

OREGON OPENS HER HOME SCHEDULE IN GAMES THIS WEEK

Oregon opens its coast conference basketball season Thursday against Montana at the armory. The Webfoots have played four games in the Northwest conference, winning all, and as a result are tied with Washington for the lead in that conference.

EUGENE HIGH WINS AT COTTAGE GROVE

By a score of 34 to 9, Eugene High's basketball team defeated Cottage Grove at Cottage Grove Saturday night. The second string team played the last half of the game for the locals.

The summary: Eugene 34, Cottage Grove 9. Emmons 6, F... Bartel, Milligan 6, F... Swanson 4, Olson 6, G... McCarger 2, Hally 4, G... Alston 3, Coleman 2, G... Halow, Elkins 2, S... Nelson, E. Eberhart 4, S... C. Eberhart 2, S... Schrader 2, S...

Francis Willard Junior high of Eugene was defeated by the junior high of Cottage Grove at Cottage Grove Saturday night, 16 to 14. The score was close, and the game was anybody's until the closing few minutes of play.

The Nutcracker

IF the fashion of "retiring" as practiced by our leading prize fighters becomes general, you'll soon be reading items like these in the news columns.

Mr. Stanislaus Palooka, champion five-miler of the O'Brien and Ginsberg boiler factory, today announced his retirement. "The strain was becoming too great on the wife and kids," he told reporters.

Mr. Otis P. Sapp, who led the eighth floor crowd in selling children's underwear for four consecutive years, stepped down for good today. It is said Mr. Sapp's mother begged him to quit.

Mrs. Ritzy Delaney Biddle (of the Philadelphia Biddies), holders of the local high-baiting championship at all weights, intimated today she would not defend the title again.

"There are other and finer things in life besides five-tube sets and Hoody's Sarasparilla," remarked Mrs. Biddle (of the Philadelphia Biddies), significantly.

Mr. One Punch O'Goofy has roped his last Charlie horse. The champion masseur of pugdom has hung up the liniment bottle for all time. "I want to be known to posterity—say, who is this Pogie guy, anyway?—as the first rubber to retire undefeated," announced Mr. O'Goofy.

Mr. Bull Montana of the films retired to private life today. "I'll never make another picture," declared Mr. Montana. Congratulations are pouring in on him from all parts of the globe, including New Bedford, O.

VETERANS ARE TO BE MAINSTAY OF ST. LOUIS TEAM

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Veterans will be relied upon by Manager George Sisler to place the St. Louis Americans in the championship running this year.

Despite several trades, this season, the Browns' roster has indicated there will be no substantial change in the team's battlefront, with the possible exception of the battery staff.

The biggest question mark in the Browns' makeup, in Sisler's opinion, is the pitching staff. Although the absence of Urban Shocker, the Browns' mainstay for several seasons, will be felt, Sisler believes that the acquisition of Joe Bush, Milton Gaston and Joe Giard, from the Yankees, in exchange for Stocker, has strengthened his twirling department.

SPORT BRIEFS

By the Associated Press. An invitation to visit Los Angeles this spring while the Chicago Cubs baseball team is training at Santa Catalina Island has been extended to K. M. Landis, commissioner of major league baseball, by William Weigley Jr., owner of the Cubs and the Los Angeles Angels. If the arbiter accepts it will be his first trip to the Pacific coast since assuming his office as commissioner.

Montana's quietest will arrive in Seattle today to meet the Washington team on the university floor tonight. Washington has been taking things easy since the Oregon Aggie game and will be ready for its second coast conference tilt tonight. Its lineup will be the same as that which defeated the Aggies.

University of Washington crew candidates, who have been taking the water each day for four and five mile sprints, yesterday completed their first two weeks practice. This week Coach Callow plans to send his men over longer distances. The fact that they will have a four mile race on the Hudson is not worrying old Washington crew men. They say that under Callow, Washington will place a crew upon the water that will row more steadily and superbly at four miles than at three.
