STYLES THAT LEAD

EXTENSION PLANS ARE MADE PUBLIC

...bills and beyond the brief of the railway attorneys continues, adding that the Northern lines now have under serious consideration the carrying out of such a plan by building from Bend to Odell on the Eugene-Klamath Falls cut-off of the Southern Pacific provided that the Northern lines be accorded common use of the Southern Pacific into Klamath Falls. But if this cannot be assured, a wasteful expenditure of capital would be necessary that the Northern lines' southerly extension follow another route along the easterly border of the great pine timber tract.

The brief further states that it will be of immense value to the territory between Bend and Klamath Falls and about Klamath Falls to be given access to the great consuming territory reached by the group of railroads to which the Oregon Trunk line belongs—the Northern Pacific, the Great Northern and the Burlington—and to be given the benefit of the competition which such group can afford.

Construction Proposed.
Finally, the bill of exceptions states that all additional proceedings before the interstate commerce commission should take into consideration the strong probability that, unless adequate joint rights to the Northern lines are accorded over the projected line from Bend to Odell and over the Southern Pacific's Eugene-Klamath Falls cut-off from Odell to Klamath Falls, the Northern lines will make application to the commission for permission to construct independently from Odell to Klamath Falls. This course, it is declared, would yield to the Northern lines the opportunity to give southern Oregon east of the Cascade mountains transportation development in which they desire to share.

In exceptions filed by the Southern Pacific objections were cited to any commission to accord either the Union Pacific or the Northern lines joint use of the Eugene-Klamath Falls cut-off.

NURSE SAVES 2 PEOPLE FROM OPERATION

"I had two patients that the doctors seemed unable to reach with their medicines and in both cases advised the knife. A friend who had tried Mayr's Wonderful Remedy for stomach trouble proposed that I recommend it to my patients which I did. Both are now entirely well. I am very glad that I was able to recommend it. It removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract, and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded at all druggists.—Adv.

BIG BOND ISSUES MAY BE PLACED BEFORE PEOPLE

Shall the city of Eugene ask the taxpayers for approximately $625,000 in bonds to pay for the various projects now before the council?

This question will be decided by the council at its meeting February 9, according to E. B. Parks, at which time the ordinance calling for the bond election on projects approved by the council will be passed.

Election would be some time the latter part of April, the date to be set by the council, it is stated. Among the projects coming up for consideration are the following:

$375,000 for development of the McKenzie river as a water supply.
$120,000 for water reservoir and feeder main construction in Eugene.
$25,000 for municipal incinerator.
$10,000 for enlarging fire station.
$50,000 for sewer construction.
$25,000 for fire apparatus, already purchased.

$20,000 for building street intersections.
Several of the foregoing amounts may be changed, according to Mayor Parks. The city water board is considering plans to furnish the people of Kincaid park, Fairmount and Chula Vista sections with water, which may increase their request.

Chula Vista, according to Mayor Parks, will ask to come into the corporate limits of the city, which may be voted upon at the coming election. If the plan is approved by the people, residents of Chula Vista will be entitled to water supply.

The sewer, fire apparatus and intersection bonds would be voted merely to clear up a legal tangle arising out of the litigation over the municipal auditorium bonds. The city has done much paving since then, and has an extensive paving program mapped out for 1925, says Mayor Parks, which may mean that the amount will have to be increased.

Because of the present housing of the city fire apparatus is a menace, the council will ask for $10,000 to enlarge the station, and prevent the new engines from being placed double-deck.

"This is a lot of money to ask for," says Mayor Parks, "but in one way almost $100,000 of it has already been voted by the people, and we are asking them to vote it again so the money may be freed from the legal tangle."

The other items are up to the city council. If they feel they are worthy of submitting to the people the bonds will then be voted upon.

STATE HOUSE, SALEM, Ore., Jan. 30.—House joint resolution number 8, introduced today by Shelton, Baker county passed by a suspension of the rules of the house, memorializing congress to pass the Kendrick bill providing for loaning money to farmers on federal irrigation and reclamation projects. ROAD BILL PASSES
STATE HOUSE, SALEM, Ore., Jan. 30.—House bill No. 4 providing for a more systematic system of market roads construction and closer cooperation with the state highway commission by the various county courts was passed by the house yesterday afternoon after about two hours debate. The bill was drawn up by Representative Ford of Grant and Harney counties, after two years of study on the present road situation. The committee has reported unfavorably on house bill 18, which would provide for lower fees on auto licenses after a certain number of registrations. Attorney General Van Winkle has given an opinion that the bill is unconstitutional.

Senator Brown's bill providing that advertisements along public highways on which about farm premises and which advertise products for sale on the farm during the fruit season shall be exempt from the inhibition against advertisements on the public highways was killed in the senate yesterday by indefinite postponement upon the adoption of an adverse committee report.

Miss Minter Sues TO REGAIN MONEY
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 30.—Mary Miles Minter's millions, money she said she earned, during a stage and screen career that began when she was a child six years old, today formed a golden gulf across which the motion picture actress and her mother faced each other as opponents in a lawsuit.

The sums received by Mrs. Shelby from time to time included, according to the complaint, a total of $700,000 earned by Miss Minter under a contract with the Famous Players-Lasky corporation during the years 1920-1923. Her total earnings since she began work as a girl of six is said to be estimated accurately, she said, but she is confident the sum ran into seven figures.

The court is asked to order Mrs. Shelby to make an accounting at once of all money received on behalf of her daughter and all property she has purchased with that money.
