COMMISSIONER IS INVOLVED IN KANSAS CHARGE

Carl J. Peterson Is Included In Pardon Graft Allegations At Topeka

Governor Mentioned Again In Affidavit; Attorney Is Witness

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 13.—(AP)—Democratic members of the house and senate, at a joint conference today unanimously adopted a resolution favoring a "thorough and searching investigation of the charges" against Jonathan M. Davis, who was arrested yesterday, a few hours before retiring as governor.

COMMISSIONER INVOLVED

TOPEKA, Kans., Jan. 13.—(AP)—A new sensation involving the alleged solicitation of money by state officials for a pardon broke in Kansas today—this time engulfing Carl J. Peterson, state bank commissioner, political adviser and friend of Former Governor Jonathan M. Davis, who with his son, is charged with accepting a bribe for the extension of executive clemency.

Ouster proceedings will be instituted immediately against Peterson, Attorney General C. B. Griffith announced.

The attorney general yesterday demanded that Peterson resign, but Peterson refused. The bank commissioner is charged, in an affidavit by A. L. Oswald, attorney of Hutchinson, Kansas, with having asked $4,000 for a parole for Walter Grundy, convicted Hutchinson banker and later agreeing to accept $2500 for a pardon. The affidavit brings Former Governor Davis into the case as the one hwo took Oswald to Peterson when Oswald, as an attorney, was seeking clemency for Grundy.

Refused at First

At this meeting with Davis, the affidavit states, the governor first told Oswald there was "absolutely no chance in the world," for favorable action in the Grundy case. The affidavit continues:

"I then said, 'Well, then, I suppose the only way open to Grundy is the Peterson route.'

"At this point the governor arose, took me by the arm and led me to Peterson's office.

"'This is Oswald,' the governor said to Peterson, and thereupon left."

Oswald relates in the affidavit he saw Peterson later that day and that the bank commissioner told him Grundy could get a parole for $4,000.

Trap Plans Laid

The affidavit relates plans were laid by the attorney general to trap Peterson, the state to furnish the $2500 to be paid over to the bank commissioner, but that the plans fell through when the scandal broke involving Russell G. Davis, the former governor's son, who was caught accepting $1250 for the delivery of a pardon to Frank W. Pollman, former bank president and convicted forger.

Peterson, announcing he would fight the ouster proceedings, denied the charge made by Oswald. He asserted Oswald had proposed to advance money to free Grundy, but that he had refused to participate in such a deal.

Davis in a statement, said he had told Oswald of his determination not to extend clemency to Grundy.

CLIMBERS ARE LOST; WOMAN'S BODY IS FOUND

Secretary Of Chamber Of Commerce Of Denver Is Frozen

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 13. — One woman was frozen to death and a man is lost somewhere in the frozen snow bound passages of Long's peak, near Estes park, as the result of a mountain climbing expedition Sunday.

Miss Agnes W. Vaille, secretary of the Denver chamber of commerce is dead and searching parties are now ploughing through snow drifts in the face of a raging blizzard and weather 50 degrees below zero looking for Herbert Sortland, employe of Long's Peak inn, who was a member of the rescue party that tried to save Miss Vaille. Sortland was lost by his companions and it was feared today that he would be unable to stand the Arctic cold.

Miss Vaille was the daughter of F. O. Vaille, retired Denver millionaire, who was due to arrive in Honolulu today on a vacation trip.

Blizzard Sets In.

Miss Vaille's companion on the fateful trip, which began Sunday morning, was Warner Kiener of Denver. The pair planned to climb the east face of Long's peak, a difficult feat, which has been accomplished only half a dozen times, and then only when weather conditions were favorable. Their upward journey met with success, but while they were descending the north face of the peak a strong wind whipped up a raging blizzard and sent the mercury down to 50 degrees below zero. Near exhaustion Miss Vaille was forced to halt while her companion pushed ahead to summon help.

Kiener finally reached a timberline house, and a searching party was quickly formed.

Rescuers Late.

Forced by the elements to travel at snail's pace the rescuers arrived too late. Huddled in a crevice, partly covered with snow, the daughter of the vacationing millionaire was found.

It was in this hunt that Sortland became lost from h's companions and while searching parties still were mushing through the snow-clogged, wind-swept passages of the peak today they held little hope that they would find Sortland alive.

Mr. Houghton To Be Successor To Frank B. Kellogg

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Unless there is a change in the present plan, Ambassador Houghton at Berlin will succeed Frank B. Kellogg as ambassador to London when Mr. Kellogg becomes secretary of state March 4. No announcement of a selection is expected immediately however, and it still is possible that the choice may fall somewhere else.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Alanson B. Houghton, of New York, now ambassador to Germany, has been definitely selected by President Coolidge to succeed Ambassador Kellogg at London. Mr. Houghton has attended many of the conferences in European capitals made necessary in the work of rehabilitation and has first hand knowledge of almost every problem in which this country has an interest. He is 61 years old and was born in Cambridge, Mass.

Before entering congress, Mr. Houghton was engaged in the business of glass manufacture at Corning, N. Y.

The selection of the new ambassador for London so soon after the promotion of Mr. Kellogg was announced would be in line with the policy President Coolidge has been following of cleaning up such matters at the earliest possible moment.

Ambassador Houghton will require senate confirmation for the London post, although there is open to the president the avenue of a recess appointment provided the nomination is not made until after March 4, when congress will not be in session. On the other hand, Ambassador Kellogg is expected to come here several weeks before Secretary Hughes retires March 4, to become acquainted with affairs in the state department and for that reason it is probable the nomination of Mr. Houghton will go to the senate before adjournment of congress.

What further changes the shift diplomatic posts will lead to was not apparent today, although there has been some talk that Ambassador Fletcher at Rome might be transferred to Berlin and Ambassador Phillips at Brussels sent to Rome.

No further cabinet changes appear to be in contemplation beyond the selection of a new secretary of agriculture to succeed Howard M. Gore on March 4.

MR. HOUGHTON POPULAR

BERLIN, Jan. 13.—The approaching departure from Berlin of Alanson B. Houghton, the American ambassador, now taken for granted here, is bringing out universal expressions of regret, not only from the American colony, but also from the ranks of the diplomatic corps and German official circles, where he has been a popular figure since his arrival nearly three years ago.

He is the fourth ranking member of the diplomatic corps in Berlin, his seniors being Monsignor Pacelli, the Papal nuncio; Lord D'Abernon, the British ambassador and Pablo Soler Y Guardiola, the Spanish ambassador.

GLANDULAR ACTIVITY NECESSARY IF IMPORTANT ORGANS OF BODY PERFORM THEIR FUNCTIONS.

At a recent medical convention in Chicago Dr. Roy Upham, president of the American Institute of Homeopathy, stated that because of the intimate connection of the nervous system with the glands, many sufferers from nervous disorders were receiving remarkable benefits from glandular treatment. He further stated that this glandular treatment could be taken by mouth like any other medicine, and that an operation is not necessary.

Dr. Samuel J. Staub, according to a recent dispatch, said that people suffering from that "below par" feeling, accompanied by loss of appetite, sleeplessness, loss of weight, and so forth, can be set right by having the balance of their glandular secretions restored.
