Permanent roads are a good investment—not an expense

Now Is the Ideal Time to Build More Paved Highways

There is not a single community in the United States that does not need a greater mileage of permanently paved roads.

16,000,000 motor vehicles are now using our highways for business and pleasure. They are packing the paved roads in already congested areas, as well as over-running regions until recently considered remote. And they are pounding to pieces all but permanent roads.

Even though a number of states have made good progress in building Concrete Roads, their present permanently improved mileage is entirely inadequate, as every motorist knows.

Meantime, while the building of permanent highways lags, the production of motor vehicles is increasing the present total at the rate of 4,000,000 a year!

Sooner or later this gap must be closed. Why wait?

Not in a long time have general conditions been so favorable for carrying on such public works as permanent highway building, thus assuring tax payers more for their money.

Now is the ideal time to extend both street and road programs!

Report Refused on Proposal to Change Name of Mountain

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—The house public lands committee by a vote of nine to four today refused to report a senate bill to change the name of Mount Tacoma.

This action of the committee, taken in executive session is equivalent to killing the measure, as it cannot be brought up in the house before adjournment on March 4. Committee members said there was no possibility of a reversal of today's decision.

The proposal to change the name of Mount Rainier to Mount Tacoma has been a controversial matter in congress for several years, with members of the Washington state delegation at odds on the question. The senate last year enacted a bill to use a change and sent the measure to the house, where it was referred to the committee on public lands.

Mills Amendment To be Backed if Changes Are Made

MEDFORD, Ore., Jan. 15.—Bert Anderson, chairman of the Jackson county republican central committee in a public statement today declared that his organization will support the proposed A. L. Mills amendment to the state primary law if two changes are made, namely:

First, a convention before the primary instead of after; and second, the members of each county central committee to automatically become delegates to the convention with the same powers as the delegates elected by the people.

If these changes are made, Mr. Anderson declared he could guarantee the support of a majority of the republican voters in Jackson county to the Mills bill and would himself work energetically for its passage.

WOOL GROWERS OF OREGON END MEET

PENDELTON, Ore., Jan. 15.—Speaking before the afternoon session of the 28th annual convention of the Oregon Wool Growers' association yesterday, Frank Hagenbarth, president of the National Wool Growers' association declared that it was up to the wool growers of the west to organize if they are to keep prices of wool and mutton at a point where a profit can be made. The manufacturing east is well organized, declared Mr. Hagenbarth, and the idea of exploiting the provinces as the west is termed, is well defined there.

A program of education was deemed necessary by the national president that will acquaint the public with the true costs of wool and mutton production. He declared that an erroneous idea is afoot in the public mind that wool men make tremendous profits. "As a matter of fact," he said, "it takes 40 cent wool and 10 cent mutton for sheepmen to make a profit."

Irving E. Vining, president of the Oregon chamber of commerce, declared that Oregon, because of her geographical position and natural advantages, had a great future in the wool business. He predicted that one day Portland would be the wool center of the United States.

Last night the sheep men participated in their annual fun season, a banquet and program given by the Pendleton Commercial association. The sessions are continuing today.

BEGGARS BUY SETS OF RADIO AND CARS

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Some professional beggars make as high as $15 a day on the streets of Los Angeles; that they ride in automobiles not of the cheapest make, buy expensive jewelry and musical instruments, and even hire assistants to watch for the police while they work, are some of the things disclosed in recent trials of mendicants in Hollywood court.

One blind woman testified that she and her husband, also blind, drove to Los Angeles from Cleveland with a hired driver, and that in this city she had made as high as $15 and $16 in a day of three hours. She said her best week had netted $85, but denied that she collected $300 and $400 a week as reported to the court.

"I am informed that you bought a radio set some time ago for $500," the court remarked.

"Yes, Your Honor, I guess that's correct."

"I have also been told that you bought a monkey. Is that true?"

"Yes, eight months ago I did buy a monkey."

"How about a parrot?"

"Yes, I bought a parrot, and a canary, too."

Her husband then admitted that they had bought a new automobile for $1,700; a watch and a diamond ring; a roll top desk for $105; a fan for $24; a player piano for $485, and a steel banjo and saxophone for $180. He also admitted that occasionally he became intoxicated.

Another woman informed the court that she conducted this blind woman

If Quick Starting Was Enough Any Good Gasoline Would Do!

Any gasoline can be made quick-starting—and most of them are. But there's much more than this to the matter of a proper motor-fuel.

FOR EXAMPLE: Non-detonating gasoline is quick-starting, but it has other and more important qualities. Its explosion progresses—with resulting power that is smooth!

A sort of "rain of impulses" falls upon the piston from the explosion of Non-detonating Union Gasoline.

And those impulses continue throughout the entire length of the piston's stroke.

This permits the motor to accelerate with a swift, vibrationless pick-up and to attain an even, gliding, stressless speed.

"Knocking" on hills, and in heavy pulls, also is minimized. Likewise wear and tear. The non-detonating thrust is strong, and saves the straining of the detonating crash.

Non-detonating Union Gasoline is refined from the best crude oils by one of the largest and best equipped oil companies. That is insurance of high quality, and your motor's best performance when this fuel is used.

Sold through Union Service Stations and independent dealers everywhere.
