

CITY'S GROWTH IS TRACED BY MAYOR IN ADDRESS TODAY

"In 1915 Eugene had six firemen and a horse-drawn fire engine," Mayor E. B. Parks told Kiwanians at their luncheon in the Osburn today. "Today, with six pieces of motor equipped fire apparatus, the city has seven firemen. In 1915 there were three 'call' men, and in 1925 we have four."

The city had 12 employees on road and street work in 1915, while there are now eight men employed, the mayor stated. The city has grown in assessed valuation from $8,470,380 in 1912 to $18,113,550 in 1923. In 1909 the total population was 3238; in 1920 it had grown to 10,593; and this year it is conservatively estimated at 18,000. There are 27 miles of paved roads, 42 miles of macadam roads and 45 miles of sewers.

Police protection for the city has not increased in the last 10 years, the mayor pointed out. There were five men on the police force in 1915 and there are five men now. A police matron represents the only increase.

"In 1915 the total of building permits was 57, and the total valuation $62,818," said Mayor Parks. "Last year 693 permits were granted for a total of $2,734,705 worth of building."

W. R. Wallace spoke on the moving picture of Oregon wild life, to be shown at the Christian church next Tuesday night, and invited the members to attend the banquet preceding the pictures.

Mayor Parks discussed the proposed city bond measure, stating that a garbage incinerator would cost $22,000, and that $25,000 was being asked to provide additional money to buy the land for its location. The incinerator would be of 50-ton capacity, taking care of a city up to 50,000 population. The fire department was badly handicapped, he said, from lack of room, and the bonds for that purpose should be passed.

Hugh Winder reported on the male chorus, stating that each service club would be asked to form a double quartette, and that the three organizations would compose the chorus. Jack Pratt presented the resolution favoring the extension of the city market, which was unanimously passed.

DANCE HALL LAW MEETS APPROVAL

The new state dance hall measure, providing that young people shall stay in the dance hall until they are through dancing, and to prevent running in and running out while the dance is in progress, has splendid chances for becoming a law at the present session of the legislature, reports Mrs. M. S. Ady, who spent the week-end visiting Mrs. Myra Shank, matron of the Salem police department.

In company with Mrs. Shank, Mrs. Ady inspected the methods of supervising dance halls, and also conferred with Mrs. Shank with regard to the matron's work at Salem. Eugene's system, both of dance hall regulation and of handling juvenile delinquency, compares quite favorably with Salem's, Mrs. Ady reports.

Lot on Oak Street Is Purchased From Hendricks Sisters

A real estate transaction has been announced whereby L. G. Hullin purchased of the Hendricks sisters a tract of ground situated on the south side and adjoining the Table supply store corner Ninth and Oak streets. The ground faces Oak street, having a 70 foot frontage and extends east 100 feet to the Miner eight-story office building. The east 90 feet of this lot is 80 feet wide.

No plans for future building have been announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Hullin returned in September from an extended trip through California and had some thoughts of disposing of Oregon property and returning south to live but soon abandoned the idea. A year ago they sold their old home on Charnelton street now occupied by the Newman club and have recently moved to their new cottage on west Eleventh street.

Another recent purchase made by Mr. Hullin was the residence at 1231 High street from the Bushnell estate which will probably be remodeled next summer for Mr. Hullin's permanent home.

Recently the court has issued quite a large number of dance licenses and warnings have been issued that violations of law will mean an immediate cancellation of the permits.

Have Dark Hair And Look Young

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.

Who Is Qualified To Pass On Certification of Teachers?

State authorities are careful to limit the certification to those who desire that their pupils receive credit from public educational institutions for work done under private instruction.

Opportunities for favoritism and exercise of political influence.

It has never been made mandatory that every teacher giving music instruction for a fee shall be certified by some central authority. Thus all possible benefits of the scheme of certifying certain music teachers and discrediting others so that the more musicians kept from teaching the better will be the business of those allowed to teach has been made corrupt.

Music is an art. The qualities of the art are baffling—can not be touched or grasped. Expert musical critics can not prove to you by the qualities of the art who are the qualified music teachers.
