.

Rev. M. T. Nolan will begin revival services at the Methodist Episcopal church here Sunday for an indefinite time. He is a Methodist pastor at Monroe and is said to be a very forceful and interesting speaker.

Mrs. M. O. Hays of Woodlawn, Wash., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Ferguson and Mrs. William Calvert. She came here to attend the funeral of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Marg Hays.

Mrs. Arvilla Duckworth is quite ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Duinway of Meadowview.

Angus Gibson has purchased three lots on Laurel street from Carl Washburne of Eugene and will erect a bungalow as soon as the weather permits. These lots are just back of the W. C. Washburne home and are now occupied by the tennis court.

The Junction City post No. 61 American legion has received national citation for exceeding the membership goal for last year.

Neil Holm is moving his meat market fixtures into the building on Sixth street with W. F. Neilsen. As soon as he can paint the woodwork and get things in shape, he will be ready to operate his shop under the name of Sixth Street Meat market.

Mrs. Van Fleet came up from Portland and visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Starr, Monday Mr. and Mrs. Peters came over from Monroe to visit at the Starr home.

NEWS OF NEARBY TOWNS

Special Correspondence To The Guard From Various Live Districts In Its Field

COTTAGE GROVE

Washburne, banker; Manley Robinson, clerk; C. Peterson, watchman; George Stackwood, sentry.

Next Tuesday night will be social night. Members and their families are urged to be present. There will be card playing and dancing.

Very interesting meeting of the Junction City P. T. A. was held on Tuesday night. A very interesting program was enjoyed followed by the business of the meeting.

The association decided to give a short program and pie social Thursday, Jan. 15, to raise funds to finance that hot lunch.

The association also decided to investigate the financial standing of the district and see what could be done to remedy it.

Mr. and Mrs. George Kling are visiting Mrs. Kling's parents at Scio, Ore., this week.

Sam McMullen from Portland arrived today to spend a few days visiting relatives.

DEERHORN

DEERHORN, Jan. 9.—(Special)—The annual telephone meeting of the Leaburg and Blue River line had their meeting on Wednesday, Jan. 7, to elect officers and other important matters were discussed.

Insurance certificates, authorized by recent adjusted compensation bill are being received by Cottage Grove veterans. Some of the local policies are in the neighborhood of $2000, the amount being based upon length of war service.

Several timber men who have been here from the east have left for their homes.

TODAY

(Continued from page one)

Just 20 airplanes fit to be of service in war.

That makes our good machines average out about seventy million dollars each, which is not cheap.

John Kirk has returned from Portland where he went to spend the holidays with relatives.

Rev. M. T. Nolan will begin revival services at the Methodist Episcopal church here Sunday for an indefinite time. He is a Methodist pastor at Monroe and is said to be a very forceful and interesting speaker.

Mrs. M. O. Hays of Woodlawn, Wash., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Ferguson and Mrs. William Calvert. She came here to attend the funeral of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Marg Hays.

Mrs. Arvilla Duckworth is quite ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Duinway of Meadowview.

Angus Gibson has purchased three lots on Laurel street from Carl Washburne of Eugene and will erect a bungalow as soon as the weather permits. These lots are just back of the W. C. Washburne home and are now occupied by the tennis court.

The Junction City post No. 61 American legion has received national citation for exceeding the membership goal for last year.

Neil Holm is moving his meat market fixtures into the building on Sixth street with W. F. Neilsen. As soon as he can paint the woodwork and get things in shape, he will be ready to operate his shop under the name of Sixth Street Meat market.

Mrs. Van Fleet came up from Portland and visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Starr, Monday Mr. and Mrs. Peters came over from Monroe to visit at the Starr home.

NEWS OF NEARBY TOWNS

Special Correspondence To The Guard From Various Live Districts In Its Field

COTTAGE GROVE

Washburne, banker; Manley Robinson, clerk; C. Peterson, watchman; George Stackwood, sentry.

Next Tuesday night will be social night. Members and their families are urged to be present. There will be card playing and dancing.

Very interesting meeting of the Junction City P. T. A. was held on Tuesday night. A very interesting program was enjoyed followed by the business of the meeting.

The association decided to give a short program and pie social Thursday, Jan. 15, to raise funds to finance that hot lunch.

The association also decided to investigate the financial standing of the district and see what could be done to remedy it.

Mr. and Mrs. George Kling are visiting Mrs. Kling's parents at Scio, Ore., this week.

Sam McMullen from Portland arrived today to spend a few days visiting relatives.

DEERHORN

DEERHORN, Jan. 9.—(Special)—The annual telephone meeting of the Leaburg and Blue River line had their meeting on Wednesday, Jan. 7, to elect officers and other important matters were discussed.

Insurance certificates, authorized by recent adjusted compensation bill are being received by Cottage Grove veterans. Some of the local policies are in the neighborhood of $2000, the amount being based upon length of war service.

Several timber men who have been here from the east have left for their homes.

TODAY

(Continued from page one)

Just 20 airplanes fit to be of service in war.

That makes our good machines average out about seventy million dollars each, which is not cheap.

John Kirk has returned from Portland where he went to spend the holidays with relatives.

Rev. M. T. Nolan will begin revival services at the Methodist Episcopal church here Sunday for an indefinite time. He is a Methodist pastor at Monroe and is said to be a very forceful and interesting speaker.

Mrs. M. O. Hays of Woodlawn, Wash., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Ferguson and Mrs. William Calvert. She came here to attend the funeral of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Marg Hays.

Mrs. Arvilla Duckworth is quite ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Duinway of Meadowview.

Angus Gibson has purchased three lots on Laurel street from Carl Washburne of Eugene and will erect a bungalow as soon as the weather permits. These lots are just back of the W. C. Washburne home and are now occupied by the tennis court.

The Junction City post No. 61 American legion has received national citation for exceeding the membership goal for last year.

Neil Holm is moving his meat market fixtures into the building on Sixth street with W. F. Neilsen. As soon as he can paint the woodwork and get things in shape, he will be ready to operate his shop under the name of Sixth Street Meat market.

Mrs. Van Fleet came up from Portland and visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Starr, Monday Mr. and Mrs. Peters came over from Monroe to visit at the Starr home.

NEWS OF NEARBY TOWNS

Special Correspondence To The Guard From Various Live Districts In Its Field

COTTAGE GROVE

Washburne, banker; Manley Robinson, clerk; C. Peterson, watchman; George Stackwood, sentry.

Next Tuesday night will be social night. Members and their families are urged to be present. There will be card playing and dancing.

Very interesting meeting of the Junction City P. T. A. was held on Tuesday night. A very interesting program was enjoyed followed by the business of the meeting.

The association decided to give a short program and pie social Thursday, Jan. 15, to raise funds to finance that hot lunch.

The association also decided to investigate the financial standing of the district and see what could be done to remedy it.

Mr. and Mrs. George Kling are visiting Mrs. Kling's parents at Scio, Ore., this week.

Sam McMullen from Portland arrived today to spend a few days visiting relatives.

DEERHORN

DEERHORN, Jan. 9.—(Special)—The annual telephone meeting of the Leaburg and Blue River line had their meeting on Wednesday, Jan. 7, to elect officers and other important matters were discussed.

Insurance certificates, authorized by recent adjusted compensation bill are being received by Cottage Grove veterans. Some of the local policies are in the neighborhood of $2000, the amount being based upon length of war service.

Several timber men who have been here from the east have left for their homes.

TODAY

(Continued from page one)

Just 20 airplanes fit to be of service in war.

That makes our good machines average out about seventy million dollars each, which is not cheap.

John Kirk has returned from Portland where he went to spend the holidays with relatives.

Rev. M. T. Nolan will begin revival services at the Methodist Episcopal church here Sunday for an indefinite time. He is a Methodist pastor at Monroe and is said to be a very forceful and interesting speaker.

Mrs. M. O. Hays of Woodlawn, Wash., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Ferguson and Mrs. William Calvert. She came here to attend the funeral of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Marg Hays.

Mrs. Arvilla Duckworth is quite ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Duinway of Meadowview.

Angus Gibson has purchased three lots on Laurel street from Carl Washburne of Eugene and will erect a bungalow as soon as the weather permits. These lots are just back of the W. C. Washburne home and are now occupied by the tennis court.

The Junction City post No. 61 American legion has received national citation for exceeding the membership goal for last year.

Neil Holm is moving his meat market fixtures into the building on Sixth street with W. F. Neilsen. As soon as he can paint the woodwork and get things in shape, he will be ready to operate his shop under the name of Sixth Street Meat market.

Mrs. Van Fleet came up from Portland and visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Starr, Monday Mr. and Mrs. Peters came over from Monroe to visit at the Starr home.

BASKET BALL WILLAMETTE VS. OREGON ARMORY SAT. JAN 10 7:30 P. M. Reserve Seats at Co-op and Obak's

SOMETHING WRONG Headache? Backache? Nervous? All down and out! Don't neglect yourself. Neglect may lead to serious illness. CHIROPRACTIC Removes the cause—Health returns GEO. A. SIMON Examination Free 916 WILLAMETTE ST. Phone 355-J