Letters Like This Prove the Reliability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Turtle Lake, Wisconsin. — "I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for weakness, backache and nervousness. I had these troubles for years and had taken many other medicines for them, but I have found no medicine so good as the Vegetable Compound and I recommend it to my friends who have troubles similar to mine. I saw it advertised and thought I would try it and it has helped me in all my troubles. I have had six children and I have taken the Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before each one was born, for weakness, vomiting, poor appetite and backache, and again after childbirth because of dizzy headaches. It is a good medicine for it always helps me. I have also taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills for the last eight years for constipation." — Mrs. MABEL LA POINT, R. F. D. No. 1, Turtle Lake, Wiscon.

er Tim Gibbons or Harry Willis in spite of the champion's announcement that he will retire from the ring and marry this spring.

EASTERN TRIP PROPOSED—LOS ANGELES, Jan. 17.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, and Jack Kearns, his manager, will go east next month to see whether they can arrange a bout for the summer. It was declared today by Kearns, Tex. Rickard, if he expects to match Dempsey with Tommy Gibbons or Harry Willis for a title fight in June, "is proceeding on assumptions," Kearns said, declaring that no arrangements have been made.

GIBBONS SEEKS TITLE—ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 17.—Should Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight boxing champion retire from the ring next May or June without again defending his title, Tommy Gibbons of St. Paul, will claim that honor, Gibbons said last night.

Gibbons declared his record which includes a 15-round fight with Dempsey, at Shelby, Mont., July 4, 1923, in which he stayed the limit with the champion, entitles him to first consideration.

Chamber Planning Unusual Contest

A unique contest, the object of which is to conserve Oregon's natural resources, has been announced by the land settlement and marketing committees of the Portland chamber of commerce. Progressive Business Men's club and Portland Ad club and the co-operation of the Eugene chamber is asked.

The idea back of the contest is the conservation of raw materials with the possible establishment of new industries to convert the waste into useful commodities, thereby bringing new wealth into the state. An illustration of conservation of waste now entering a practical stage is the securing of by-products from sawdust by methods developed by Prof. O. S. Stafford at the University of Oregon and recently adopted by Henry Ford in his Iron Mountain, Michigan, plant, the communication states.

Among materials that now are chiefly waste products are sawdust, stumps, vegetable growth, fruit waste, straw, etc. Other products that might be affected would be bulk imports, such as copra, manufacture of grains into cereals, etc., releasing by-products for dairy cattle.

LIVESTOCK GROUP URGES TARIFF TO PROTECT INDUSTRY

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Jan. 17.—(AP)—The American National Livestock association at the closing session of its annual convention here yesterday adopted a resolution "earnestly urging congress, before it adjourns, to fix a tariff of six cents per pound on green hides and 15 cents per pound on dry hides."

The convention also urged the president of the United States to exercise his executive authority to declare an addition of 50 per cent to the present import tariff on canned meat and tallow.

The convention went on record as "demanding a reduction of livestock rates in the west to afford some measure of relief to this overburdened industry."

The interstate commerce commission was urged to reduce rates on livestock and meats "by the same percentage as they were increased," so that the consumer as well as the producer will benefit.

Other Resolutions.—The convention adopted by the convention included: Recommendation that congress pass house bill 8482, an amendment to the packers and stockyards act, to permit the secretary of agriculture to "deal more vigorously with emergency conditions which are detrimental to safe, open and competitive marketing of livestock."

Re-affirming the association's endorsement of the packers and stockyards act and commending those who have shyly administered it, urging an amendment to the act "which will prevent violations of the act from being continued and perfected after a complaint has been filed by the secretary and before the violation has been passed on."

The necessity for the amendment grows out of the Armour-Morris merger, the resolution said. Urging that agriculturists of the western states be given representation upon the interstate commerce commission.

Indorsing the National Livestock and meat board.

Urging the purchase of army and navy meats from American resources.

Study of Waste.—Urging the president's agricultural conference to make a careful study of the "vast economic waste involved in the present centralized system of marketing livestock, and distributing its products" to the end that "materially more economic be effected in marketing, processing and distributing of livestock to the consumer."

Urging uniform sanitary regulations in all states to prevent outbreaks of diseases like the foot and mouth disease.

Approving co-operative selling agencies.

Commending the California plan of orderly marketing.

Urging congress to "immediately enact legislation based upon the principles embodied in the 'Phipps bill,' relating to grazing fees."

Endorsing the Gooding, long and short haul bill.

Urging congress to repeal section 15 of the transportation act of 1920, which that co-operative marketing be taught in all agricultural colleges of all states.

Frank H. Bixby of Long Beach, Cal., was re-elected president of the American National Livestock association.

Charles M. Olonel of Bell Ranch, N. M., was named first vice-president. The following vice-presidents were elected: C. L. Burke, Omaha; I. G. Britz, Marfa, Tex.; William Pollman, Baker, Ore.; H. G. Boies, San Carlos, Ariz.; and George R. Russell Jr., Elko, Nevada.

Phoenix, Ariz., was chosen unanimously for the 1926 convention.

vide for survey and report on Coquille river bar and entrance, Yaquina bay and entrance, Post Orford harbor, Skippoon channel and Coos bay.

"E. J. ADAMS." Twelve Foot Depth.—The dredging of the Siuslaw will mean that a depth of 12 feet at mean low tide will be available for shipping and that vessels of a draft of 10 feet can make the harbor and lower river as far up as Acme.

The board of army engineers that inspected this proposed plan about two years ago made a thorough investigation of all angles of the situation before returning a report on their findings.

ASSOCIATION ACTS—PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 17.—Organization of a Northwest Pacific Coast Ports' association, to carry on the work of congressional action for development of coastal ports in Oregon, Washington and California without delay, was recommended by a committee which today drew up the form of a memorial to be presented to the figures of three states. The committee was named by a conference here yesterday of representatives of port districts and other governors of the three states.

Appointment of a special committee of two from each of the three states to present to their legislatures the memorials from the association, outlining the plans for coast port development was proposed.
